Charge Soviets Seized U.S. Envoy

Tried To Force Him To Spy For U.S.S.R.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Saturday accused the Soviet Union of seizing the security chief of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow and trying to force him by threats and bribery into becoming a spy for the Soviets.

In a sensational new twist to Washington - Moscow relations, the State Department reported that threats of physical violence, offers of bribes and a trumped up charge of espionage were used without avail against the security officer, Russell A. Langelle.

"They also threatened to take unspecified action against his wife and three small children who reside with him in Moscow," the department said.

When the U.S. Charge d'affaires Edward L. Freers, protested to the Soviet Foreign Ministry, Langelle was accused of espionage against the Soviet Union and ordered out of the country.

The United States rejected this charge, but under diplomatic custom it has no recourse other than to bring him home. Langelle and his family will leave as soon as possible.

As detailed by the State Department, the sensational incident, probably without exact precedent in U.S.-Soviet relations, occurred only Friday.

U.S. officials were puzzled as to what effect the affair will have on "the spirit of Camp David" which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has been promoting since his conference with President Eisenhower last month.

S.R. Striganov, deputy chief of American affairs in the Soviet Foreign Ministry, told Freers "competent" Soviet authorities had reported that Langelle had been doing intelligence work.

The affair began, the State Department said, when Langelle stepped off a bus a block away from the U.S. Embassy office building at 9 a.m. Friday, Moscow time.

"He was immediately surrounded by five men in civilian clothing who seized his arms, covered his mouth, and forcibly dragged and carried him to a Zim automobile parked in a nearby alley," said the protest note which the State Department made public.

"He was then driven to a nearby building on Vorovskovo Street, where the men forced him to leave the automobile and enter the building."

In the building Langelle "produced his diplomat card, protested the forcible seizure, and asked to be allowed to communicate with the American Embassy," the note continued.

"Mr. Langelle was then forced to remove his topcoat, which was searched by the men. One of the men produced a notebook, which he said belonged to Mr. Langelle, but which, in fact, Mr. Langelle

Castro's Brother Takes Over Role Of Military Czar

HAVANA (AP) — An intensified campaign against foes of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime was predicted Saturday with the elevation of his youngest brother to a role as Cuba's military czar.

Raul Castro, 28, was named minister of the revolutionary armed forces — a new ministry — at a Cabinet meeting lasting into the early morning hours. Fidel Castro presided.

Raul has been commander in chief of the armed forces without Cabinet rank. In his new position he has full power to reorganize and direct the armed forces and the National Police.

Some observers predicted a purge in the armed forces of all officers suspected of being friendly to the United States. Raul is a bitter critic of the United States.

The new Ministry of the Revolutionary Armed Forces succeeds the old Ministry of Defense, discarded by the Cabinet as an inefficient relic of Fulgencia Batista's regime. Defense Minister Augusto R. Martinez Sanchez was transferred to another key post in the Cabinet, minister of labor.

Out of a job was the old labor minister, Manuel Fernandez Garcia. This Cabinet switch was seen as another of Fidel Castro's moves to fill major Cuban posts with those having a "more dynamic revolutionary spirit," as the Prime Minister phrases it.

The decree appointing Raul Castro abolished the old Cuban army, the navy, National Police and General Staff. Raul was directed to reconstitute as units of the Ministry of the Revolutionary Armed Forces these separate organizations—a rebel army, a rebel air force, a revolutionary navy, and a revolutionary National Police.

One of the first tasks of Cuba's military czar will be reorganization of the army. Including the air force, which has been reduced to little more than a token unit through repeated purges, the army now has about 38,000 men.

Hurricane Roars Toward Florida's West Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A full-fledged hurricane sprang up in the Gulf of Mexico Saturday night and persons along the threatened Florida West Coast were ordered to evacuate immediately.

Emergency hurricane warnings were hoisted from Cedar Keys southward to Punta Gorda, a stretch of about 170 miles with the populous Tampa - St. Petersburg area at its center.

Hurricane Judith, 10th of the season, was located at 8:30 p.m. about 130 miles southwest of Naples, Fla.

Royal Guard Patrols Inside Railings — With Sore Feet

LONDON (AP) — Stiff-backed guardsmen Saturday finished their first patrol inside the railings at Buckingham Palace — safe from tourists, but with several sets of aching feet.

At 8 a.m. they had retreated—according to plan — behind the black iron railings surrounding the palace to a place of safety where gaping tourists could not get at them.

But there a new hazard awaited them. To deaden the sound of their hoof-beats — so they won't wake royal sleepers—new asphalt strips were laid for the guards to walk on. But the soft asphalt churned into heaps where the sentries turned at the end of their beat. And guardsmen coming off duty complained the rough heaps made their feet sore.

For 100 years the guards have stomped outside the gates, guarding the home of London's kings and queens. The War Office decided to move them inside away from the jibes of tourists, publicity seeking starlets and cheeky small boys.

The order to move inside the fence followed a summer of skirmishes between the guards and the tourists. In one clash an American woman's shin came in contact with a guardsmen's polished boot.

To American tourists stopping off at the palace Saturday to watch the famous scarlet uniformed guards, it was all something of a disappointment. Without a long-focus lens, their cameras were almost useless.

Said Miss Lynda Reimers, 21, a cashier from Santa Monica, Calif.:

S.M. Napp of Rockton, Ill., complained:

"It's a shame that this old custom should have to be changed due to Americans. I certainly apologize on their behalf."

But the guards said they feel safer where they are.

"The chaps are pretty happy about the change," said Lt. Col. A.G. Way, commanding officer of the 3rd Battalion Grenadier Guards. "and that asphalt should improve with wear."

Final Rites Tuesday For Gen. Marshall; Burial At Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall, mourned throughout the free world as a soldier, statesman and humanitarian, will be buried with simple honors Tuesday in Arlington National Cemetery.

It was his wish that the services be held to a minimum.

The body of the five-star general of the Army, who died at 78 Friday night after a long illness, will lie in repose in the Bethlehem Chapel of Washington National Cathedral from noon Sunday until noon Tuesday.

Canon Luther D. Miller of the cathedral, which is Episcopal, will conduct services Tuesday afternoon at the Ft. Myer Chapel, adjoining the Arlington Cemetery. Burial will be private.

By order of President Eisenhower, who called Marshall's passing "a cause for profound grief," the American flag was lowered to half staff on all public buildings and military installations and will remain that way until after the last rites.

Marshall served as Army chief of staff during World War II and later as secretary of state and secretary of defense. He was the author of the postwar Marshall Plan which brought him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1953. He died at Walter Reed Army Hospital of age, complicated by strokes and kidney disease.

Former President Harry S. Truman, on a speaking trip in Texas, was visibly saddened by news of Marshall's death.

"He was a great general, a great secretary of state, and a great secretary of defense," Truman said. "As a military man, he was the best since the days of Robert E. Lee."

Former President Herbert Hoover called Marshall "an outstanding figure in American life."

"He will be remembered with gratitude by people all over the world," Hoover said in New York.

Marshall's death leaves only two five-star Army generals: Douglas MacArthur and Omar Bradley.

Among the honorary pallbearers at Marshall's funeral will be M. Sgt. James W. Powder, 62, who served the general as aide, driver and friend from 1934 to 1945.

Summoned from his retirement home in St. Petersburg, Fla., to perform this one last act, Powder told newsmen simply: "I was his aide, and I looked out for him."

X15 Rocket Ship Soars 11 Miles Under Own Power

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An X15 rocket ship swooped more than 11 miles high under its own power Saturday, testing its engines for future trips to the edge of space.

The 50-foot-long black arrow made its second successful powered flight after being cut loose from its B52 mother ship high above the Mojave Desert.

Exhausting its fuel in a four-minute burst that pushed it to more than 1,400 miles an hour, the X15 streaked on a wide arc, made a figure eight, and then circled in to a 200-mile-per-hour landing at 10:23 a.m.

The entire flight from drop to landing took 10 minutes. The X15 was dropped at 41,000 feet and climbed above 60,000 feet on its lightning flight.

Test Pilot Scott Crossfield was at the controls, as he has been in all previous X15 flights.

Crossfield, 37, took the X15 up to 50,000 feet in its first power flight Sept. 17.

That was the first flight test of the stubby-winged craft's lower-atmosphere engines, two four-barrel rockets designed to thrust the ship up to 100,000 feet and reach speeds of close to 2,000 miles an hour.

Rayburn Starts Drive To Win Nomination For Sen. Johnson

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rrayburn (D-Tex) said Saturday he is starting a drive to win the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960 for Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex).

Rayburn thus set the stage for turning a gigantic Democratic party rally Saturday night, addressed by former President Harry S. Truman, into a Johnson-for-president kickoff.

At a news conference Truman declined to name a favorite for nomination, insisting that the Democrats had "a half dozen good men." But he quipped once that Texans "could wait until Missouri is heard from."

His remark was interpreted as a reference to Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), a former member of the Truman administration and considered also as a candidate for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the dinner Truman said partisanship is not a good enough reason to make a man president of the United States.

"The man we must find for 1960," Truman said, "must be a man not only with a sense of history, but with a vision for the future. He must be a man with the ability to lead. He must be a man with the capacity to make a bold decision."

For months he has said he was not a candidate for the nomination. More recently there have been indications that he would accept a draft.

Rayburn said the Johnson-for-president drive would start immediately. He indicated it would expand quickly to other states.

Johnson is a long-time Rayburn protege.

Bride Causes Tie Up Of British Auto Factories

LONDON (AP)— A whole string of British auto factories faced the threat of shutdown Saturday because 21-year-old Eileen Stevenson wants her husband home nights.

Already 1,500 men are on strike because newlywed Eileen got her husband Tom to switch from night shift to day shift.

The strike closed a plant making steel pressings for the Rootes auto group and a spokesman for the group said, "If it continues, our other factories are bound to be affected in a day or two."

Stevenson, 30, started on the day shift Friday and his 1,500 workmates walked out. The 30 day shift men in the welding shop share their weekly bonus. They say that an extra man in the shop means each man's share is cut. So union officials called out the whole day shift.

The night shift men refused to join the strike. But then the maintenance men walked out and that stopped the night shift men from working.

"I'm not allowed to say anything," he told reporters. "There's to be a big meeting of the strikers next Tuesday," he said.

Talks Aimed At Settling Steel Strike Break Off

Situation Now Points To Ike Invoking T-H

"Totally unacceptable," United Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald said of a counter-proposal brought here by industry negotiators after a secret meeting with top steel executives in New York earlier in the day.

"We see little hope of accomplishing an agreement," the chief industry negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper, said after a two-hour negotiating session in a local hotel broke up with the two sides still far apart.

Representatives of the union and the industry were due to meet again Sunday at a hearing scheduled by President Eisenhower's fact-finding panel as a preliminary to obtaining a back-to-work order from the courts.

But that hearing is not designed as a bargaining session, and no further industry-union talks aimed at bringing the 95-day strike to an end were scheduled.

The situation seemed to point to early action by Eisenhower to seek a court injunction which would send the workers back to the mills for 80 days. Negotiations would continue during the 80 days, but the union would be free to resume the strike early next year.

The President's fact - finding board, which scheduled its final hearing Sunday morning, is due to report to the White House on the situation Monday morning.

Thereafter Eisenhower will be free under emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to seek a strike-ending injunction.

There had been optimism 24 hours ago that the union's latest offer might pave the way for fruitful bargaining, but Cooper said Saturday night that it contained what he called highly inflationary cost increases. Also, he said, it contained no solution to the problem of work rules.

The industry's chief negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper, told reporters the companies rejected a compromise proposal made by the union Friday because it still contained what he termed highly inflationary cost increases. Also, he said, it provided no solution to the problem of obstacles to cost reduction and greater efficiency in the steel plants—the work rule matter.

Cooper said that as a counter-proposal the industry submitted a three-year agreement. He said this called for improvements in pensions, insurance and supplemental unemployment benefits in the first year of the pact and wage increases in each of the next two years.

The industry spokesman said the companies had given the union proposal careful analysis. Though it had been described as being "a scaled-down" demand, he said, the companies found that its effect on the industry's payroll was substantially understated.

Union sources had described the Steelworkers' proposal as a 21-cent-hourly, two-year pact. In the first year there would have been only pension, insurance and other fringe benefit improvements, and in the second year a wage increase bringing the overall payroll cost increase to 21 cents.

Cooper said the industry's analysis indicated the employment cost per man would be increased nearly 20 cents an hour each year—not over two years.

The result, he said, was that the union was maintaining the "same substantial demands for inflationary cost increases."

Cooper estimated the industry counterproposal, if accepted, would give Steelworkers gains of approximately 10 cents an hour per year.

The industry negotiator conceded that the union and management negotiators put different costs estimates on their proposals. He said the difference is that the union counts the gain to the worker while the industry considers the ultimate increase in total payroll cost including such extra expenses as higher Social Security tax and unemployment taxes.

Cooper estimated that the union's last demand calls for about twice as much as the industry is prepared to give, as measured by its last offer.

Cooper said the industry is standing by this twofold objective: first, keeping the wage settlement low enough to avoid promoting a new inflationary spiral, and second, obtaining work practice changes which the industry considers necessary if it is to achieve progress and production economies.

It was this latter industry position to which McDonald objected most vehemently.

Concerning the industry's demands, McDonald said:

"We will never give the steel companies the unilateral right to use a blacksnake whip on the backs of our workers."

The only date which the union now has with industry spokesmen is the session scheduled Sunday morning by President Eisenhower's emergency fact-findmg board, McDonald said.

Report Ike Wants Western Meeting Later This Month

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported Saturday to have proposed a Western summit conference in Europe sometime around the end of this month.

Authoritative informants said Eisenhower had told the government chiefs of Britain, France, and West Germany he is ready to meet with them to work out plans for a forthcoming top-level conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The word from Eisenhower was said to be contained in letters to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The West German government and the U.S. Embassy here confirmed that Adenauer had received a letter from Eisenhower Saturday but declined to disclose its contents.

It was learned, however, that the President had agreed with Adenauer's proposal that the Western government chiefs confer among themselves before moving into an East-West meeting with Khrushchev.

The informants said that if all goes well an East-West summit meeting can be scheduled for Geneva Dec. 7.

It was not known whether Eisenhower specifically had proposed the Western conference be held in Paris but officials here tended to believe that was the likely site. Geneva was considered a possible alternative.

Adenauer indicated Saturday he would press to make the question of disarmament the chief topic in East-West talks. He told German journalists this is the No 1 problem facing the world and that summit talks would prove how serious the Soviet Union is in its quest of world peace.

The West Germans would prefer to keep the Berlin question off the agenda of East-West summit talks and refer it to a further meeting of foreign ministers.

Scientist Says Lunik III Never Circled Moon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The Soviet Union's Lunik III never circled the moon, according to calculations of an American satellite-tracking authority Saturday.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory's Dr. Charles A. Whitney said he did not disagree with Soviet figures that their latest space vehicle had passed within 4,375 miles of the moon early this week.

However, in the trackless void of space, Dr. Whitney thinks Lunik III passed not only about three hours behind, but underneath the path of the moon.

If the moon could be visualized as leaving a trail behind it in space, a similar track left by Lunik III would not encircle the moon but only its trail, according to Dr. Whitney's computations.

Soviet statements have tended to cast no doubt that Lunik III had gone around the moon. On Oct. 7, Tass the Soviet press agency said, "After passing point of minimum distance from the moon, the automatic interplanetary station, circumventing the moon, continues to move away from the earth and the moon."

Some Western scientists have speculated about the dearth of Soviet reports on what the 613-pound instrument space vehicle observed of the unknown "back side" of the moon.

Friend Collapses, Dies At Funeral Of Mario Lanza

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An old family friend collapsed and died and later a wild disturbance broke out when police closed the doors of the funeral home at the viewing of the late Mario Lanza.

An estimated 15,000 persons paid final tribute to the 38-year-old tenor Friday night at a South Philadelphia funeral home. Saturday, Requiem Mass was celebrated in the church where Lanza began his singing career.

Antoinette Marzano, 71, an old friend of the Lanza family, collapsed and died after passing the casket. She was talking with Lanza's 83-year-old grandfather, Salvatore, when she fell.

The disturbance broke out when police ordered the doors of the funeral home closed at midnight. About 2,000 persons were left standing in line. They rushed forward, crowding around policemen and attempting to scramble under a wooden barricade.

But Lanza's grandfather put an end to the melee when he told police: "These people have stood in line to see Mario, I will wait for them to pass." The doors were reopened.

The Mass was celebrated at the Roman Catholic church of St. Mary Magdalene where Lanza once was an altar boy. It was in this church at the age of 18 that Lanza made his first public appearance singing "Ave Maria" at a funeral.

Lanza, who died in Italy Oct. 7, will be buried in California.

Asbury WSCS Meeting Held At Parsonage

The Asbury WSCS met Thursday afternoon, Oct. 15, at the parsonage with Mrs. William Causer hostess. Mrs. Robert Holmes and Miss Elizabeth Hembrough assisted.

The hymn, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," was sung at the opening of the meeting. Roll call was answered with naming a favorite autumn tree. Devotions were given by Mrs. Causer, who also led in prayer.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Paul Barrows, the minutes of the last meeting and correspondence were read by Miss Elizabeth Hembrough.

The program was in charge of Miss Hembrough, assisted by Mrs. Frank Hembrough and Mrs. James Cully, who read from the article, "Good News of Peace and Life."

The meeting closed with the group repeating the benediction. Bingo was played during the social hour with prizes going to Mrs. Arvel Becker, Mrs. Don Cully and Miss Hembrough.

OYSTER SUPPER FOR FRIENDLY FELLOWS

By BERNARD GAVZER

LONDON (AP)—When his girl friend walked out on him, Mark decided to kill himself.

The noise in the underground frightened him, so he didn't jump into the path of a train. At the seashore, he was up to his knees in the water, but it was too cold.

"I was too much of a coward to get it all over like that," Mark says, snapping his fingers, "so I decided to kill myself a little bit at a time."

Mark shot himself with a hypodermic needle. Its ammunition—heroin—was strong enough to make him forget his girl. But his new sweetheart—dope—clung to him every minute of every day.

In this way, Mark was no different from any of the thousands of drug addicts in the United States.

But the craving need was about the only thing they have in common. If Mark had taken the same course in New York, instead of London, he would be a criminal. In any American city, he would be hunted by police and always frantically hunting for his next fix. He would be cheated by the pushers and peddlers—the salesmen of the narcotics world. He would be one of the more than 50,000 known American addicts.

Here he is just one of Britain's 441 known men and women who have a sickness known as drug addiction. He deals with a doctor instead of a pusher. No racketeer gets rich off his habit.

The difference between what would happen to Mark in the United States and what does happen to him in the United Kingdom illustrates a significant difference in approach. In the United States it's a criminal problem; in England, a medical one.

Could America solve its drug problem by adopting all or part of the British system?

Yes, says Judge John M. Murtagh, chief magistrate of New York City, voicing a position also held by a special narcotics study committee of the American Bar Assn. and American Medical Assn.

Says the judge, in a recent book:

"No other country in the world has been so sadistic (as the United States) in dealing with addicts. We ought to know by now that no matter how harshly we treat addicts, until there is a fundamental change in federal policy, addiction in this country will not be stamped out because the underworld moguls do not intend to get out of so profitable a business. We should follow England's example."

No, says Harry J. Anslinger, commissioner of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics, whose position is supported by many police and law enforcement officials.

"From time to time certain individuals," he has written, "who consider themselves 'experts have publicized their answer to the narcotic problem. They say it is simple. All you have to do is to take the profit out of the traffic, and the problem is solved. When asked how you take the profit out, they say it is also simple—just give the addicts all they want for nothing. They ignore the whole concept of American justice—that man is responsible for his actions and that the wrongdoer should be punished by swift and impartial justice."

Though they are mindful of the argument, British officials artfully dodge it.

"We can state the situation here; it is favorable," says T. C. Green, a slight, fair-haired career man who is head of the Home Office's A-1 Division, which administers narcotics control.

The controlling law is the Dangerous Drugs Act. Like U.S. law it forbids illicit manufacture, sale, possession, importing and exporting of drugs. The Home Office administers it, Scotland Yard and local police outside London enforce it.

It is not illegal to be an addict. There is no registration of addicts, no special clinic, no compulsory requirement that addicts be reported.

British law provides three conditions under which drugs may properly be given an addict by a doctor: 1—for gradual withdrawal; 2—in cases where complete withdrawal is too severe; 3—where the patient needs a minimal dosage to lead a normal life. There is no such U.S. law.

This setup might make it seem that England is a hophead's heaven. But in practice, when a misfit like Mark decides to jab himself with a needle, it becomes known in Scotland Yard and the Home Office.

"Sure they know about me," says skinny, mustachioed Mark, 35, a sometime street photographer and tie vendor. "My doctor told them about me before he would give me a script (prescription)."

And so Mark's name became known to A. L. Dyke, chief inspector for the Home Office's A1 Division, and to Sgt. Albert Merson, 36, former RAF pilot who practically alone is the narcotics bureau in the world's second largest city.

"There's not enough to do to occupy the time of a man, let alone a squad," says Merson.

There are no known juveniles among them and most are above the age of 30. (Six per cent of U.S. addicts are between 21 and 30 and 12 per cent below 21. Federal law provides the death penalty for sale to a juvenile).

Eighty per cent—349 of the 441 known addicts — became hooked through medical treatment for pain of illness or injury. (The same thing occurs in the United States, but experts readily concede that most American addicts become that way through choice.)

Adding CHARM to YOUR Home

REVISED SETTING

Few of us feel that we can refurnish our homes at will—starting from scratch and getting everything brand new. Often we must depend for room change and uplift on revising the background colors, introducing new and novel decorative touches, and finding a few new pieces of furniture that will blend compatibly with our older belongings and at the same time give our rooms an up-dated feeling.

Forward-looking designers having long sensed this need for styling that had a kinship with the familiar forms of the past and yet was new in concept and design, have brought us a long-awaited group of interchangeable pieces that will fit into any setting with grace and charm.

The living room sketched has been up-dated by painting the walls a soft beaver shade that exactly matches the wall-to-wall carpet. Wall interest has been kept to minimum to emphasize the planter which extends the entire width of the mantel.

A new chest, an end table and a coffee table — all trim and uncluttered — were mixed with the older pieces. The result is an up-dated, comfortable room that is a joy to live in.

Looking for additions and replacements that are versatile, unaggressive in styling and design that will enhance your existing furniture, yet introduce a new note of beauty? See our new group of interchangeable pieces for every room in your home. You'll be delighted, we're sure.

Rev. Neva Morris Tells CWF Of Churches In Rural Areas

The Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church met on Wednesday evening, October 14, to hear Rev. Mrs. Neva Morris speak on our rural churches. Mrs. Morris, pastor of Chapin Christian Church, is well qualified to speak on this type of church. For 41 years she has been preaching in rural churches in several states. Until she came to Chapin she was with her husband, sometimes sharing responsibilities, and always having a church near him. Often times more than one church.

The problems and needs of rural churches are the subject of discussion for Christian Churches throughout the lands. They are attempting to offer some solutions.

First In Oklahoma

Mrs. Morris first church was in Oklahoma, then a wild territory but filled with people anxious for a preacher. These areas gave many pleasing achievements.

Some suggestions offered by Mrs. Morris were to distribute ministers and also furnish coparishes. In these, one building would be used by all denominations, and also used as a civic center, work shops and short university courses would help ministers already settled in rural churches.

It is often said, reports Mrs. Morris, that rural churches are used at a training ground for young ministers, places for retired ministers and for ministers that could do no better. This, however, is far from true as today's rural congregation contains well-educated people with many interests. Ministers, dedicated as Mrs. Morris, will help greatly in keeping our rural families in rural churches.

Devotion

The devotions of the program were given by Mrs. Herschel Hickey assisted by Mrs. Joseph Doolin. A sextet composed of Mrs. Hickey, Mrs. Doolin, Mrs. Milton Edge, Mrs. Robert Ray, Mrs. Dick Minor, and Mrs. Keith Seymour sang "In His Pavilion" and "My Prayer." They were accompanied by Mrs. Donald Littler. Mrs. Joseph Doolin also gave a reading entitled Wings.

Makes Gift

A monetary gift was willed to the Fellowship by Miss Sally McKinney and was to be used to purchase a gift for the use of the Fellowship. Mrs. Ed Garlich had a brief dedication service for this memorial gift which consisted of a silver bowl and candlestick holders. Mrs. Edge and Mrs. Doolin sang "Saved by Grace" as part of the dedication.

On World Community Day, October 30, Rosa Page Welch, will be the guest speaker and services are at the Centenary Methodist church. Infants and tiny tot clothes are being collected by all churches in town and will be sent to a united church distributing center.

The church family dinner will be October 28 at 6:30 and the Membership Development committee is in charge of the program.

The next meeting, November 11, will be on a recent trip to the Caribbean by Mrs. Donald Littler, Mrs. Charles Adams and Miss Verna Butcher.

MANCHESTER GROUP REMINDS MEMBERS OF UN DAY OCT. 24

Mrs. James Gordon presented a prayer poem, "For Human Rights," as a reminder that Oct. 24 is United Nations Day, when the Women's Society of Christian Service met in the Methodist church parlor, Tuesday evening, Oct. 13.

Mrs. James Gordon called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. with a call to worship and the group repeated in unison "This is My Woman's Society." Mrs. Orville Wise had charge of the devotions and lesson entitled "Faces to Reflect the Light."

The Scripture and prayer were given by Mrs. Gordon. Other members assisted in presenting the lesson.

The secretary, Mrs. McNeece, read the minutes of the last meeting and a communication. A treasurer's report was given.

The Week of Prayer and Self-Denial will be observed beginning Oct. 25. The secretary of missionary education, Mrs. Charles Arnold, gave eight reading point awards to members.

The secretary of spiritual life, Mrs. Harper, gave the closing thought. A social hour followed during which Mrs. Wilmer Thady served refreshments in keeping with Halloween.

TEACHERS ENJOY B-E DAY AT JACKSONVILLE STATE HOSPITAL

Fifty teachers representing many of the schools of Morgan county visited Jacksonville State Hospital as a part of Business-Education Day held during the fall teachers' institute last Thursday.

The teachers met at 10 a.m. in the old Diagnostic Staff room where they were met and greeted by Dr. Joseph Marcovitch, superintendent. Following the welcome, the group was divided into three parts and were escorted on a tour through various areas of the hospital. They were guests of the hospital at a luncheon held in the employees' dining room at 1 o'clock.

At 2:00 p.m. the group again met in the Diagnostic Staff Room where they enjoyed hearing representatives from various departments of the hospital. Those who spoke were Dr. George Stanford, Clinical Director; Mr. Oscar Gronseth, Activities Therapies; Mr. Alfred Riley, Hospital Business Administrator; Dr. Martin Cohen, Psychology Department; Reverend Darwin Clupper, Hospital Chaplain; Mr. Harold Coker, Vocational Rehabilitation; Mrs. Mildred Hill, Social Service Department. Mrs. Naydene Massey, Volunteer Services; Mr. Roy Wright, Nursing Services; and Claudia Naranick, School of Nursing, and Mr. Dale Charles.

Following the seminar, the program opened for a question and answer period.

City Planner Reports To Rotary, Kiwanis On Progress Of Study

By John B. Martin

"The State has given the cities of Illinois three tools with which to work in building a more progressive and modern community," declared John R. Luensman, representative of Evert Kincaid and Associates, consultants.

The State Legislature has given cities a subdivision ordinance which allows for reasonable changes within 1½ miles around the city, provided that city has adopted a master plan; zoning laws within a city can be used to regulate various uses and confine those various uses to specific areas; and third, the building code gives the city much authority to restrict the types of construction within the corporation limits.

Service Clubs Meet

Members of the Jacksonville Rotary club and Kiwanis club met in joint session Friday noon to hear a progress report on the development of a comprehensive city plan.

Rotary President Ray Miller presided at the first portion of the meeting, then introduced Kiwanis President Harris Rowe.

Mayor Robert A. DuBois was Rotary club program chairman who introduced Mr. Luensman. A capacity crowd was on hand to learn more about the progress of the proposed plan.

In 'Formative' Stage

Mr. Luensman told the group, "We are not going to present a plan and say this is THE one. The only thing we can do is draw upon our experiences since 1930 and set up a guide, which, shaped to your community, would keep the plan alive and progressive.

"The first phase of our operation has been completed. One of our first projects was to conduct a land use study to find out just how each building and area in the city is now being used. This project included business, industrial, public use, residential and others. We have a complete map showing these things and will use it as a guide in planning for the future.

"Next on our list was the economic study which has been completed and on file at the public library." Both preliminary reports are studies of present conditions which will be used later in determining future progress incorporated into the finalized plan.

A future study of a nine-block square in the odwntown area will be made in the next phase of the program.

Community 'Maturing'

Luensman pointed out that Jacksonville is a "maturing community" in relation to other cities in the midwest. He pointed to "interior jungles" throughout the city—parts of the center of city blocks not in use, owned by persons not utilizing the area and grown over in weeds or other brush. Many of the houses have outlived their use and a number of the alleys in the downtown area are not being used to the fullest extent, he said.

Captures 'Fair Share'

Jacksonville businessmen capture only a "fair share" of the dollar to be spent, but the share will increase as competition gets more intense, he added. The problem of traffic and parking in the downtown area tends to spur development of additional retail outlets elsewhere. In addition, the ease of transportation to Springfield and St. Louis tends to decrease the Jacksonville businessman's share of the consumer dollar.

Can Jacksonville renew itself without additional industry? Mr. Luensman said that his personal opinion was an unqualified "NO."

"Most industries do not have to look for a place to move. They usually have a long list of communities asking them to move, with the offer of adequate water, sewer, workers and tax structure."

Traffic Report

Mr. Luensman followed his general report with several suggestions which his company has made, or soon will make, to the Jacksonville Plan Commission concerning traffic flow in the business district.

The ideal system for any community is to provide parking "around" the business district and shop in the center.

The local plan commission is considering the idea of reversing the flow of traffic on present one-way streets at the corners of the Public Square. The Kincaid firm is also in favor of the present one-way traffic on the public square, with minor revisions for control. This will be accomplished by the use of signal devices and division of lanes of traffic. A complete program should give faster movement of traffic without speeding any of the vehicles.

A complete study concerning off-street parking in the downtown business district will be made in the near future.

There were no questions at the conclusion of the joint meeting Friday.

Mr. Luensman did not offer any "sure-cure" or "concrete" methods on any phase of the proposed city plan. Kincaid and Associates have been working for the past eight months on many of the preliminary studies and reports which must be compiled before a plan of any consequence can be formulated.

Much of the preliminary work in developing any city plan must entail statistics, study and then more study. Ideas will be discovered, tried, changed and later revised until a "workable" plan evolves.

SERVICE CLUBS MEET IN JOINT SESSION

Both the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs met in joint session Friday to hear Mr. Luensman discuss aspects of the proposed city plan for Jacksonville. The Rotary club was the host club for the meeting at the Dunlap hotel banquet room.

A 16 POUND MUSHROOM

Every year Frank Willner, who lives three miles north of Jacksonville, visits a woods east of town in October and always he finds at least one large Leafy Polypous mushroom, which is more commonly called "The Hen of the Woods."

This year he found the granddaddy of them all, 16 pounds of delicious fungus. In 1957 he got a 10 pounder.

He plans to give away part of it, eat "a couple of messes, and put the rest in the deep freeze.

Refrigerator Truck Burns Near Hardin

HARDIN, Ill.—A large refrigerator truck caught fire and burned early Friday morning about three miles north of Hardin on Rt. 100. The trailer belonged to Refrigerators, Inc., and the tractor was the property of a Mr. Moore of St. Louis, who was on his way to Iowa for cargo when the mishap occurred.

Moore stated that the motor of the vehicle started to miss, and when he stopped to investigate he found that the back was on fire. He stopped a passing motorist to get word to the Hardin fire department, and firemen extinguished the blaze, but the outfit is considered a total loss. The truck was removed by a local towing company.

Legion Meeting Monday

The American Legion Auxiliary, Calhoun Unit 636, will meet Monday night at the Legion Hall in Hardin, and members will hear reports of the 20th district meeting which took place in Pittsfield last week, and of the apple pie sale at the recent apple festival.

The unit, of which Mrs. Howard Devine is president, is attempting to be 100% in membership by the end of October, and a report of progress will be given Monday night by the membership committee. There will also be a report of the 300 tray favors which unit members made Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul B. Hanks.

Mr. And Mrs. Potter Observe Golden Event

More than 50 relatives and friends were in attendance at the golden wedding celebration, including several former Jacksonville residents.

Homer H. Potter is now associated with the Dempsey-Tegler Investment Company of Whittier, after moving to California a few years ago. Many years ago he was cashier of the Farrell State Bank of Jacksonville, but has long been in the investment business. Both Mr. and Mrs. Potter are natives of Jacksonville. She is a graduate of Illinois Woman's College (MacMurray.)

Their three sons are engaged in business in California. Eugene O. Potter, who recently moved to California from Illinois, is associated with the Union Hardware Co. of Montebello. H. Beaumont Potter is associated with a building materials firm in Whittier, and James E. Potter is owner of Potter Publications, Inc., Los Angeles.

Greene IOOF, Rebekahs To Meet

The meeting of the Greene County I.O.O.F. and Rebekas Association will be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 28, in the local I.O.O.F. hall with the two organizations of this city as host and hostess.

Plans for the Associational meeting were made Thursday evening at the regular meeting of the Rebekah Lodge. An election of officers will be held at the county meeting and the members of the Rebekah Lodde will be responsible for the refreshments while the members of the I.O.O.F. will plan the program.

Plans were made for attendance at the initiation ceremonies of the Rebekah State Assembly to be held Tuesday evening in the Armory in Springfield. Plans were also made for a group to attend the District Rebekah meeting to be held at Mt. Olive Nov. 4. Nov 5 has been designated as Guest Night in the local Lodge and officers will be dressed formally.

ROODHOUSE WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEETING THURSDAY

ROODHOUSE — The regular meeting of the Roodhouse Woman's Club was held Thursday afternoon in the club room with Mrs. John W. Roberts acting for the program chairman who was absent. Mrs. Roberts introduced Valerie Shipton and Janet Becket, the latter from White Hall, who had attended music camp during the summer. Valerie Shipton spoke on her experiences at camp and Janet Becket, accompanied at the piano by Judy Pilkington, White Hall, sang two numbers, "To A Wild Rose" and "Little Bird."

Two new members read the pledge and were introduced as follows: Mrs. A. H. Cashon, Roodhouse, and Mrs. Robert Meldrum, White Hall.

Mrs. Charles C. Barlow, in behalf of the teachers, thanked the group for the recent tea held for the Roodhouse public school teachers. Mrs. Albert Powers announced that a venetian blind had been donated to the club for the downstairs door.

Mrs. Roberts announced that the November meeting will be on the "American Indian" with Eckford J. deKay, director, Ouatoga Society, Alton, as speaker. An Indian offering will be taken up at this time.

Mrs. Don Barnett and her committee served cake and coffee at the conclusion of the Thursday afternoon meeting.

Cass Board Adopts County Sales Tax Effective Nov. 1

VIRGINIA — The Cass county board of supervisors has adopted a ½ cent county sales tax for rural areas which will be effective Nov. 1.

All incorporated areas in the county already have a city sales tax in effect. This would apply to all retail selling in rural areas.

The resolution was adopted by a 10-3 vote of the board of supervisors in session yesterday at the court house in Virginia. Those voting against the ordinance were Supervisors Thornley of Ashland, Hager of Newmansville, and Lebkuecher of Bluff Springs.

Oil and gasoline delivered to farm homes will now come under this ½ cent sales tax. Previously they were exempt from city sales tax when the delivery was made to a rural address.

Proceeds from the tax will go to the county for use.

The county board adopted the budget and annual tax levy yesterday, which will cover the period for one year beginning December 1, 1960.

Levies were practically the same as last year, with the exception of the TB fund levy which was increased from $10,000 to $20,000.

The tax levies are as follows: general county purposes $59,670; county highway $50,000; county contribution to municipal retirement fund $9,000; county aid for township bridges $10,000; care and treatment of TB patients $20,000; county matching fund for Federal Aid Secondary roads $26,500.

The county board also adopted their second resolution for Cass county to be tested for determination as a modified certified brucellosis-free area under the Illinois Bovine law. Previous tests showed less than 3 per cent of dairy and feeding cattle in Cass were infected. This resolution permits a second testing to determine present conditions.

Board Needs More Time

The board also recommended to the Illinois Department of Revenue that the Cass Board of Review be given another 30-day extension of time to complete their review work. They are working on equalizing assessed values in Ashland and Beardstown townships from the state department of revenue to stay in session until December 1.

Mrs. James Turner

Miss Janet Summers Weds James Turner

WINCHESTER—A double ring ceremony performed before relatives and friends Saturday evening, Oct. 10, at Bloomfield Baptist church united in marriage Miss Janet Summers of Winchester and James Turner of Jacksonville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Summers and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover W. Turner, Jacksonville. The Rev. L. E. Hutchenson of Girard officiated.

Larry Summers, brother of the bride, was best man and Miss Robie Hamilton, Winchester, attended the bride. Ushers were Lloyd Summers, another brother of the bride, and Michael Hamilsories and the groom's mother wore black with corresponding ton. The ushers also lighted candles at the altar before the ceremony.

Reception at Church

A reception was held in the basement of the church immediately following the wedding. A three-tiered bride's cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the serving table. Assisting were Mrs. Renee Thomas, Mrs. Lloyd Summers and Mrs. Donna Summers.

The bride attended schools at Winchester. Mr. and Mrs. Turner will make their home in Jacksonville. The groom is employed by Allis-Chalmers at Springfield.

WOODSON WOMAN'S CLUB WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Shirley Evans Crowned Queen At Carrollton

CARROLLTON — Miss Shirley Evans, senior at Carrollton Community Unit high school and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Evans, was crowned Queen Friday, Oct. 17, at the school's annual homecoming celebration.

Attendants to the Queen were First Maid, Miss Joyce Schroeder, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schroeder; Second Maid, Miss Barbara Holmes, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holmes. Third Maid was Miss Connie Gourley, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gourley, and Fourth Maid was Miss Patricia Kell, senior, daughter of Mrs. William Bridgewater.

The gift to the Queen was presented by Mike Sullivan, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan. The flower girl was little Miss Anne Meneley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Meneley.

Ida Fish And David Hollands Wed In Pike Co.

PITTSFIELD—Miss Ida Emily Fish, daughter of Mrs. George Fish of Pittsfield and the late Mr. Fish, became the bride of David P. Hollands in a ceremony performed Saturday afternoon, Oct. 17, at the home of the bride's mother.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. George Godfrey Hollands, Hong Kong, British Crown Colony.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, E. E. Angle of Louisiana, Mo. Rev. James Agee, Lutheran pastor, officiated.

Three cousins of the bride were her attendants, Mrs. Robert Beattie, Wilmette, Ill., and her daughters, Cathy and Carey, who were flower girls. Robert Beattie attended the bridegroom.

Mrs. Beattie wore blue peau de soie, ballerina-length, and carried a bouquet of pink feathered carnations.

Home Reception

A reception was held at the Fish residence following the ceremony. Pink carnations with white beauty berries were in baskets on standards throughout the home. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Eva French, Mrs. William Dunham and Mrs. Fred Ward.

The bride and groom will leave later this year for an extended trip in Europe. When they left Pittsfield late Saturday the bride was wearing a jade green silk costume. They will make their home at 1060 Green street in San Francisco.

The bride attended MacMurray College and Gem City Business College at Quincy. For several years she worked at WTAD station in Quincy and also at KLZ, Denver, Colo. She was stewardess with the United Air Lines and now is ticket agent for the line at San Francisco.

The bridegroom attended DeKalb University in Hong Kong and for many years was custom inspector and officer in Harbor Police, Hong Kong. He received many decorations for bravery in action during World War I and was flown to England for a special audience with the late King George VI.

Public Health Service Decries Blocking Of Water Fluoridation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service says a militant minority is blocking chances for a virtual revolution in the health of the American jaw.

The service admittedly is worried about those who oppose fluoridation of water supplies.

Federal watchdogs of the nation's health contend that the anti fluoridationists are perpetuating tooth decay — "a disease that seriously impairs the nation's health, manpower and economic resources."

Fluoridation involves adding controlled amounts of chemical fluoride to water supplies as a means of preventing a lot of tooth decay in a nation that has:

—97 million people with decayed teeth.

—An annual family dental bill of 1.7 billion dollars for just the 40 per cent of people receiving treatment.

The Health Service says it has been proved beyond question that fluoridation can prevent two out of three cavities in growing children, and that the benefits last through life. Also, that the method is absolutely safe.

Opposition arguments range from charges that fluoridation involves exposing people to a "rat poison" to a claim that it is Communist-inspired as a means of weakening the will of the American people.

The Health Service says that since the value of fluoridation was established in the 1940s, more than 42 million Americans in nearly 3,600 communities have become drinkers of fluoridated water, including seven million whose water supplies contain natural fluoride.

But another 118 million get water from community supplies which lack fluoride. Such national health leaders as Secretary of Health and Welfare Arthur S. Flemming and Surgeon General Leroy S. Burney report these factors:

1. There has been a steady decline in the rate of community acceptance of fluoridation. In 1953—the peak year so far—378 communities adopted the system. But in 1958, only 145 places began fluoridation programs.

2. The number of communities which discontinued fluoridation has increased.

3. Most of the gain in the program has been in the larger cities, such as Boston, San Francisco Baltimore and Chicago. New York City is a notable exception.

Dr. Donald Galagan, assistant chief of the service's dental public health division, says: "The big and medium-sized cities have enough competent people to understand the problem, digest the information that is available and come to a decision.

One anti-fluoridation leader is Dr. George Waldbott of Detroit, a specialist in treating allergies. He says many persons never suffer ill effects from fluoridation but "another portion is especially susceptible to its poisoning."

He says some of his patients had hives and other allergic symptoms which disappeared when they stopped drinking fluoridated water. He contends the Public Health Service disregards "thousands of publications in medical literature dealing with toxic action of fluoridation."

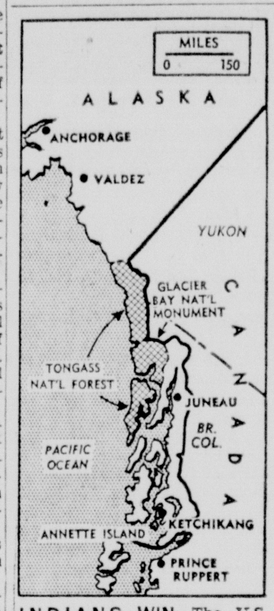
Waldbott adds that the Health Service promoted fluoridation "before studies had been made to prove its safety. It is therefore natural that efforts are now being made to minimize the harm."

Virtually all major health organizations in the country, including the American Dental Assn. and the American Medical Assn., have endorsed fluoridation.

Fluoridation programs also are in operation in communities in Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Egypt England, Germany, Guatemala, Japan, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Panama, Panama Canal Zone, Peru, Philippines, Scotland, and Sweden.

Fluoride is added to water supplies in concentration of one part for every one million parts of water.

To opponents who say that sodium fluoride is a "rat poison," health officials answer: Sure it is, and a good one at that. But the amount of fluoride needed to kill even a rat is hundreds of times that drunk daily in fluoridated water.



INDIANS WIN—The U.S. Court of Claims in Washington has decided that a small group of Alaskan Tlingit and Haida Indians is entitled to payment for more than 20 million acres of land taken by white men from their ancestors. Millions of dollars could be involved in payment for the land (shaded area on Newsmap). Included are the Tongass National Forest (18 million acres), appropriated by the government in 1902-07 and Glacier Bay National Monument (two million acres), taken in 1925, and Annette Island (86,000 acres).

Ashland Pastor Leaves For Weekend Mission

ASHLAND—Nine pastors of the Methodist Illinois conference left the fore part of this week for Hollywood, Calif. They joined 500 other pastors from across the nation in a four-day evangelism emphasis on total enlistment.

Rev. J. William Jones, pastor of the Ashland Methodist church, was among the nine from Illinois.

Delegates will be assigned to local churches in the Southern California-Arizona conference for a weekend evangelism mission with emphasis on "Sharing God's Good News" in the church meetings and home visitation.

News Notes

The dental office of Drs. R. O. and E. L. Beadles has been set up in temporary quarters in the Jesse Bennett building, three doors north of the Ashland post office; formerly being the Fitzgerald grocery store. The doctors are planning to open Wednesday, Oct. 21. They lost practically everything in the Banes building, which was destroyed by fire two weeks ago.

Maurice Plattner, charge lay leader for the Ashland Methodist church, has announced that Laymen Day will be observed Sunday, Oct. 18, at 10:30 a.m. worship service. On this day Laymen annually take this opportunity to witness in their churches. Charles Aggertt will assist Plattner. The men's choir will provide special music. Richard Hackman, formerly of Virginia, and now a student at MacMurray College in Jacksonville, will bring the message in the morning service.

The Ashland Church of God will celebrate its 17th anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 18, with an all-day meeting. A basket dinner will be held at the noon hour. The afternoon service will begin at 2:30 p.m., with Rev. Louis Larimore of East Peoria, as the speaker. Special music has been arranged, and the pastor, Rev. Heber Cherry, extends a cordial invitation to all to attend this service.

Mrs. Wilma Thornley entertained the Centenary Community club at her home Wednesday afternoon at 2:15 p.m. Mrs. Emma Jurgens and Mrs. Grace DeGroot were in charge of the program. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Maude Moles and Mrs. Anna Thornley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gutmann, daughter Mary, and son, Joe, moved to Jacksonville on Wednesday, where they will make their future home. Mrs. Gutmann has been a resident of Ashland for 68 years. Joe is employed at Our Saviour's hospital there.

Raymond Bloomfield and LeRoy Robinson have returned to their respective homes from a hunting trip to Canada.

Jerry Conner, who has been in Turkey for the past year and a half, has arrived home on a 30-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conner. At the termination of his leave he will go to Germany.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Troxell was taken to the Memorial hospital in Chicago for observation. He will be taken back to the hospital there for surgery on Nov. 17.

Miss Mae Morrison of Detroit, Mich., has returned to her home after a few days visit here at the home of Mrs. Henry A. Votsmier.

John Lockwood, who has been a medical patient in Memorial hospital for the past two weeks, has returned to his home here.

Attends Funeral For J. H. Gardner

Mrs. Lester Hertz of Hanover, Pa., sister of Mrs. Edward Thies of Woodson, has returned home after being called here by the sudden death of her father, J. H. Gardner on October 11. Mr. Gardner was preceded in death by his wife, and a daughter, Miss Reva Gardner.

He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Edward Thies of Woodson, W. P. Gardner of Jacksonville, Mrs. Robert McHove of Bowen, Ill., Mrs. E. J. Lawson of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Lester Hertz and Mrs. D. K. Hershey of Hanover, Pa., R. G. Gardner of Belleville, Ill., and Ford Gardner of Anna, Ill. There are a number of grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. Howard Fisher officiating. The Wiese Funeral Home was in charge of services with interment in the Waverly Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Crabtree

WINCHESTER — Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Crabtree will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with open house from two to four o'clock Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25, at their home on East Jefferson street. All friends are invited to call and the couple respectfully requests no gifts.

Oscar Crabtree and Mabel Parker were married Oct. 21st at Jacksonville. They have one son, Roy R. Crabtree of Winchester and a daughter, Thelma Hierman of Peoria. One daughter, Edith, is deceased. There are four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Honor Jerseyville Man For Bravery

JERSEYVILLE, Illinois — The Jerseyville Lions Club honored Louis Gorman and his family at a recognition banquet Wednesday evening at the Peace Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Gorman subdued James Palmer, confessed killer of three people in as many robberies, during a hold up attempt by Palmer at the Gorman Brothers Ready Mix plant in the eastern part of the city, Saturday morning.

The Lions presented a watch to Gorman in recognition of his action in thwarting Palmer's efforts and his capture. The inscription on the watch presented by the club to Gorman reads:

"Presented to Louis Gorman for his act of heroism October 10, 1959, Jerseyville Lions Club."

The mature woman, who wants to be as fashionable as during her younger years, should pay particular attention to her choice of make-up colors. Lighter shades will hide lines or wrinkles whereas darker colors tend to cause shadows.

The United States Census Bureau lists 381 diaper services in the United States.

50 Years Together

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Oxley

A well known Durbin couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Oxley, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with Open House October 25. Friends and relatives are cordially invited to call from two to five o'clock in the afternoon at the Oxley home in the Durbin community.

Mrs. Oxley is the former Anna L. Mills. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mills and Mr. Oxley's parents were Mr. and Mrs. James Oxley. They were married Oct. 28, 1909, at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Albert Flagg.

They are parents of two children, Wendell of Waverly and Frances, wife of John Becker, Jacksonville route two. There are the following grandchildren, Miss Kay Oxley, John Edgar, Weldon and Loren Becker and two great grandchildren, Peggy and Becky Becker.

Mr. and Mrs.Homer E. Grady

Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Grady of Exeter observed their golden wedding anniversary Oct. 7th. They had planned to have open house October 11 but as streets were oiled at Exeter and they were to attend Grand Lodge in Chicago that weekend the occasion was marked at a family dinner at the home of their son, Arthur Grady. Other than Mr. and Mrs. Homer Grady and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grady, other guests were Mrs. Daisy Brown, Mrs. Virginia Green and daughters, Melissa and Ratha.

Miss Annis Lawson and Homer E. Grady were married Oct. 7, 1909 in Springfield. Mrs. Grady has lived her entire life in Scott county. Mr. Grady was born and raised in the West, Kansas Indiana territory and Oklahoma.

They have one son, Arthur, living in Exeter. A grandson, Mickey, is deceased.

Jury Acquits Hansen Of Ex-Wife's Murder; Deliberates Two Hours

CHICAGO (AP) — A Criminal Court jury Friday night acquitted Duncan Hansen, 29, of a charge of murdering his former wife, Susan Hansen, a month after she divorced him on grounds of cruelty.

A jury of 10 women and 2 men deliberated a bit under two hours before returning its verdict.

The case attracted nationwide attention, especially when Hansen's daughter, Nancy, 6, was called to the stand to testify in her father's behalf. She generally supported his story of what happened that fatal morning.

Denied Slaying

Hansen, who steadfastly denied knowledge of the slaying, contended that a prowler probably killed his former wife.

The state at the start of the trial declared it would seek the death penalty. Most of the early days of the trial were taken up trying to seat a jury qualified to vote the death penalty.

However, Asst. State's Atty. John Stamos, in his final arguments, did not ask the jury to return any set punishment.

Demonstrating to the jury how the crime may have been committed, he turned to Hansen, pointed and declared: "This was an act with malice, vengeance and hate behind it. He did it and he's got to pay for it."

Closing Argument

In his closing argument in Judge Robert E. English's courtroom, Asst. State's Atty. Joseph Weber concerned himself with three main points—motive, testimony by witnesses who placed Hansen in the neighborhood of the crime an hour before Hansen himself said he arrived there and the emotion-packed testimony of Hansen's daughter, Nancy, 6.

Weber declared that Hansen knew his ex-wife was planning to marry a physician. He recalled Hansen's diary which contained the passage: "Hate consumes me at times."

Referring to Hansen's testimony that he did not arrive at Susan Hansen's home until 8:30 a.m. May 24, Weber recalled testimony of several witnesses who placed him in the Hyde Park area an hour before. Medical testimony indicated the slaying took place about 6:30 a.m.

Intimates Coaching

Concentrating on Nancy's story, which generally tended to support her father's story that he did not know anything was wrong until Nancy told him so by telephone, the prosecution intimated that she was coached in her story by defense attorneys.

Defense Attorney Charles A. Bellows, who spoke for three hours, charged that the state had only circumstantial evidence against Hansen.

"What you have is a circumstance here and a circumstance there . . . and you put them together, my sense of justice revolts."

Hansen and Susan Hansen had two other children besides Nancy. They are Charles, 4, and Laura, 2. The children now live with Duncan Hansen's brother.

Military Rites For John Graham

Plan Congregational Youth Conference

Starting with a get acquainted session and registration at 2 p.m. on Saturday the young people will unite under the theme "Therefore, choose life." Through discussion, skill sessions on the "how to" of youth work, recreation, worship and meal times the young people will carry this theme.

Three of the state officers of the Pilgrim Fellowship will meet with the group, Gilbert Davis from Moline; Deleroes Leusby, Rock Falls, and Sandra Foutch, Spring Valley.

Churches included in the rally are Alton, Beardstown, Bunker Hill, both First and Woodburn, Chandlerville, Decatur, Dupo, East St. Louis Federated, Godfrey, both First and Melville Union, Highland, Jacksonville, Springfield, both First and Plymouth, Warrensburg and Waverly.

Young people planning to attend are urged to send their reservations to: First Congregational church, Third at Washington, Beardstown, Ill.

Young people from Jacksonville who hold offices in the association youth group are Jono Hildner, president; Ann Fay, Alanna Heiss, and Christie Elliott.

Deer Reported In Fair Numbers Near Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — Reports continue to be received regarding the presence of deer in the western Jersey county area.

Constable Pete Georgevits of Elsah Township was a Jerseyville visitor Friday morning and reported that he had seen three deer recently in a wooded area back of his clubhouse.

There were three large does in the trio, Georgevits reported and one small one.

Deer have been reported in recent years from time to time in the western Jersey county locality. With an open season on the species in Calhoun and Pike county again this year, local parties interested in the propagation of deer, express the fear that many of the animals raised in the Jersey county area may become targets in open season counties where they cross the Illinois into Calhoun and Pike.

Mrs. Geo. Rives New Secretary At Greenfield High

GREENFIELD—Mrs. George N. Rives, the former Rose Mary Medaris, has been hired as secretary, in the junior-senior high school office, to succeed Mrs. Mary Rands of Chesterfield who recently resigned to accept a position with the Illinois Public Aid Commission in Carlinville.

Mrs. Rives graduated from the Greenfield High School in 1942, with high honors and a major in business education. She had several years of secretarial experience after a business course at Hines School of Business in Springfield. Mr. and Mrs. Rives reside on a farm northeast of Greenfield and they are the parents of two sons.

Seniors To Pick Up Corn

Unit Supt. Dr. J. W. Yarbrough announces that the senior class of Greenfield High School is again available to pick up loose corn which has fallen to the ground after the corn pickers have gone through the fields. This has been a worthwhile financial project in recent years and farmers interested in having the seniors clear their stalk fields are asked to contact the high school office.

The smorgasbord, sponsored by the high school yearbook staff, scheduled for Saturday night has been indefinitely postponed.

The Greenfield high school band, under the direction of Jerome Ruble, attended the homecoming at Western Illinois State University at Macomb Saturday. Besides being guests of the university, the band participated in the parade.

Brief News Notes

The Philathea class of the Baptist Sunday school met at the country home of Mrs. Willard Pembrook Monday evening. Mrs. T. E. Van Bebber and Mrs. Verne Stringer were assistant hostesses. Mrs. Lee Witt led the devotions and Mrs. Frank Greer gave the lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Pembrook, Debra and Richard were Sunday dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pembrook and Kathryn in observance of the latter's birthday. Mrs. Walter Cross of Topeka, Kan., was also a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Luketich, Craig, Stan and Claire Ann were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Shields. On Saturday night they attended the Christian Brothers High School football game with Alton High at Quincy.

MacMurray President Makes Founders' Day Report To Trustees

A rapidly increasing enrollment at MacMurray College makes necessary a third men's dormitory next year, President Louis W. Norris reported Saturday to the Board of Trustees. The new men's college, coordinate with 114-year-old MacMurray College for Women, observed its first two years of operation Friday with Founders' Day for both schools.

Featuring first-day activities was a chapel address by Dr. Robert L. D. Davidson, President of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo. Speaking on "What Is A College," he declared that the curriculum "is and should always be to teach scholars to think for themselves."

MacMurray's alumnae association observed its 102nd birthday Friday evening with the traditional Candlelighting dinner in McClelland Dining Hall. A Founders' dinner for men was held simultaneously with this in Norris House, where earlier that day the Founders' club for men met.

Enrollment Reaches 827

Dr. Norris, who led in establishing the new college, told trustees at their semi-annual meeting that this year's 827 enrollment is highest in the college's history. The figure includes 303 men—(freshmen, sophomores and juniors)—and 524 women. Men already are housed in two new dormitories, and in a former women's dormitory converted this year for use by men.

"It will be noted that the return of upperclass women has increased markedly this year," Dr. Norris stated. "This is the first concrete evidence that the establishment of the men's college is affecting favorably the retention of women graduates. It is contemporaneous with the advancement of men to the junior year. The obvious deduction would be that the companion class of women has continued toward graduation in larger numbers than heretofore, because of this companionship.

'New Dimensions'

He also reported that "a set of new dimensions has been arising with regard to MacMurray. Most of the women students in college now have been here during a period when men students were on campus. Only one class was here before the men's college began. This means that the women's college is, to all appearances, adjusted to the men and quite sincerely eager to work out a harmonious collaboration with them.

"On the other side," he said, "the men's college demonstrated more complete organization than heretofore. The upperclass students now exert the influence of leadership which had been lacking in other years. This should result in a wholesome campus life surpassing previous years."

'Must Think For Self'

Dr. Davidson, in his Friday morning chapel address, cited MacMurray as among those colleges retaining the liberal arts tradition in spite of the rise of technical and specialty schools.

"Some colleges tried to become all things to all men and became universities of greater or lesser accomplishment and value. Some tried to ride with the tide and lost their character as a liberal arts institution. Some few, like MacMurray, held onto the faculty of the arts—certainly influenced by some needed curricular modifications and teaching procedures—but convinced that the curriculum is and should always be to teach scholars to think for themselves, to have them learn to ask the right questions rather than to know all the answers, and recognizing the transmission of the cultural heritage as the most adequate means of accomplishing it all.

"We have come all too abruptly to realize that a nation cannot survive without intellectual and cultural leaders and specialists who have more than their vocation. And, thank God, there is still room within the curriculum for love of learning, for investigation and study for the end of satisfaction alone and for the realization that we need also to educate just for careers in intellectual and cultural leadership."

The president of a Presbyterian college, Dr. Davidson singled out a faculty as the single most important ingredient of a college.

"Nothing so characterizes an institution as the dedicated persons who devote sacrificial lives to teaching. I notice that here at MacMurray with a very large proportion of your teachers with a doctorate that tenure is long. This indicates that their scholarly community is to their liking and this is good news."

Not Buying Students'

In a Friday afternoon session preliminary to Saturday's board meeting, President Norris told trustees that MacMurray's admissions standards have remained high.

"We definitely are not buying students," he declared, referring to a rumor that had gotten started in Jacksonville that MacMurray had lowered its admissions standards in order to attract some of the 303 males now here.

"As a matter of fact, quite a number of men are not admitted to MacMurray who do apply — 24% to be exact. I do not say this as a wish to cultivate exclusiveness but as a statement to you that our standards are just as high as they have ever been."

Dr. McKendree Blair, college chaplain, remarked on behalf of the faculty that student morale this year bore "a noticeable improvement." He made this remark after Dr. Norris had stated that the general psychology of the men's college was now more mature than it had ever been.

Lloyd Hamilton Gets Award

Featuring Friday evening's Candlelighting Dinner in McClelland Dining Hall was an award presented Lloyd Hamilton, owner of Hamilton's Cafe in Jacksonville, by the MacMurray alumnae association.

It was presented by Doris Overbey Sutton, Pekin, president of the association, in expression of appreciation for the cafe as a mecca for MacMurray students—especially in the 1920's and '30's. Many alums remembered their frequent trips to Hamilton's and "enjoyment of an unrestricted atmosphere commanded by him."

Martha Logan of Paris, Ill., a member of the Board of Trustees, gave the traditional Candlelighting toast whereby the ideals of the women's college are passed on from year to year.

Mrs. Clarence P. McClelland, wife of the former president of MacMurray—who was introduced—gave the invocation.

Simultaneous Dinner at Norris

In a dinner simultaneous with the McClelland affair, MacMurray men had their first official Founders' Day observance in Norris House. Presiding at the meeting was John R. Rider, Assistant to the President, with various college administrative officers also on hand.

Another tradition at the men's college was begun when President Norris presented a trophy to Blackstock House for having the highest collective academic average among the men's dormitories. Jim Pettit, a junior from Tuscola, Ill., president of Blackstock, received it, on behalf of its 100 occupants.

Speaking to the junior class, President Norris said that "we have regarded you as founders in a very real way. You have achieved a maturity that is perceptible to us, and we are proud of you."

TWO AUTOS DAMAGED AT HARDIN AND CLAY

Two cars were damaged about 7 p.m. Friday in an accident at the corner of E. Morton and S. Clay. Lawrence P. Quinlan, 271 Hardin, was going east on Morton and started to make a left turn onto Clay. He collided with a second car, which was passing him. The driver of the second car was Helen L. Coop of Ashland, who stated that she thought Quinlan was going to pull over to the side of the street.

Both cars left the scene under their own power. Quinlan's car had damages on the left front fender, and the right side of the Coop auto was damaged.

City police officers attended at the scene.

Ladislaw Cherry To Visit ISD Oct. 31

The annual Homecoming at the Illinois School for the Deaf to be held Saturday, Oct. 31 has been designated as "Ladislaw Cherry Day."

Ladislaw Cherry, grand president of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, is a 1918 graduate of ISD, and of Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., the only institution of higher learning for the deaf in the world.

Mr. Cherry, a native of Warsaw, Poland, joined the office staff of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf at its headquarters in Chicago following his graduation from Gallaudet in 1923. Beginning at the bottom of the ladder, he worked his way up to his present position as grand president of the society.

The National Fraternal Society of the Deaf is a fraternal insurance organization established in 1901. It operates on the lodge system and has branch lodges called Divisions in over 100 cities in the United States and Canada. The local branch is known as Jacksonville Division No. 88.

Plans for honoring Grand President Cherry include a program in the ISD auditorium in charge of the alumni association, a luncheon at the Dunlap hotel, a motorcade to the ISD football field, and a party sponsored by Jacksonville Division No. 88.

While a student at ISD, Mr. Cherry ranked high in his studies and was chosen valedictorian of his class.

Franklin WSCS Visits In Cunningham Home

FRANKLIN—The regular meeting of the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church was held on Wednesday by chartering a Jacksonville bus and visiting the Cunningham Children's Home at Urbana, Ill. Mrs. Barnard Camm, vice president, had charge of making all the arrangements for the trip.

There were 35 women on the bus, six from Alexander, five from Island Grove near New Berlin, six from Durbin and eighteen from Franklin. The bus left the Shamrock in Franklin at 8 a.m. taking routes 36-54 and 10, and arrived in Champaign at 11:30 in time for lunch.

After lunch they went on to Urbana and were in the Chapel at Cunningham Home at 1 o'clock listening to Mrs. Edith Shufelt telling us the history of the home.

Cunningham Home is a "Home Away From Home" for children in the grades and through high school. We visited the boys' and girls' cottages. Two cottages completed with a housefather and mother in charge and the third are almost ready to occupy.

The evening meal is served in a large dining room but the breakfast is served in the cottages. Lunch is served at the different schools they attend.

The children all have certain tasks the same as they would in their own homes. Saturday is chore time and the boys and girls take part in the work program and for this they receive cash for which they can spend or save, and this helps them to know the use of money and the value of work well done.

Part of the askings this year from the Franklin W.S.C.S. goes to the home, and we are glad to be a part of this worthy cause. These children are not only from Methodist but from broken homes of any denomination.

Plan Supper

The Loyal Bereans of the Christian church are completing all their plans for their cafeteria supper to be served in the church basement on Oct. 22 at 5:30.

Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary held their regular meeting at the Legion Hall on Monday evening with 12 members present. After the business meeting held by the president, Dorothy Brewer, Bingo was played. Refreshments were served at the Shamrock by the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Tannahill and Mrs. Francis Tannahill.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Seymour, Charles Story and Mrs. Harriet Seymour drove to McCredie, Mo., and spent the day Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson who formerly lived at Nortonville.

Mrs. Marie Hart, Richard and Susan, and Miss Mary Ryan of Jacksonville spent Sunday with Mrs. Hart's mother, Mrs. Riggs Bostic, in Brimfield.

Attend Funeral

Those attending the funeral of Lloyd Williamson at Champaign Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Williamson, Mrs. Annie Featherstone and Edmond, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dahman and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rolston. Ralph Dahman served as one of the pallbearers.

UN Study Topic At Virginia WSCS Meeting

VIRGINIA—The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Virginia Methodist church met, October 13, in the church parlor.

The Executive Board convened at 1:30, preceding the regular session. Mrs. Frank Bruno, vice president, opened the meeting with the World Federation prayer.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Harry Watkins, Mrs. Robert Goddin and Mrs. B. W. Peebles, on the topic "Good News Of Peace and Life." Mrs. Goodin read the scripture lesson and two hymns were sung by the group.

Mrs. Howard Tink, Spiritual Life Secretary, spoke of the meaning of the worship service she had prepared. "The Light Of the World," drawn by Mrs. Byron Edwards and flanked by lighted tapers, illustrated the central theme. Mrs. Joe Drinkwater was leader for the lesson study on "The United Nations and Their Relation to Church Work in World Wide Missions."

Mrs. Bruno closed the program with prayer. A business meeting followed. Miss Nell Springer, recording secretary, read the minutes and Mrs. Gene Crouse reported for the House Committee.

Plan Bazaar

Plans for the annual bazaar and chicken pie supper, November 3, were discussed and plans on progress were made by various chairmen. It was voted to discontinue the custom of sending out dinners owing to the extra work involved. Price of $1.25 was set for adults this year.

Plans were made to serve the Methodist Youth Fellowship subdistrict group which will meet at the Virginia church Sunday evening, November 22. Mrs. Tink announced the week of prayer and self denial will be observed by the church women Monday, October 26, at 2:30 p.m. A large attendance is expected.

Forty-five members were present and adjourned to the dining room for refreshments. The Hostess Committee included Mrs. Elmer Jokisch, Mrs. Albert Jokisch, Mrs. Herbert Sinclair, Mrs. Lewis Webster, Mrs. Clifford Burrus and Mrs. Ernest Workman.

Final Rites For Emma Ommen

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma C. Ommen were held at 2:30 p.m. Friday at the Salem Lutheran Church. The Rev. Herbert C. Rose, pastor of the church, officiated.

Roy Lovekamp played several selections at the organ, and Richard Rose was usher at the church.

Pallbearers were Byron Wilker, Marland Ommen, Wilbur Tappenbeck, Paul Nergenah, and Robert Nergenah, Alvin Jording, Bernard Uhnken. Burial was in North Arenzville Cemetery.

The Williamson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

WILLIAM A. RYAN MARKS 90th BIRTHDAY

A long time resident of the Franklin community, William A. Ryan who now makes his home at Illinois Hotel in this city, was feted at a family dinner Tuesday evening, Oct. 13, honoring his nintieth birthday. The dinner party was at Jacksonville Country Club. Four of the honored guest's children pose with him above, left to right, Miss Ursula Ryan and J. Alden Ryan, Jacksonville, William A. Ryan, Sr., Jerome (Jerry) Ryan, Bunkie, La. and Mrs. George (Ann Ryan) Magner of Dayton, Ohio. Another son, William A. Ryan, Jr. of Alexanderia, La., had visited his father late this summer and was unable to be present. There is one son deceased, Edward, who lost his life in 1946 during World War Two in North Africa.

For many years Mr. Ryan operated his farm in the Franklin community. He formerly attended Sacred Heart church there but since moving to this city attends Our Saviour's church. He enjoys excellent health for his age and attends church each Sunday. His wife, the former Anna Lukeman, died in 1946. Mr. Ryan has eleven grandchildren. Family members attending totaled eleven and five guests joined the gathering at the Club later in the evening.

CHICAGO (AP) — Both butcher hogs and sows advanced 25 to 50 cents on the Chicago market this week.

Butchers under 230 pounds advanced most, ranging from 40 to 50 cents, while weights over 230 pounds were up mostly 25 cents. Receipts were the smallest in several weeks and the trade generally was more active than a week ago.

The trade this week was again featured by a narrow range in prices of all weights and grades of 190 to 280 pound butchers. In the wholesale market, prices of pork loins and ribs closed this week $2 to $3.50 lower.

In the cattle market, slaughter steers advanced 25 cents to $1, mostly 50 to 75 cents, with choice steers showing the greatest advance. Slaughter heifers advanced 25 to 50 cents. Cows finished steady to strong and bulls strong to 25 higher.

Curtailed local receipts at a stronger trend on carcas beef give the trade a bullish influence as did sizeable shipments to Canadian buyers.

Slaughter lambs advanced 50 cents to $1 and ewes as much as 50 cents. Receipts were slightly below those of a week ago. Trading was moderately active throughout the week.

Concord Club Contributes To Several Funds

The Concord Community Woman's club was entertained Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Max Baise, the meeting opened with devotions read by Mrs. Robert Nickel. Roll call was answered with "Ways To Raise Money." Mrs. David Newby presented the treasurer's report.

Announcement was made that the club will contribute to all Illinois Federation projects. A donation was made to the United Fund.

The club is preparing for a rummage sale, which will be in charge of Mrs. Eugene Brockhouse, Mrs. Paul Nickel, and Mrs. William Doerr.

A "Price Is Right" sale will be conducted at the next meeting by co-chairmen Mrs. Max Baise and Mrs. Donald Hatfield.

All members were in attendance at the meeting, and there were two guests, Mrs. Stanley Rapp and Mrs. John Walters.

Announcement was made that the Morgan county federation will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 27.

Mrs. Leland Werries of Chapin gave an interesting book review, "Daybreak," by Frank Slaughter.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Baise and her assistant, Mrs. Clifford Fouts.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. Paul Hess.

Best fashion aid to any woman is the full-length mirror. Shows you how you look to others, front and back and reveals crooked seams, slips that slip and wispy hair straying from under the back of the hat.

If you don't want to wind up with foot trouble in the middle years, stay away from very high heels. Save them for gala occasions or parties where you simply sit. For daily wear, tailored or dressy, there's the shaped mid-heel. It's both pretty and comfortable.

SOYBEANS LOSE, OTHER GRAINS CLOSE MIXED

By EARL AYKROID
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Clearing weather over major portions of the grain belt brought selling of soybean and corn futures on the Board of Trade this week.

The setback in soybeans ended three weeks of steady advances in that commodity. Other grains finished mixed, with wheat and rye on the plus side. Oats declined, along with soybeans and corn.

At the close of trading Friday, wheat was ¾ to 1⅛ higher than Friday a week ago, corn was ¼ to 1⅞ lower, oats ⅜ to 1½ higher, rye ⅞ to 1⅝ higher, and soybeans finished 2 to 3 cents a bushel lower.

Soybeans suffered a sharp setback Wednesday after recent advances pushed prices up 10 cents or more a bushel. The decline continued Thursday and Friday.

Forecasts that gave promise of favorable weather for completing the soybean harvest was the principal factor in the downturn.

Soybeans have been the most active commodity on the Board of Trade for some time. As a result of Wednesday's trade there was an increase of 1,902,000 bushels in the number of open futures contracts, making a total open interest of 130,726,000 contracts, an all-time high for beans.

In wheat, some soft flour business developed during the week but the volume was disappointing. However, Agriculture Department purchases of flour for Europ...n and domestic relief purposes were large and more takings of this type are looked for next week.

Factors contributing to lower prices for corn futures included a government estimate which placed this year's corn crop at a record breaking total of nearly 4 ½ billion bushels.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Glowing hopes that the steel strike might be settled within days rescued the stock market from a decline this week and put it substantially ahead on average.

It was the third straight week that the market had been dominated by alternate hopes and fears concerning settlement of the longest steel strike in the nation's history.

"Investors and traders focused as much attention on the news ticker as on the stock ticker," said one broker.

The shoe was beginning to pinch on the national economy. Because of the steel shortage, General Motors, the world's largest automotive producer, boosted its total layoffs to 60,000 employes and contemplated the possibility of ending car production by Nov. 1.

The week had an inauspicious start, making a small gain in the dull Monday session when only 1,750,000 shares were traded, the smallest since February 1958.

As the effects of the steel strike became more depressing, the market slid off on Tuesday and underwent a fairly sharp setback on Wednesday.

The rally of Thursday and Friday was triggered by word from the government's chief fact finder that the steel strike might be ended without use of a Taft-Hartley injunction. News of the union offer buoyed stocks greatly on Friday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $2.50 to $224.90.

Mainly because of the Monday session, the week's volume declined to 11,543,106 shares from 11,862,845 the previous week.

Bond trading on the Big Board declined to $25,323,000 par value from $27,520,000 the previous week and $33,025,000 a year ago.

Morgan Couples Observe 40th Wedding Dates

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Brockhouse and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Daly celebrated their 40th wedding anniversaries on October 9 with a turkey dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daly.

The two couples were married at noon October 9, 1919. Mrs. Brockhouse is the former Claris Caywood of Arenzville and Mrs. Daly is the former Edna Brockhouse of Chapin. Mr. Brockhouse and Mrs. Daly are brother and sister.

INDONESIA GETS SUPPLIES FROM JAPAN

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has agreed to supply Indonesia 45 million dollars' worth of ships, shipyard equipment, and hotel construction material under war reparations and loans. The deal is part of the 223 million dollars decided upon last January as reparations Japan would pay over a 12-year period.

OXYGEN IN THE WINGS

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Oxygen will be waiting in the wings during the trio de ballet to be put on here this week by India's Ram Gopal, Hungary's Margit Muller, and the London Royal Ballet's Alexis Rassine. Whiffs of oxygen off stage are expected to reduce panting and puffing onstage in the more than mile-high atmosphere.

Employee Groups Near 100 Percent In United Fund

Under the chairmanship of Hugh Gibson, Jerry Wellenkamp and Harry Wegehoft, one hundred employee groups which employ 8 or more have a goal of $20,500 in the United Fund campaign. To date, audited reports show $19,208 for this section of the campaign.

It is believed that when complete reports are in from all employee section workers that this group will be "over the top."

Reports show the overall Morgan County United Fund campaign to be 95% toward the $80,000 goal. Each section is working the follow-up prospects in their area.

Groups that have reached 100% or more of their goal are: Jacksonville Post Office, 278%; School Bus Drivers, 170%; Production Press, 145%; Kordite, 130%; Hugh Gibson Building Contractor, Inc., 127%; John Ellis Chevrolet, 126%; Illinois Public Aid, 123%; McCurdy Ford Sales, Inc., 122%; Caldwell Engineering, 116%; North Jacksonville Foods, 115%; Norbury Sanatorium, 114%; Lynnville School, 113%; Anderson Clayton Foods, Elliott State Bank and Illinois Road Contractors, 108%.

Klump Tire Company, 105%; Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School and Sears Motor Repair Shop, 102%; Capps Office employees, Eli Bridge Co., Herrin Advertising Co., Hertzberg-New Method Bindery, Illinois Steel Bridge Co., The Kroger Co., Salem Lutheran School, Jefferson School, Jacksonville Supply Co., and Olson Cleaners, 100%.

The United Fund Work Day idea has spread this year. Groups who took part averaged more than $20 per employee. They were: Voelkel Glass Co., Allan Cradock Company, Hugh Gibson Building Contractors, Tom Crabtree Plumbing Co., Charles Gano Electric, Joe Doyle Plumbing and Earl Walters Plumbing.

Scouts Destined To Play Vital Role, Leader Says

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—The man who will soon be guiding the activities of the Boy Scouts of America believes his organization is destined to play a vital role in the world's future.

"The next quarter century can see the dawn either of another golden age for humanity, or of another dark age," said Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief executive-elect of the BSA. "It all depends on how well we train our boys to understand what America means, to be willing to stand firm behind our ideals in the face of threats and to work for peace based on principle."

Brunton was elected Thursday night to become the new chief executive of the scout movement in the United States. He will become director of the group of five million men and boys in August 1960 after the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs, Colo., succeeding Dr. Arthur A. Shuck.

Brunton, a tall, vigorous, well-built man, has spent more than half of his 55 years in scouting.

He started as a scout and later became a volunteer worker.

In the early 1930s when he was a prospering partner in a Pittsburgh investment firm, the local scout council, asked Brunton to help out temporarily on organizing scout camps in western Pennsylvania.

He has been a full-time scout executive ever since.

Brunton outlined the task that faces him as follows:

"We've got to teach the kids to be articulate and to understand what Americans believe. They've got to stop taking things like religion and liberty for granted.

"The Boy Scouts of America will have to call on all the decent and constructive forces in America to work with our youths—to give them once again the feeling for America's mission in the world."

W. GERMANS RECHRISTL WARSHIPS

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German Socialist party urges the government to rechristen warships whose names may offend NATO allies because of their Nazi associations. It cited objections from the mayor of Brest, France, to a forthcoming visit of the frigate Scharnhorst, namesake of a Nazi battleship berthed at Brest in World War II. The party suggested new names such as Ernst Reuter, the late anti-Nazi mayor of Berlin.

NORWAY REORGANIZES AIR DEFENSES

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Complete reorganization of Norway's air defenses, with ground-to-air Hawk missiles supplementing Nike and Sidewinder missiles, was proposed to Parliament Saturday in a government-sponsored bill. The measure calls for eliminating 480 Army antiaircraft jobs, Air Force control of the remaining antiaircraft units, and replacement of some F84 jet fighters, probably with all-weather Starfighter F104's.

AMVETS POST 100 ELECTS OFFICERS

Both state officers acted as installing officers for Amvets Post 100 and Auxiliary at the joint installation of officers Saturday evening at the local club rooms.

The evening ceremonies followed a dinner at 6:30 p.m. A dance from 9 to midnight concluded the entertainment at the club.

Dr. Fred Hoskins, IC Board Chairman, Addresses Faculty

The Board of Trustees of Illinois College entertained the college faculty at a dinner Friday evening in the Congregational Church. Dr. Fred Hoskins, Chairman of the Board of Trustees and Co-President of the United Church of Christ, presided. An annual affair, the dinner served as an opportunity for introduction of new trustees and new faculty members together with an occasion for increasing the understanding between the two groups upon whom the continued life of the college depends.

Dr. Hoskins presented to the assemblage the new alumni trustee, Mr. H. Clay Tate, Editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph.

President L. Vernon Caine in turn introduced new members of the faculty: Mrs. Edeltrud Miller (French), Miss May Alice Smith (Biology), Mrs. Glenn Blackwood and Dr. Vidyapati Singh (Economics), Mr. Darrell Reagan (Speech and Dramatics), and Mr. Richard Black (Art).

Occasional Changes Needed

Dr. Caine, stating that he had ample opportunity on other occasions to speak to this group, presented only one idea before them for their consideration. The idea was that occasional change and adjustment may be desirable in order to insure both success of purpose and survival.

"A college," he said, "should be aware of the times in which it lives and the probable future for which it prepares a student."

"Oftentimes," he continued, "the institution will find a reason for changing its method of operation, its manner of teaching, the size of its student body, the facilities within which the student is taught, and its curriculum."

Such changes, of course, should be based upon careful study and decision, and this study out of necessity must be a continuing thing.

Noting that Illinois College now is one of the older institutions of higher education in the United States, President Caine stated that its continued existence for almost a century and half has depended upon its awareness of change and willingness to change. However, he believed that all of these changes as needed may take place within the continuing context of the initial purpose of the school, that of a Christian liberal arts college.

Women and Illinois College

Dr. Ethel Seybold in one of the featured addresses of the evening spoke on the subject, "Women and Illinois College," discussing the origins and development of the higher education of women in Jacksonville. Dr. Seybold also gave recognition to the several women associated with movement in a non-teaching capacity.

Concluding her remarks, Miss Seybold stated that in effect Illinois College had been associated in an unofficial system of coordinate education with Jacksonville Female Academy for 70 years before the beginning of co-education at Illinois College in 1903 with the merger of the two institutions.

Higher Education in India

"Higher Education in India" was the topic of a talk by Dr. Singh. Describing the structure of higher education in India. Dr. Singh touched upon the relationships of education and the state, colleges and universities, and secondary education and higher education. One of the interesting highlights was the fact that the University of Calcutta is the largest institution of higher learning in the world, enrolling 90,000 students.

Education and Religion

Dr. Hoskins in his concluding remarks for the evening, referred to the text of Chancellor Kimpton in dedicating a building at the University of Chicago on Thursday morning. Chancellor Kimpton had used the question asked by Tertullian, "What does Athens have to do with Jerusalem?"

Asking the question himself, Dr. Hoskins used several references in his recent experiences stressing the importance of the relationship of education and religion. Strongly declaring the urgency of the need for attention to the character and moral standards of the people within our civilization, he emphasized that at no time in history has the need been so critical.

The importance of his remarks he underlined with the belief of the Strategic Air Command that our margin of safety in the Free World may be as great as 15 minutes at any given moment. At the same time, authorities studying the moral and character side of our civilization point to the alarming growth of a generation of "beatniks" and "angry young men" with seemingly few standards of morality. We are threatened from without with possible destruction and threatened from within at the same time with the possibility of moral degeneration and eventual destruction. Our civilization should be increasingly concerned with the question of "What does Athens have to do with Jerusalem?"

Dr. Hoskins challenged his listeners to not only consideration of this question but also decision and action upon their answers.

Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y Held In City

The Tri-Hi-Y Hi-Y district conference was held Saturday in Jacksonville at the YMCA and at the Grace Methodist church. The officers for last year who planned the meeting are president, John Glenhill, Danville; vice-president, Benny Isselhardt, Edwardsville; Chaplain, Carol Kastelic, Granite City; secretary, Virginia Gronseth, Jacksonville; treasurer, Kenneth Nass, Springfield. They were advised and assisted by Mr. Fisher, who is the General Secretary of the Central Illinois District.

After a talk by Mr. Jack Curtis, "Your References, Please!" which dealt with the moral and ethical values and actions of the adolescent today, guided discussion groups were held. These groups were led by adults from Jacksonville and other towns in the district.

Special thanks is due to Robert Blazier, Mrs. E. G. Pigott, Mrs. Lawrence Crawford, Rev. Harvey Dibrell, Rev. Clyde Steckel, Mr. Oliver Buck, Robert Manlove, David Diven, Don Drake, Ron Cameron, Dan Surep, Richard Hughes, Richard Delano, and Pat Mega.

AMNESTY OFFER

SINGAPORE (AP) — The government Saturday offered amnesty to Singapore's 10,000 Chinese secret society gangsters if they come forward and confess their crimes by Nov. 3. After that date, police will restrict the gangster's movements, keep them under surveillance and jail them for suspicious actions.

Daley Charges Stratton Delayed Superhighway

CHICAGO (AP)—Mayor Daley today charged Gov. Stratton's state administration with a slowdown on construction of superhighway links for Chicago.

Daley's remarks to newsmen kept alive a four-day long-range exchange in which the officials have criticized each other's actions.

Stratton, a Republican, ruffled Daley, a Democrat, by asserting that the Chicago mayor exercise one-man control over the Chicago Municipal Court.

Stratton came back with the assertion that Chicago gets a lot of budget allocations.

Saturday, Daley said that state and federal officials have shown "no sense of urgency or emergency" about Chicago's traffic problems.

"The governor has the answer," Daley said. "He can take the steps needed to speed up construction."

Robert Oxtoby Elected To IC Board Of Trustees

At the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Illinois College, Dr. Fred Hoskins, chairman of the board and co-president of the United Church of Christ, announced the election of Mr. Robert Oxtoby as a trustee of Illinois College, Mr. Oxtoby, a partner of the law firm of Van Meter and Oxtoby of Springfield, has served the college as an alumni trustee from June, 1956 until June 1959. An alumnus of Illinois College, Mr. Oxtoby received his B.A. degree from Carlton College and his law degree from Northwestern University. He is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Oxtoby. Dr. Oxtoby was Scarborough Professor of Philosophy and Religion at Illinois College, 1926 to 1941.

The Board of Trustees also accepted the resignations of two trustees with lengthy service.

Mr. Harry J. Dunbaugh, senior member of the law firm of Isham, Lincoln and Beale of Chicago, resigned after 37 years as a college trustee. He served as chairman of the board for 17 years during the period 1938 to 1955. Mr. Dunbaugh first served as an alumni trustee from 1913 to 1923 and then was elected as a regular trustee in June of 1932.

Mr. Forest D. Siefkin, retired vice president of the International Harvester Company, served as an alumni trustee from 1942 to 1945 and was elected as a regular trustee on December 13, 1947.

Both men, upon their resignation on October 17, 1959, were elected to the status of Trustee Emeritus. A Trustee Emeritus has all the rights and privileges of a regular member of the Board of Trustees but does not vote. He may attend the meetings of the board if he so chooses. Successors for Mr. Dunbaugh and Mr. Siefkin will be chosen at a later meeting.

Recent elections to the Board of Trustees included Mr. Charles H. Lanphier, president of Sangamo Electric Company of Springfield, Ill., and Mr. H. Clay Tate, editor of The Daily Pantagraph of Bloomington. Both men were elected at the June meeting.

Terms of the compromise which the union put forward Friday have not been made public. But it is reported to call for wage-benefit increases of about 21 cents an hour over a two-year period —about one-third less than the union had been demanding until then.

At the session scheduled for Sunday morning, the three-member board of inquiry headed by Dr. George W. Taylor intends to question both sides on their position and the issues which since mid-July have kept 500,000 steel workers from their jobs in plants producing 87 per cent of the nation's steel.

When asked in what respect the new industry offer was worse than the companies' earlier proposal, McDonald replied: "I think in all respects."

But he seemed to stress, as the union's major objection, the companies' continued demand for revision of work rules.

The negotiators faced a deadline less than 48 hours away. The fact-finding board is due to report to Eisenhower on the situation Monday morning.

Under national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, Eisenhower then may apply for a court injunction to halt the strike for an 80-day period. There was little doubt that Eisenhower would do so if a peaceful settlement did not come in the meantime.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, in Pittsburgh for a speech, told newsmen there Eisenhower can be expected to make "a decision of action" if there is no settlement this weekend.

Mitchell said, however, he thinks a settlement can be achieved because the issues in the long dispute are now clearly known.

CHARGE SOVIETS SEIZED U.S. ATTACHE

had never seen before. The man used a chemical solution on the pages of the notebook to develop supposedly concealed writing and then identified the writing as referring to Soviet state secrets."

This man was said to have accused Langelle of engaging in espionage against the Soviet Union.

The five men—described by the State Department as "unidentified Soviet authorities"—then began to question Langelle about his duties in the embassy.

"When Langelle refused to enter into any conversation with them, they began to threaten him," the note said. "They asserted that Mr. Langelle's diplomatic immunity had been revoked and that he therefore was subject to imprisonment. They threatened him with physical violence."

The note said the men also made a veiled threat against Langelle's wife, the former Miriam McCleery, and their three children, Linda, 7, David Pierce, 5, and Mary, 2.

"When Mr. Langelle continued to refuse to enter into conversation, the men then sought at length to enlist his cooperation in undertaking intelligence activities on behalf of the Soviet Union against the United States and promised him monetary reward," the note said.

The five "Soviet authorities" held Langelle altogether for an hour and 45 minutes. They then drove him back to Vostaniya Square and released him.

He went to the embassy and reported. Freers immediately made his protest.

As security officer, Langelle had charge of the detail of U.S. Marine guards as well as of building and personnel security.

He was responsible for assuring the safety of embassy files and of such things as guarding against possible wire taps and hidden listening devices.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Langelle lists his home as Long Beach, Calif. He has been assigned to the Moscow embassy since January 1958. Before that he was stationed at the embassy in Vienna for a little more than a year. He is a foreign service officer and had the official embassy designation of attache.

The State Department did not disclose detailed information on the nature of the threats made against the 37-year-old Langelle and his family. But officials said they were convinced that they were part of a plan, which also included allegedly trumped-up spy charges, to make Langelle betray his position of trust in the embassy and become a spy.

Illinois Captures Third Straight In 14-6 Win Over Gophers

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

CHICAGO—(NEA)—After the Wisconsin-Michigan State basketball game in East Lansing last winter, Duffy Daugherty was talking with Dale Hackbart.

"How would you like to play in the East-West Shrine Game in San Francisco next December?" asked Daugherty, who will coach the East squad.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Daugherty," replied young Hackbart, "but we'll be playing in the Rose Bowl then and I won't be available."

Before Wisconsin's big football game at Purdue, they said Hackbart would be the difference. They say the same thing every time the Badgers square off in a toughie, and this has been going on for three campaigns.

Hackbart, a 6-5, 234-pound quarterback who does everything well, has professional scouts drooling. He quite definitely is the type, probably will be the pros' number one draft choice.

Handling Milt Bruhn's complicated belly series, Hackbart maneuvers like a ballet dancer. This enabled him to be Wisconsin's second best rusher in his sophomore and junior years. His passing arm has improved with Big Ten experience, and he was rated one of the finest high school pitchers in years.

"His competitive sharpness is the finest I've ever seen," says Coach Bruhn. "He wants to win, but also wants to do the job well. He makes certain he is helping all the time. Deside makes him a great defensive player. He's always thinking, giving the defensive backs instructions, keeping them alert by pointing out play situations."

Hackbart became the first Wisconsin athlete in 22 years to win a letter in three sports in one school year.

The basketball squad lacked height last season and when it had won only two of 12 games at the semester, Hackbart asked Bud Foster if he couldn't help. He made the traveling squad, even paced the Badger scorers while batting for rebounds in a losing game against Minnesota. Playing left field in baseball, he led the Big Ten in triples, stolen bases and runs, batting .273.

• • •

Hackbart is home-grown, having matriculated from Madison East High, where he was so much on the slow side and awkward that his teammates called Satch. The main reason for his prep school clumsiness was rapid growth. He shot up six inches between his freshman and sophomore years.

Only Jerry Witt, Lisle Blackbourn, Pat Harder and Alan Ameche scored more points than Hackbart in Wisconsin history, and Dale is schooling his successor while contributing so generously. The sophomore behind him is Jim Bakken, 5-11 and 197, from Madison West High. They competed against each other in high school.

Dale Hackbart is married and the father of a baby daughter.

He needs the pros as badly as they want him.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A guard, senior Bill Burrell, today was Illinois homecoming hero—making 16 tackles, recovering a fumble and stealing a pass in a 14-6 triumph over Minnesota.

Burrell, 207-pound Illini captain from Chebanese, Ill., captured a mid-field fumble by Jerry Johnson in the second quarter to start his team's first scoring drive.

In five plays, not counting a 15 yard penalty setback, the Illini went across. Ethan Blackaby, second string sophomore from Canton, zig zagged the final 19 yards of the thrust which was fired by the running of Dejustice Coleman and his 23-yard pass catch from Mel Meyers.

Jerry Wood boosted the point that appeared would hold up for the decisive factor in Illinois third straight victory and second in Big Ten play after an opening loss to Indiana. But the Illini scored again in the final second of the game when gambling Minnesota was forced to relinquish the ball on downs on its own 21.

Fullback Jim Brown rounded end to the 6 and eventually scampered the opposite end from the 3 to score. Wood again converted.

Burrell's interception was one of five the Illini grabbed in Minnesota's somewhat futile aerial attack, an offensive that kept the crowd of 57,485 students and old grads gasping, however. Four of the five steals were on pitches by Gopher Sophomore Sandy Stephens.

A fumble by Johnny Counts and Tom Brown's recovery for Minnesota on the Illini 25 set up the Gopher's only touchdown in the fourth period. Stephens capped it on a sneak of half a foot.

Judge Dickson attempted the place kick, which would have tied the score. Dickson got off the kick, but was hurried and it strayed wide of the uprights. Burrell was one of the first of the Illini who broke through.

Stephens fired the ball seven times without a completion in the first quarter and two of his tosses were interecepted. His first completion on this windy day was good for 23 yards to Dickson midway in the second quarter as the Gophers moved to the Illinoi 15. Dickson's field goal attempt was blocked by Jim Brown to end the threat.

Minnesota hit only on seven of 29 passes for 97 yards and gained 82 yards on the ground 51 of those by Dickson in 12 rushes.

Illinois tried only five passes, making good on two for 27 yards, and gained 121 yards running. Counts made 44 of them for a 7.3 average.

Illinois, Penn State Clash For Second Time Saturday At Cleveland

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Saturday's Illinois-Penn State football battle at Cleveland will be only the second in history between the two schools. Few games have held more disappointment for Illini followers than the first game in 1954 when the underdog Nittany Lions gave Illinois a 14-12 setback.

An opening-day crowd of 54,094 in Illinois' Memorial Stadium watched the heavily-favored Illini score first, with the game only four minutes old, when quarterback Em Lindbeck flipped a screen pass to sophomore Abe Woodson, who ran 28 yards for a touchdown. The extra point try was no good, but Illinois still led 6-0.

Penn State first tallied when their huge end, Jesse Arnelle, recovered an Illinois fumble on the Illinois 28-yard line. Three plays later, quarterback Don Bailey passed to Arnelle on the goal line to tie the score 6-6. A successful extra point attempt made it 7-6.

Late in the second period, the Lions' Bailey again hurt the Illini by picking up 50 yards on an option play and moving the ball to the Illinois 24. Two plays later, Bailey ran to the 10 on another option play, then lateralled to fleet halfback Lenny Moore who zigzagged over for a touchdown. The conversion was good, and Coach Rip Engle's team led 14-6 at the half.

The Illini regained their offensive touch at beginning of the second half, scoring in just ten plays after the kick off. Runs of 23, 9, and 14 yards by J. C. Caroline, a 32-yard Lindbeck to Charley Butler pass, and a 17-yard weaving run by Abe Woodson were principal gainers in Illinois' scoring drive. The extra point try hit the crossbar and bounced back onto the field. There were no more touchdowns in the game.

The Lions outdid the Illini in statistics as well as score, registering 16 first downs to Illinois' 14, and gaining 331 yards to Illinois' 232.

Spartans Surprise Notre Dame, 19-0

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Dean Look, a late blooming quarterback, revived a fumbling Michigan State football team Saturday for a 19-0 triumph over Notre Dame before 73,480 in Spartan Stadium and a national television audience.

Look set up the first score with a 41-yard gallop and fired a 52-yard pass for the other touchdown.

This was the day that Look, a former halfback, proved himself as a capable Big Ten quarterback.

It took every ounce of Look's quarterbacking skill and 60 minutes of unyielding Spartans' defense to offset nine fumbles. Five times Notre Dame recovered, but the Spartan defense was invincible.

Only once was Notre Dame, a one-touchdown favorite, able to penetrate inside the Michigan State 20. The Irish drove from their own 40 to the State 20 before fullback Garguilo gained 18 yards on a pitchout.

The Irish had four cracks at the Massive Michigan State line. Garcullo hammering into the middle three times and quarterback George Izo trying a fourth-down sneak.

The Spartans threw back Notre Dame's best threat and played ball control the rest of the way for their seventh victory in the last eight meetings with the Fighting Irish.

FINE QUEEN $140

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—They fined the queen Saturday.

The Jockey Club, ruling body of horse racing in England, levied an automatic fine of $140 against Queen Elizabeth because one of her thoroughbreds was withdrawn from Saturday's champion stakes.

Capt. Cecil Boyd-Rochfort, the Queen's trainer, and Royal Manager Charles Moore decided the race might prove too tough for Above Suspicion and upset racing plans for next year. Prince Aly Khan's Petite Etoile was the winner.

It is the first time in three centuries that a reigning British monarch has run afoul of the law—any law.

Report Buffalo Ready To Operate In New Pro Loop

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Evening News Saturday said a minority stockholder in a National Football League club will operate a club here next season in the proposed American Football League.

The newspaper said Ralph C. Wilson Jr., who holds a minor interest in the Detroit Lions of the NFL, has purchased the Buffalo franchise for $25,000 and has posted a $100,000 performance bond with the AFL.

Wilson, in New York City, was not immediately available for comment.

The reported action by Wilson, a Detroit trucking and insurance executive, followed by a day a report that Buffalo was among cities in the running for a franchise in NFL expansion plans.

The AFL is to meet in New York Oct. 26 to select two cites to fill out its proposed eight-team line up. The six charter member cities are Dallas, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, Minneapolis-St. Paul and New York.

Buffalo, San Francisco, Kansas City, St. Louis, Miami, Louisville and Cincinnati had been mentioned as being under consideration by the AFL.

Auburn Rallies To Halt Tech, 7-6

By MERCER BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Auburn rallied with a 71-yard march right through Georgia Tech's middle Saturday and Ed Dyas kicked the point that slammed Tech from the unbeaten football ranks 7-6.

Tech struck first, gobbling up a fumble and moving 18 yards to a touchdown in four plays. Then Tommy wells missed his first conversion of the season and that prevented a repeat of last year's 7-7 tie.

In the fourth quarter, while the rain-drenched capacity crowd of 44,174 held its breath, Wells tried two field goals but the first was short and the second off line to the left.

Auburn's line took charge with a vengeance after halftime. Ken Rice, a 250-pound terror at tackle, led the charge that opened the holes. Halfback Lamar Rawson, fullback Dyas and quarterback Bobby Hunt slashed through repeatedly until Hunt raced over from the six.

Dyas, who earlier this season missed two of the three conversions he attempted, calmly booted the ball true.

The loss virtually killed Tech's chances at the Southeastern Conference title and cost the Yellow Jackets their No. 4 national ranking. The victory should see Auburn improve on its No. 11 rating.

A John Kern fumble recovered by Tech tackle Billy Shaw handed Tech its scoring opportunity only 18 yards from the end zone. Quarterback Fred Braselton passed to Chick Granning at the 11. After Rice threw fullback Taz Anderson for a two-yard loss, Granning churned 13 yards to the one and Braselton sneaked it over.

THREE NEW COACHES

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Former hockey star Aubrey (Dit) Clapper is one of the three new coaches in the American Hockey League this season. He has replaced Boggy Kirk, who retired because of illness, as coach of Buffalo. Pat Egan is the new coach at Springfield, Mass., and Jack Toupin has the reins at Quebec.

Coaches back with the same teams are Jackie Gordan with Cleveland, Johnny Crawford with Providence, Steve Kraftcheck with Rochester and Frank Mathers with Hershey, Pa.

BROSCH WINS AGAIN

Griffith Advised To Move Club To Minneapolis

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, Saturday was advised by his lawyer to move the ball club to Minneapolis if he intends to stay in baseball.

The recommendation came from his attorney, C. Leo DePorsey. It could be the prelude to a decision by Griffith to seek American League permission to shift the franchise which has been in Washington since 1901.

Griffith has said he would be strongly influenced by his attorney's appraisal of the proposition by which Minneapolis hopes to jump into major league baseball.

DePorsey, a former director of the club, estimated the offer from Minneapolis interests would net the Senators more than $430,000 a year. He said the club's operations last year resulted in a loss.

DePorsey submitted a series of proposals to Griffith, including one to buy control of the club himself. DePorsey said his offer would become effective after July 1, 1960, but would be less than what he called the "alleged" bid by former U.S. Sen. George Bender of Ohio.

Bender said last week he and a group he represents would be willing to put up as much as seven million dollars for the franchise and keep it in Washington.

DePorsey, who set no figure on his own offer, also recommended that Griffith accept Bender's deal if it is all cash and if the Griffith interests receive 75 per cent. Griffith and his family now control 52 per cent or more of outstanding shares.

MASKED GOALIE

Ohio State Grinds Out 15-0 Decision Over Boilermakers

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State returned to its "three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust" offense Saturday and ground out a 15-0 victory over Purdue's sixth-rated Boilermakers in a Big Ten contest before 83,391.

Coming back from two straight shutouts, the underdog Buckeyes discarded the flanker and other frilly formations they had used previously this year and stuck strictly with the split T. They scored one touchdown, a conversion, two field goals and a safety.

Their touchdown came on a 32-yard-run by substitute quarterback Tom Matte, climaxing a 12-play, 80-yard drive in the second period. Dave Kilgore booted a 36-yard field goal in the opening period and a 35-yarder with eight seconds to play. The safety came when Purdue's Jim Tiller was spilled in the end zone after taking a punt on the 16 and racing back in an attempt to escape Ohio tacklers.

Purdue piled up 207 yards rushing and 81 passing in a futile effort to score. Some great punting by Ohio's Jerry Fields kept the Boilermakers deep in their own territory, one punt stopping on the two-yard line, one on the four and two on the seven.

Purdue's biggest drive, an 88-yarder—came in the final period when the Boilermakers halted Ohio on the one-foot line and promptly marched to Ohio's 11 before losing the ball on downs.

Wisconsin Eliminates Iowa's Big 10 Hopes, 25-16

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin rocked Iowa with bruising football tactics, cashing in on two fumble recoveries for touchdowns and romped to a 25-16 victory Saturday.

Wisconsin marched downfield to set up a 25-yard field goal by Karl Holzwarth the first time the Badgers had possession, then added a pair of touchdowns in the second period and another after the intermission before Iowa managed to muster an attack on the passing of Olen Treadway.

The Iowa quarterback set a Western Conference record by completing 26 passes for 304 yards. All but six of Treadway's aerials were in the second half.

Wisconsin's Ron Perkins pounced on a loose ball on the Iowa 27 early in the second quarter and three plays later Dale Hackbart sneaked a yard into the end zone.

A few minutes later Perkins fell on another fumble at the Iowa 40 and Tom Wiesner capped a six-play touchdown drive by diving over right tackle.

Ed Hart scored the Badgers third and last touchdown in the third period.

Penn State Wins From Boston, 21-12

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Tenth-ranked Penn State needed all the talents of its brilliant quarterback, Richie Lucas, to stave off a fired-up Boston University football team, 21-12 Saturday.

Lucas, a leading All-America candidate, scored State's first touchdown on a 14-yard run, sneaked over for the second TD after his passes set it up, and directed a last-quarter scoring drive that put the game on ice.

A charged-up Boston U. line gave unbeaten State (5-0) all it could handle on defense. Quarterback Jackie Farland directed a BU offense that came within a two-point conversion of tying the score in the fourth period and changing the entire complexion of the game.

Blueboys Offense Outstanding Factor In Second Triumph

LISLE, Ill.—Harry Sweet and Jim Patton registered a pair of touchdowns apiece to lead Joe Brooks' IC Blueboys to a 32-6 victory over St. Procopius here Saturday before 2,000 cheering homecoming fans.

The Blueboys were playing on their first dry field in four games and this played a key role in their offensive attack. The ground game was greatly improved as the IC backs had a field day in rushing. They amassed 290 yards on the ground and 86 through the air compared to St. Procopius' 56 yards on the ground and 6 yards via the aerial route.

Brooks was handicapped by the NCAA rules in his platooning system but he got every Blueboy into the lineup eventually and St. Procopius just couldn't match strength.

Bobby Volk played an outstanding game on defense and had a pair of pass interceptions to his credit.

The victory was Illinois College's second against a single loss and two ties.

The Blueboys played without the services of tackle Charles Sheppard, who is lost for the year with a broken index finger, and Dick Hembrough, who was ailing with a bad back.

Harry Sweet scored the first IC tally on a two-yard run in the first quarter. Jim Patton scored in the second period from the one and Tom Phillips ran for two points on the point after touchdown. An 11 yard pass from Volk to Ed Puck accounted for the third Blueboy touchdown.

St. Procopius completed its only pass of the game in the second quarter and it was good for a touchdown from the six yard line. A 15 yard penalty against IC paved the way for the score.

Harry Sweet countered again in the third quarter on a 13 yard run and Patton hit paydirt from the two in the final stanza.

Wildcats Narrowly Miss Same Fate That Overtook 3 Top Clubs

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Northwestern's Cinderella kids, once the whipping boys of the Big Ten, staggered to a 20-7 victory over Michigan Saturday and narrowly missed the same fate that overtook three of the other top teams in the country.

Georgia Tech, fourth-rated team in the current Associated Press poll, was nipped by Auburn, 7-6; Purdue, No. 6, fell before Ohio State, 15-0, and Iowa, No. 9, was clobbered by Wisconsin, 25-16. The Air Force Academy also had its 16 - game unbeaten streak shattered by Oregon, 20-3. Oregon continues unbeaten.

Louisiana State, No. 1, was involved in a night game with Kentucky, and Texas, No. 3, played Arkansas under the lights.

Second - ranked Northwestern, which fumbled six times, needed a pair of sensational touchdown drives and two goal-line stands to ward off the Wolverines.

But Mississippi, one of the powerhouses of the tough Southeastern Conference, crushed Tulane, 53-7, and two Eastern titans — Syracuse and Penn State—recorded victories. Syracuse clubbed Holy Cross, 42-6, and Penn State downed Boston College, 21-12. Mississippi is No. 5, Syracuse No. 8 and Penn State No. 10 in the AP poll.

Syracuse Routs Holy Cross, 42-6

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Undefeated Syracuse recouped from an opening mistake Saturday, took to the air and bounced Holy Cross from the unbeaten ranks, 42-6.

Four of Syracuse's six touchdowns came on passes as the nation's eighth-ranked team added a neat aerial twist to its usual crunching ground game and recorded victory No. 4 despite a steady rain.

Holy Cross gave the crowd of 30,000 a thrill when halfback Dick Skinner picked off a Syracuse pitchout and raced 55 yards to give the Crusaders a 6-0 lead in the first three minutes.

But Syracuse grabbed a 7-6 lead late in the quarter on a 24-yard pass from quarterback Dave Sarette to end Fred Mautino and exploded for three more scores in a big second period.

After the opening sally, the undermanned Crusaders were bottled deep in their own territory most of the time by the crashing Orange line. They wound up with a minus - 28 yard rushing.

PASCUAL STANDS OUT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the Senators finished last in the American League, pitcher Camilo Pascual was a standout. His 184 strikeouts were the most for a Washington pitcher in 42 years. In 1917 Walter Johnson fanned 188 American League batters. Pascual won 17 games, third top figure in his league.

Southern Cal Triumphs, 22-15

SEATTLE (AP) — Stung by a sour turn of fortune in the final period, powerful Southern California smashed 80 yards in nine plays to pull out a 22-15 football victory Saturday over the Washington Huskies.

Still it took a pass interception by center Dave Morgan on the game's final play to salvage the triumph for SC.

Pounding at Washington's line, the Trojans had gained a 14-7 lead in the first half and the margin seemed safe until Washington punted early in the third period. The kick came down on SC's 20-yard line where Jerry Traynham and Lynn Gaskill both tried for the catch. The ball spurted away and Don Millich recovered for Washington.

Three plays later quarterback Bob Schloredt went five yards on a rollout for a touchdown and then duplicated the play for a two-point conversion.

The crowd of 52,000 was convinced the 15-14 Washington lead would stand up for the final 10 minutes. But not the Trojans. It took them four minutes to regain control and the biggest chunk of that 80-yard drive was a 42-yard end run contribution by Traynham.

COLLISION NEAR JEWETT KILLS TWO, INJURES FOUR

JEWETT, Ill. (AP) — Two persons were killed and four injured in the headon collision of two cars near Jewett in central Illinois Saturday.

The victims were Charles A. McCarthy, 63, of Washington, D. C., one of the drivers, and an unidentified woman in his car.

The injured were taken to St. Anthony Memorial Hospital in Effingham, 18 miles west of the accident scene. They are Henry C. Poindexter, 48, of Indianapolis, Ind., the other driver, and two other unidentified women who were in the McCarthy auto.

The accident occurred on U. S. 40.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—Dean Puyear scored two touchdowns and Dave Babcock made two others Saturday to set the pace in Illinois Normal's 30-6 victory over Wartburg of Waverly, Iowa.

Puyear, a halfback, scored on a 39-yard pass from quarterback Wayne Meece in the first period and on a 2 - yard plunge in the third quarter and two yards for another in the third.

Mike Tehan kicked a 30 - yard field goal for Normal in the third quarter.

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)— Halfback Clarence Walker raced 23 yards for the only touchdown of the game Saturday to give Southern Illinois a 7-0 football decision over Eastern Illinois before a homecoming crowd of about 13,000.

Eastern threatened several times, penetrating as far as the Salukis' one-foot line in the third.

Wheaton started the scoring when Branda ran 13 yards in the opening period. But Fred Mattes of Carroll scored on a 21-yard sprint with a recovered fumble in the same quarter.

Wheaton came back with two touchdowns by Don Brock, one on a 12-yard run and the other on a 52-yard pass from Bob Simpson.

A pass from Ron Jensen to Ken Hill, good for 6 yards, brought Carroll back into competition in the second quarter. Carroll took a temporary lead in the third quarter on a 9-yard pass from John Davis to Hill and the third successful PAT kick by John Mesching.

Wheaton moved out in front in the fourth period on a 7-yard pass from Bob Simpson to Dick Foushee. Carroll took a one-point lead later on Jon Rechner's 4 - yard plunge.

Then Wheaton ended the free-for-all with the Iha-Branda pass.

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — North Central scored on a six-yard pass play with 20 seconds remaining to play Saturday to defeat Millikin, 12-6, in College Conference of Illinois football game.

The game winning pass went from Bill Melsheimer to John Turpin.

Millikin held a 6-0 halftime lead on a five-yard touchdown run by Ken Hartrich, but North Central tied the game in the third quarter on a 46-yard pass from Don Long to Jack Nothacker.

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — Halfback Bill Boyd scored 20 points Saturday in leading Knox College to a 28-20 victory over Monmouth in a Midwest Conference football game.

Boyd ripped off scoring runs of 23, 9 and 1 yards and also ran for two extra points. The victory was the second in five conference games for Knox. Monmouth is now 1-4 in league play.

ELMHURST, Ill. (AP) — Illinois Wesleyan rolled to an easy 39-0 win over hapless Elmhurst in a College Conference of Illinois Homecoming football game at Elmhurst Saturday.

It was Wesleyan's third straight conference victory without a loss. Elmhurst now has lost three CCI games this year and has not won a game in its last 19 starts.

Wesleyan scored twice in each of the first two quarters and added single touchdowns in each of the third and fourth quarters. Jim Parker had the longest scoring run of the day, 46 yards in the third period.

ELSAH, Ill. (AP) — Culver-Stockton took the ball away from Principia five times Saturday—twice on fumbles and three times on pass interceptions — and spoiled Principia's football homecoming 20-13.

The Canton, Mo., team scored early in the first quarter on a 30-yard pass play from John Sienhowski to Terry Hartigan and was never headed.

Dave Pilcher scored on a three-yard run in the second quarter and Bob Roberts on a one-yard plunge in the fourth period. George Toneff's placement after the last two TDs both were good.

Fullback Brook Banbury scored both Principia touchdowns, on one-yard plunges in the second and fourth quarters. Dave Kahn kicked the extra point after the second TD.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Augustana College scored a touchdown on the last play of the game on a 77-yard pass play and then made the extra point to defeat Lake Forest 27-26 Saturday in a College Conference of Illinois football game at Rock Island.

The game was a centennial Homecoming for Augustana. The win gave them a 2-1 conference record. Lake Forest is 1-2.

DE KALB, Ill. (AP)—Undefeated Western Illinois tumbled Northern Illinois from the ranks of the unbeaten Saturday, defeating Northern 18-13 in an Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference football game at De Kalb.

Wester piled up 207 yards rushing in winning its fifth game of the year and third in the IIAC. Fullback Larry Garron carried the ball 12 times, picking up 102 yards.

Northern now is 2-1 in the conference and 4-1 for the season. Western's quarterback Lew Flynn completed 16 out of 27 passes and the team made 181 yards passing during the game.

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Trailing 17-6 at the end of three periods, Bradley University came back to score two touchdowns to defeat Evansville College 20-17 Saturday.

Evansville's fullback Wally Shatkowski continued his scoring spree, accounting for 11 points on a touchdown, point after and a field goal. He has scored 55 of the team's 62 points this season.

It was the first loss for Evansville after four wins and Bradley's second win in six starts.

Residents Mark Centennial Of John Brown's Raid

HARPERS FERRY, W.Va. (AP)—A hundred years ago Saturday, a fiery-eyed man with a bushy, black beard led a band of fanatic followers to war against the United States. He felt it was the only way to ignite a mass revolt among slaves to gain their freedom.

John Brown seized the federal arsenal at this historic mountain crossroads and held it until regular troops arrived. Then he and half a dozen survivors from his band were captured with comparative ease.

Ten of his followers were killed in the skirmish, along with four townspeople and one U.S. Marine. John Brown and the six were hanged later for treason.

A little more than a year later, the War between the States began.

Saturday, residents of this historic town turned out in the dress of a century ago to become a part of a re-enactment of the famous raid.

Some of the natives did so almost begrudgingly, though they realized that the hundreds of visitors pouring into the town would make business boom. They don't cotton to the idea of making John Brown a hero.

"Just a damn fool," one said. "What'd he gain? Nothin'."

But most residents went along with the mayor and council to make it the biggest day Harpers Ferry has had in the hundred years.

Mary Garden Recovering At Home Of Sister

ABERDEEN Scotland (AP)—Mary Garden, for 40 years the operatic idol of Europe and America, rested in bed Saturday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Amie Bower, recovering from an accident which would have cost her life.

A gardner tending a neighbor's flower beds Thursday heard faint cries for help and found Miss Garden collapsed in the doorway of her home. Gas hissed from a nearby cooker. She apparently had been unable to light the gas or switch it off before it overcame her.

Saturday she sat up in bed at her sister's home, 20 miles from Aberdeen, and said: I'm feeling very much better."

But her sister said, 'She wants to get back to her own home in Aberdeen. She will stay with me for the weekend and go back on Monday night. I would like to have her stay longer, but she wants to go."

Flynn Rites Will Contrast Sharply With Life He Led

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Errol Flynn comes home Sunday to the town he captivated and shocked for nearly a quarter of a century.

The final hours of his Hollywood career will be in sharp contrast to the manner in which he lived.

His body will be in a closed coffin from the moment it arrives. The solid bronze casket in which he will be buried will remain closed during Episcopal funeral services and there will be no final procession past the bier.

Photographers, who captured Flynn in some of his wildest off-screen moments, will not be permitted in the Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, where services will be conducted Monday.

Forest Lawn Memorial Park, which is handling arrangements, said these are the wishes of Flynn's widow, actress Patrice Wymore.

A private interment will follow. The actor died Wednesday in Vancouver of a heart attack. He was 50.

Three of the women in his life —Miss Wymore, Nora Eddington, his second wife, and youthful Beverly Aadland, his 17-year-old protege who was with him when he died, will attend the funeral.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles Herald - Express said Saturday night Flynn had ignored Miss Aadland in his will. It quoted New York Atty. Justin Golenbock as saying Flynn left everything — reportedly several million dollars —to his four children by three different marriages. Golenbock, described as the actor's chief counsel, was also quoted as saying Flynn left a provision for his parents.

The will reportedly was drawn two years ago.

SHARKS INCREASE

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — The Virginia Fisheries Laboratory thinks a dry period, which increased salinity, followed by northeast winds was responsible for a marked increase in sharks in Chesapeake Bay this year.

It has advised swimmers to stay out of water where the sharks have been seen. No attacks on swimmers have occurred although many large sharks have been seen and captured.

DAUGHTER VS. DAD

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—There's a bit of family conflict when Auburn meets Georgia Tech in football. The former Carolyn Smith, now Mrs. Del Straub, is a former Auburn coed who now works in the athletic department at Auburn. Her father is a past president of the Georgia Tech Alumni Assn. in Birmingham.

Colts Ready To Begin Countdown To Title: Ewbank

By JIM KINSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

In pro football, a game of split ends and split seconds, timing means touchdowns, and Baltimore Coach Weeb Ewbank thinks his Colts are about ready to begin the countdown to another National League title.

Only some come-lately passing by Johnny Unitas has kept the Colts in contention during the first three weeks of the season. They rallied behind his arm for two victories over the Detroit Lions, but his three TD passes in the fourth quarter two weeks ago weren't enough to offset a 26-0 Chicago Bear lead.

The Colts and Bears meet again at Chicago Sunday and Ewbank says all his regulars are right for the first time this season. Unitas' price receivers, Ray Berry and Lenny Moore, have had ankle troubles. Ewbank said this has hurt the timing of the Colts' pass patterns. Ex-Colt George Shaw, now a New York quarterback, says Unitas has exactly 3.2 seconds to hit Moore and 3.5 seconds to reach Berry on the Colts' sideline pass plays.

The Colts are one-point favorites over the Bears. A Baltimore victory coupled with a Los Angeles victory over Green Bay, the Western Conference leader, could send the Colts into a tie for the division lead.

Green Bay (3-0) is the only unbeaten team in the NFL, but the Packers are still two-point underdogs to the Rams in their game at Milwaukee.

Elsewhere, the San Francisco 49ers (2-1) are at Detroit with the winless Lions favored by 2½.

The Eastern Conference lists Philadelphia at New York (both 2-1, Pittsburgh (1-2) at Washington (2-1) and the Chicago Cards at Cleveland (both 1-2). The Giants are favored by 6½ in their home opener. The Steelers - Skins are rated even, and the Browns get the nod by 5½ over the Cards.

Indiana Whips Nebraska, 23-7

By ODELL HANSON

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Indiana accepted a gift touchdown in the first 70 seconds of play Saturday, then rolled on to beat Nebraska 23-7 in a football contest.

Pat Fischer bobbled the opening kickoff and was smeared on his five yard line. On the first play from scrimmage the oval bounced into the air and Hoosier end Ron Miller pounded on it four yards from the goal line.

Indiana added a touchdown in the second quarter and swelled the margin by nine points on a safety, a touchdown and a conversion point in the third quarter. Sandwiched in were three field goal attempts which misfired.

Squelched on the ground, Nebraska resorted to aerials in the second quarter to make good a 90-yard drive.

A 25-yard sprint by Harry Tolly and a 24-yard gain on a pass from Fischer to Don Purcell made good by an interference penalty call highlighted the surge and Tolly threw a 19-yard pass to Carroll Zaruba for the touchdown.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Both the grass and dirt tracks at the Laurel race course have been rebuilt at a cost of one million dollars. The Washington International will be run over the new turf course on Nov. 11.

MAKING THE GRADE

CINCINNATI (AP) — Vada Pinson made it big in his first full season with Cincinnati's Reds. He led the team in hitting with .316, in stolen bases with 21, in hits with 205, in runs with 131, in doubles with 47 and in triples with nine. He played all 154 National League games.

Lewis, Lawless Provide Routt Offensive Spark

Routt's defensive unit yielded its first touchdown of the season in four games but the Rocket winged T offense more than made up for the lone six-pointer as Bob Winstead's eleven successfully capped a homecoming weekend Saturday night in a 33-6 run-away from Petersburg.

The running of scatbacks Denny Lewis and Jack Lawless set the Rocket offensive pattern as the pair reeled off plenty of yardage throughout the non - conference affair.

The middle of the line also deserves plenty of credit for containing Petersburg's running game. The Bluejays found Jack Carroll, Ray Cosgriff, George Trutter, Billy Tobin and Denny Lewis tough to move up the middle.

It took the Rockets seven plays to move 63 yards for their first score. The drive was capped on an 11-yard flea-flicker pass from QB Mickey Walker to end Billy Tobin to fullback Tom Shanle with 8:13 left in the first period. Lewis ran for the PAT.

Routt had another scoring opportunity minutes later but fumbled the chance on the Bluejay five. Denny Lewis got the scoring machine in gear following a Petersburg punt early in the second stanza. Lewis got 14 yards, Walker followed with an 11-yard pass to Tobin and Lewis plunged over from the one with 8:21 remaining before halftime. A Walker to Tobin pass accounted for the point after and a 14-0 lead.

A 28 yard punt return by Jack Lawless set up the third Rocket tally. The run moved the ball to the Petersburg 27 and on the next play Denny Lewis covered 26½ yards on a reverse to set up Walker's half-yard TD with 4:05 left. The Rockets took a 21-0 margin on Jack Lawless' plunge for the extra-point.

Petersburg got into Rocket territory only once in the first half and that came on a 15-yard infraction against Routt to put the ball on the 47. They lost yardage a play later and punted from their own 48. There were no further penetrations by either club in the closing minutes.

In the third chapter, Denny Lewis peeled off a 30 yard jaunt to pave the way for another scoring flea-flicker from Walker to Tobin to Shanle from 18 yards out with 2:06 remaining.

A Rocket miscue on a Petersburg punt set the stage for the first opposing TD scored by an opponent this season in the fourth quarter. The boot touched a Rocket and was claimed by Petersburg on the Routt 12 yard stripe. Five plays later, Mick Higgerson punched over on a QB sneak from the two to cap the short drive with 7:50 remaining in the homecoming contest. A run for the extra point failed and Routt led, 27-6.

The Rockets climaxed a 39 yard drive with 43 seconds left to play on a one-yard tally by Jack Lawless. A pass for the PAT was short and Routt commanded a 33-6 spread.

The victory was Routt's fourth straight without defeat and the loss was the fourth for Dick Garner's Bluejays in six games.

N'Western Stops Michigan, 20-7

By JERRY GREEN

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Sluggish Northwestern needed a pair of magnificent goal line stands and two sensational touchdown plays Saturday before turning back stubborn Michigan 20-7 and remaining unbeaten.

But until the dying moments Wolverines had 67,975 fans dreaming of an upset over the nation's No. 2 team.

The Wildcats stopped the desperate Wolverines twice in the last eight minutes when a Michigan touchdown could have meant victory. Once, after recovering one of Northwestern's six fumbles, the Wolverines drove to the one before yielding the ball.

Moments later, after the Wildcats punted out of danger, Michigan was on the Northwestern six. But Elbert Kimbrough broke through and dropped Wolverine Stan Noskin on the 13.

Just before the end of the first half, John Talley and Mark Johnston clicked on a 63-yard pass play that pushed the Wildcats ahead 14-7.

The butterfingered Wildcats gave Michigan three scoring chances in the opening minutes, but the Wolverines could cash in on only one of them for a short-lived 7-0 lead after they recovered the ball on a wild snapback from Northwestern center Larry Onesti at the six. Ken Tureaud smashed over on the next play.

Mississippi Rips Green Wave, 53-7

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP)—Bruising fullback Charlie Flowers shattered an outmanned Tulane line for three touchdowns Saturday in leading fifth-ranked Mississippi to a 53-7 Southeastern Conference victory.

The 198 - pound senior scored Mississippi's first two touchdowns on diving runs from one yard out as he operated behind a massive and mobile line.

Flowers added a third period touchdown and helped set up all of the early scores.

Tulane became the first team to crack the stout Rebel defenses for a touchdown this season despite the one-sided score.

The Green Wave recovered a fumble on the 47 on the first play of the game, but could not move. Mississippi fumbled on the second play of the next series and Bill Brabham recovered for Tulane on the Rebel five. A pass from quarterback Phil Nugent to halfback Jeff Bratton brought the touchdown and Howard Kisner kicked the conversion.

Other Mississippi touchdowns were by quarterback Bobby Franklin on an 11-yard run, halfback Cowboy Woodruff on a four-yard run, end Ralph Smith on a three-yard pass from quarterback Doug Elmore, and halfback Johnny Robinson on a 15-yard run.

Warfare Breaks Track Record In Champagne Stakes

NEW YORK (AP)—Warfare, a scrappy grey colt from California, out-fought Tompion in the stretch Saturday and broke the Aqueduct track record in the $230,300 Champagne Stakes.

Jockey Ismael Valenzuela steered Warfare to the wire one length ahead of Tompion, the 8-5 favorite of a crowd of 47,384 who may have been watching next year's Kentucky Derby winner show his heels to nine of the top 2-year-olds in the land.

He was sent off as second choice at 2-1.

Owned by the Bellehurst Stable of Clifton Jones, Warfare ran the mile in 1:35 1-5, clipping two-fifths of a second from the Aqueduct record set by the 7-year-old Admiral Vee Oct. 3.

C. V. Whitney's Tompion finished 5½ lengths ahead of the Edgehill Farm's Bally Ache.

New York Opens Home Schedule Against Eagles

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, a proud defensive team with a 49-21 defeat on its record, opens its National Football League home schedule Sunday with hostility overshadowing hospitality.

The Giants' opponents are the Philadelphia Eagles who humiliated the defending Eastern Division champions two weeks ago in Philly. The Giants are itching to get even and the odds say they'll do it by 6½ points.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, the Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Cardinals also get a chance to avenge early-season losses. The unbeaten Green Bay Packers shoot for their fourth victory, while the Detroit Lions hunt victory No. 1 after three losses.

The Giants, Eagles and Washington Redskins share the Eastern Division lead with 2-1 records, while the Colts and San Francisco 49ers (both 2-1) are a game off the Packers' pace in the West.

The Steelers are at Washington in a pick 'em game. The Colts invade the Bears and are favored by a point. The Chicago Cards are 5½ point underdogs to Cleveland.

The Packers play Los Angeles at Milwaukee, and the Rams are favored by two points—despite the Packers' showy record.

Dr. Louis W. Norris Resigns As President Of MacMurray College

Dr. Louis W. Norris Saturday resigned the presidency of MacMurray College to accept that of Albion College, Albion, Mich.

Dr. Norris, MacMurray's ninth president in 114 years, remains as head of the local college until June 30, 1960. He became MacMurray's president July 1, 1952.

In accepting his resignation, the MacMurray Board did so only after an all-day session in which it repeatedly urged reconsideration upon him. Unable to obtain that, the Board then asked him to remain throughout the current college year, requested him to be the speaker at next Spring's commencement exercises and voted to confer the honorary degree of doctor of literature upon him at that time in recognition of his work at MacMurray.

Served Eight Years

During the past eight years, Dr. Norris has been offered several other college presidencies, as well as those of two different theological seminaries. He declined those offers, however, as he wished to remain at MacMurray until the college's new program of coordinate education had been successfully launched.

He told the MacMurray Board Saturday that he now considered that program "more than successfully launched" and "better than firmly established" and that a successor could carry on.

When Dr. Norris came to MacMurray the college's budget for the preceding year was $856,722. MacMurray's budget for 1959-60 is $1,693,000. Full time student enrollment in the year prior to Dr. Norris' inauguration as president was 506. During the current year full time student enrollment at the two colleges, MacMurray For Women and MacMurray for Men, the latter started during Dr. Norris' administration, is 827.

Albion Like MacMurray

Albion College, like MacMurray, is affiliated with the Methodist Church. It has approximately 1,500 students and 90 faculty members and is considered to be one of the church's strongest colleges.

Mrs. Kathryn T. MacMurray, president of the MacMurray Board, expressed "deep regret" at Dr. Norris' resignation and said:

"We sincerely regret to lose him. He has done a wonderful job at MacMurray and the entire Board had hoped he would remain throughout the remainder of his career. This he could have done had he so desired. But he concluded his work here was completed; that another could carry on at MacMurray while he went on to new challenges and new problems."

To Recommend Successor

Mrs. MacMurray announced that a faculty-trustee committee was being appointed to recommend a successor to Dr. Norris. The faculty will be asked to name two of its members to serve with members of the board in seeking the successor.

"We are asking the faculty to aid us in this search," Mrs. MacMurray said, "in order that we may have the benefit of its specialized knowledge."

Makes Statement

Dr. Norris, in presenting his resignation, said: "Needs of a college differ from period to period. MacMurray College has developed a fine new program which has gained considerable momentum and a distinctive direction. From this point on, it needs the supervision of a President who is especially competent in the field of promotion.

I have delighted in the opportunity to serve as the President of MacMurray College during the past eight years and I have now concluded that the type of leadership needed hereafter differs from that which I can offer most naturally. As a consequence, I am resigning effective June 30, 1960, to accept the presidency of Albion College.

"By the end of this academic year I will be fifty-four. The best service a president can render any institution comes in a tenure of approximately ten years. Should I remain two more years after this one, I would be too old to undertake another position. The vitality needed in MacMurray's leadership is of another kind than I can provide in these coming years."

Scott Shrine Plans Burgoo, Country Store

by Nancy Hainsfurther
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone PL2-5520)

WINCHESTER — An old Scott County custom of "Burgoo" and a country store sale will be revived next Saturday, Oct. 24, when the White Shrine will hold the affair at the American Legion Hall with soup serving to begin at 11 a.m. and continuing until every drop of soup is gone.

Kettle service of the secret brew will be made by Cliff Allen, Jr. with sandwiches, coffee, homemade pies and cakes also being served.

The Country Store will feature fresh eggs, butter, pies, cakes and other goodies guaranteed to make the mouth water and the billfold open. Planning this aspect of the event are Mrs. Ed Sutton and Mrs. Paul Garrison.

In charge of getting kitchen help and preparing the vegetables on Friday are Leta Jameson and Lela Hester and they ask the women of the organization to sharpen their knives and be at the Legion Hall Friday afternoon.

Other committees and their members are: solociting, Mildred Cowhick and Harriett Funk; kettle, Clarence Dynes and Clarence Dobson; dining room, Beth Hutchens and Geraldine Coon; advertising, Eloise Gillham and Ellen Patterson; pies and cakes, Margaret Towell and Frances Kehart; sandwiches, Frances Robinson and Courtney Dobson; stirrers, Ernest Jameson and Norbert Hutchens; dishwashing, Fred Evans and Fred Robinson; cashiers, Frances Crabtree and Raymond Funk, and purchasing, Audrey Peak and Mabel Harper.

Teacher's Institute

Scott County grade and high school students had two holidays this week when the teachers attended the all day meeting held at the local gymnasium and traveled to Springfield to attend the sessions of the South Central Division of Illinois Education Association held at the Orpheum Theater there.

Thursday's meeting opened with the welcome given by H. B. Corrie, county superintendent of schools, and a band program presented by the grade school organization under the baton of Melvin Dalhaus.

As the day progressed the teachers heard Aubrey Holmes of Springfield talking on "Teacher's Retirement," a subject he well knows as he serves as chairman of this division; H. L. Hinton, county superintendent of Sangamon schools, who spoke on recent school legislation, and Dr. Leroy Garrett of Jacksonville, well known for his inspirational talks.

Penny Carnival

Those leaving the annual PTA Penny Carnival Thursday evening agreed that they had received well over their money's worth when they participated in games in the various modern classrooms, attended the Salute to Hawaii program and Grant Dance Revue and purchased items from the White Elephant Sale, Flower Shop and Country Store.

Mrs. Harry Lair and Mrs. Everett McGlasson, co-chairmen, report the affair a success from a monetary standpoint also with approximately $700 being cleared. Ticket sales were very good with Dan Scott, David Garrison and Jim Price winning the prizes for the most tickets sold. The first place winner won $3, the second $2 and third $1.

Sister Dies

Mrs. C. M. Danner received word Saturday of the death of her sister, Mrs. Grace McKenzie, who passed away Saturday morning in a Decatur hospital. Mrs. McKenzie is survived by two sons, Charles and Dan. Funeral services will be held Monday at 3 o'clock at the Dawson and Wykoff Funeral Home in Decatur. Mr. and Mrs. Danner will attend the services.

Purchases TV Shop

Harland DeGroot of Jacksonville has purchased the Shumaker TV and Radio business from Mr. and Mrs. Don Shumaker according to a recent announcement. Mr. DeGroot will begin his business on Monday the 19th.

The local RCA distributor was formerly employed at Nelch Company in Jacksonville and with his wife and four children will continue to live there.

Birthday Party

Abbie Woodcock, 6 year old daughter of the Carl Woodcocks, was honored at a birthday party Thursday afternoon with ten friends enjoying birthday cake, ice cream and punch.

The guests were entertained with games directed by Christine Woodcock and received favors in the Halloween theme as were the decorations.

Purchases House

The large frame house located on a plot of ground two blocks south of the Square on South Main Street was purchased by Mrs. Opal Waggener Saturday afternoon at a public auction at the Scott County Court House.

The property which brought $4,625 was sold by LeRoy Moss, auctioneer, with Hutchens and Mann serving as attorneys.

Personals

Daisy Knucky moved to Jacksonville on Saturday to make her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Hutchens of White Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Hutchens were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miner at a turtle dinner at Florence Friday evening.

Mrs. Rose Cummings entered Passavant Hospital Saturday where she was taken via Cunningham Ambulance.

Mrs. William Sealock and sons are spending the weekend at Danville, Ill., visiting the Manis family.

Vandalism

Several unmarked cars will begin patroling the rural roads as a result of vandalism thought to be done by Halloween pranksters in the form of mailboxes being knocked from their posts into fields. Some mail has been found in the boxes while others have been empty.

The sheriff's office warns those doing this damage that those caught will be so prosecuted.

Ashland Burglars Escape With $2,000 From CIPS Office

ASHLAND, Ill. — Burglars escaped early Saturday with $2,000 in silver coin, mostly in silver coin, from offices of the Ashland Electric Service where they rolled the vault into a rear room and broke it open.

The coin was hauled away in boxes from which a large quantity of light bulbs had been stored.

Entrance to the building was made through the Laundromat. William Dodge is manager of the Ashland Electric Service, which serves CIPS customers, and is owner of Laundromats in several Illinois cities, including Ashland.

Dodge returned shortly after midnight Friday from a trip to Carrollton, Petersburg, and Carlinville, where he collected receipts of the Laundromats. He placed the money in the vault and left the offices about 12:30 a.m. The burglary is believed to have occurred between that hour and 5 a.m.

Discovery of the burglary was made early Saturday morning by Bert Woolridge, custodian of the building.

Cass county officials investigating the burglary expressed opinion that the job may have been the work of a gang which robbed a super-market at Petersburg two weeks ago.

Jersey Sheriff Probes Damage To Mail Boxes

JERSEYVILLE, Illinois—Investigation into recent damage done to mail boxes in Jerseyville and Jersey county was being carried out here Friday by Sheriff Howard Perdun and Deputy Sheriff Adam Desherlia.

Similar depredations committed in Greene county brought about the arrest of seven teen age youths, all residents of the Jerseyville vicinity.

Deputy Sheriff Adams DeSherlia and Postmaster Arch D. Nelson went to Carrollton Friday morning to be present at the questioning of the youths being held in connection with the postal violations said to have been committed there Thursday night.

Postoffice authorities are taking over the prosecution of the violators, according to sheriff Howard Perdun, who indicated the youths being held in Greene county, had also admitted participation in the depredations committed in Jersey county.

Low Cost Beef Gains Essential To Profit, Says U. I. Specialist

URBANA—The expression "They said it couldn't be done" may apply to making a profit on cattle feeding this winter.

Current feeder cattle prices will test the ability of the shrewdest cattle feeder to break even, much less make a profit. But it is possible, says G. R. Carlisle, University of Illinois extension livestock specialist.

Carlisle outlines several rations for wintering cattle this winter. These rations are designed to produce the cheapest possible gains. Cattle feeders who use them along with careful management practices may be able to show a profit in their ledgers next year.

Here are the wintering rations Carlisle suggests:

1. Corn silage for steer calves. (These calves should gain about 1½ pounds per head daily.)

Protein and mineral are the two main deficiencies in corn silage. Although the kind of protein is not too important, the amount is. Calves on a full feed of corn silage need the protein contained in 1¼ to 1½ pounds of cottonseed or soybean meal fed daily. Or feed 2 pounds of a 32 per cent supplement daily.

Add a mineral mixture to the top of the silage every day. Use about one-tenth pound for each calf. Commercially prepared protein supplements, however, usually contain enough mineral to meet the calves' requirements.

12c to 14c Feed Cost

Feeding trials have indicated that calves do not need dry feed with this ration. But calves at the University of Illinois gained slightly faster when they received 2 pounds of hay daily.

Gains on this ration will cost about 12 to 14 cents a pound. The exact amount depends on how well the calves gain and how much the supplement costs.

To get faster gains than 1½ pounds daily, add corn to the ration. Do not add more supplement. cost of gains. And corn will increase gains just as well as more supplement will.

More Grain Required

2. Sorghum silage for steer calves. Use the same amount of supplement and minerals recommended for corn silage. But give each calf an additional 2 pounds of grain daily. Then the gains will equal those made on corn silage.

3. Rations containing a full feed of legume hay or legume silage. Calves gaining about 1½ pounds daily get adequate protein from legume roughage. But they will need more energy.

Corn is the cheapest source of needed energy. Feed 4 pounds of shelled corn or 5 pounds of ground ear corn per head daily, plus all the silage the animals will eat.

Calves on this ration probably won't need minerals. But it's a good idea to offer a mineral mixture free choice.

Oats or other cereal grain silages present a combination of problems. It's necessary to feed the same amount of protein used with corn silage and the same amount of grain feed with legume silage.

Vitamins Needed

Oat silage is also low in vitamin A content, so give the calves about 2 pounds of good legume hay each day. Or make sure that the protein supplement feed contains extra vitamin A.

U. of I. research has shown that calves respond to hormone feeding during winter while they are on roughage as well as on fattening rations. Steer calves especially should be implanted at the beginning of the winter feeding period. Or feed a supplement containing stilbestrol.

Do not use more than 24-milligram stilbestrol implants. Implants of this size increase daily winter gains by one-third to one-half pound gains by one-third to one-half pound.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

Cattle growers in southern Illinois are doing a better job than they used to do. They are not only producing higher quality cattle, but also following management practices that make their product easier to sell. The improvement in southern Illinois cattle has been tremendous over the past ten years.

The Evidence

On Thursday, Oct. 1, cattle growers brought over 2,500 good to choice feeder cattle to the Station for their annual sale. The cattle were well-boned, wide-muzzled, deep-bodied calves and yearlings with the capacity for making better than average feedlot gains. They were dehorned and of good quality. They were ready for the feedlot the minute the feeder bought them.

In contrast with this year, fewer than 400 cattle were sold at the sale ten years ago. And many of those 400 cattle were off-color brindles showing the fine bone and legginess common to mixed dairy stock. Many were horned so that the feeder had to assume the risks and cost of dehorning. More than just a few were staggy.

The improvement in breeding and management of southern Illinois cattle is a credit to the farmers and to the Egyptian Livestock association. They have increasingly and persistently closed the gate on lower grading kinds. We at the Station hope we too have had some small part in this improvement through our demonstration and education program.

Sale Toppers — $33.25

Thirty-three head of 402-pound steer calves topped the sale at $33.25. The highest price for an individual sold as a 4-H calf at $45.50. The average price was $26.87 on 2,518 head. The total gross amounted to $328,535.53.

Prices generally were just about a nickel lower than at the sale last year. Naturally the producers thought the prices were too low, and the feeders thought they were too high, but anyway the cattle sold at a price that seemed realistic in light of present and future fat cattle prices. Both the producer and the feeder have a chance to make a little on these cattle.

MOOSEHEART COW SETS NEW RECORD

Mooseheart Princess Star continues to shine. This amazing cow completed her sixth 1,000-pound fat record on July 17 with a production of 1,004 pounds of fat, 4.29 per cent, and 23,367 pounds of milk.

Mooseheart's Princess is the only cow in the Holstein breed with five consecutive records of more than 1,140 pounds of fat. In addition, she is the second cow of the Holstein breed with six consecutive records of more than 1,000 pounds of fat. Her records all started before she reached the age of eight years, which is a record in itself.

Antibiotics May Cure Plant Ills

URBANA—Some day antibiotics might be as common in controlling crop diseases as they are in checking human and animal ills.

David Gottlieb, University of Illinois plant pathologist, sees the prospect of farmers adding antibiotic-producing organisms to the soil—much as they would add fertilizer—to control a wide range of diseases caused by fungi, bacteria and viruses.

But that won't happen until researchers find out some secrets that antibiotics are still keeping. Gottlieb, for example, wants to know whether antibiotics are produced naturally in the soil. "We strongly suspect it, but so far can't prove it," he says.

At present, high cost practically rules out the idea of applying ready-made antibiotics to the soil. But if soil microbes could do the manufacturing, antibiotics might find widespread use as a crop disease weapon.

In a ready-made spray, antibiotics currently have limited use against diseases in commercial orchards.

Agricultural Economics

The cost price squeeze is directly affecting Scott County farmers for a larger number of farms has changed operators this year in comparison to the last three to five years. The Farm Adviser has been busy with landlords and farm operators supplying leases and helping fill out the contracts. All farm operators and owners are encouraged to have a written lease. The leases may be purchased for the cost of printing at your Scott County Extension office.

4-H

The 4-H Show and Junior Fair department superintendents made reports of the 1959 show and gave recommendations for the 1960 show. The fair board directors decided on a two-day event next year instead of the annual one day fair.

The members of the 4-H county committee individually scored all projects for project honor and outstanding member awards. Of the 123 agriculture members 25 received county project honors and 8 received county outstanding member. Robert Worrell, chairman of the 4-H county committee, stated the awards would be given at the annual 4-H Achievement Night at Winchester High School auditorium, 7:30 o'clock, Thursday, Nov. 5.

Public Relations

Kiwanis farmers night featured the tour of Russian agriculture by Roy Young, former director of agriculture. Royal Oakes and George Krusa, two farmers who also made the tour, were the Farm Adviser's guests. President Lehman said this was one of the largest attended Kiwanis meetings for the year.

Agricultural Engineering

Farm people drove to see a new technique in well drilling while the new rig was working at the Joe Worrell and George Lashmett farms. A three or six foot hole can be bored at a rapid rate and concrete porous tile is then dropped into place without men having to get into the well. The cost when the rig is in the area was estimated to be $5 per foot for the first twenty feet and $6 per foot for the next 80 feet. More wells and farm ponds are needed in Scott County as farmers are hauling water daily.

Insects

Alfalfa web worm or garden web worm did extensive damage to new fall seeded alfalfa. One field that appeared to be an excellent stand eight inches in height was completely destroyed and appeared to be as bare as a pavement. Ten per cent of the late summer seeded alfalfa in Scott County has been destroyed by alfalfa web worm.

Sorghum Making Needs Much Skill And Time

If, on a sunny fall day, you happen to be in the vicinity of Arenzville, may we suggest that you visit the farm of Orvel Hull?

Take the black-top road to the north; turn east on gravel at the "Feller" Newberry corner; wheel north (now on sand) thru "Rosieville" and cross Prairie Creek on the rough and noisy, but reasonably safe, rural bridge.

Shortly beyond on your right, a narrow, deeply rutted, strictly single track lane will lead you up a hill and through hard-wood timber which is always beautiful but superb during October. There is scarlet sumac, yellow hickory and reddish-brown oak all in profusion. Even the poison-ivy is an alluring, brilliant red—but beware!!

When you can again see daylight, watch for a field road leading to Mr. Hull's farm buildings which can easily be seen on top of the sand hill, 40 rods or so to the east. There you may find Orvel, ably assisted by his loyal wife, Edith, and their son, Billy, making the tasty product for which he is justly famous—sorghum.

Mr. and Mrs. Orvel Hull stand in front of their "cook shanty." He holds a king-sized stalk of cane, which is twice the length of an ordinary stalk.

DON'T CONFUSE Orvel's sorghum with the ordinary "blackstrap" variety which might have been made from sugar cane refuse or from sorgo, which is grown principally for silage. Orvel probably won't have a surplus to sell you but if he is still "in production" he will most certainly favor you with a palate-thrilling taste of the thick, sweet solution he drains from the "cooked" end of his copper evaporating pan. Then, and only then, can you fully appreciate the difference.

"I only have four acres of cane myself this year," Mr. Hull stated, "from which I will get 300-400 gallons of molasses. At $2.50 a gallon that sounds real profitable but really only pays us 10c an hour for our work. I cook a good deal for my friends and neighbors too. Generally we make 1200-1400 gallons a year, and believe me that means a lot of work. So many folks think that all you do is boil some juice and you have molasses but there's a lot more to it than that. In the first place you have to have the right strain of seed to plant, and then you have to use the right kind of ground — sand or some of the clays. Black ground won't do at all—not if you really want to enjoy your pancakes and sorghum."

Mrs. Hull is shown as she squeezes sweet juice from sorghum cane.

"WE TRY to cut our cane when it is just right, fully ripe but before it dries out. Then we strip it by hand, taking off all of the leaves carefully because they would spoil the molasses. My wife, Edith, does most of the squeezing because when the juice is flowing I'm mighty busy at the pan, keeping the fire hot and skimming off the foam. We have a good set-up here because we have the mill up there on the hill with an underground pipe bringing the juice right to the pan. I control the rate of flow with a valve and she trys to squeeze just fast enough to keep the pan full.

"I use nothing but wood to fire with and since it must be dry to burn good, we cut our wood a year ahead and stack it by the shed here where it is handy when we need it. We get all of this wood from our own timber so it don't cost us nothin', 'cept a little hard work. Besides this is a good way for us to use our dead or no-good trees. The rest can go for saw-logs."

"The biggest trick about making good molasses is to cook it as fast as you can without scorching it and then to draw it off when it is just right. If you take it off too thin you are cheating the public because it won't taste right and might spoil. On the other hand if you cook it too long it might be scorched and will sugar on you."

Mr. Hull further stated that he was born near Herdland, Missouri "a long time ago" and came to the Arenzville neighborhood in 1937. He now lives on 144 acres of sand land that he acquired in the same manner that he is now making a comfortable living —"by a lot of hard work." Where many would have failed because of limited fertility, lack of expensive, modern machinery, hazards of droughts and grasshoppers, Orvel has been able to make steady progress—admittedly slow at times—but progress just the same.

Treatment For Injuries Given At Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — Mrs. Charles Cealey of Elsah was admitted as a patient at the Jersey Community Hospital Thursday morning for treatment. She suffered a fracture of the right wrist when she fell down some stairs at her home in Elsah.

Mrs. Harold Blackorby of Jerseyville was given emergency treatment at the hospital Wednesday afternoon for a hand injury. She closed a car door on her thumb injuring the member.

Mrs. John Short of Jerseyville incurred a laceration of the right index finger at her home Wednesday evening while washing dishes. She was brought to the Jersey Community Hospital where four sutures were used to close the wound.

Robert J. Cope fractured his right ankle Wednesday when he jumped into a ditch on a farm south of Jerseyville and twisted his foot. A cast was applied and Cope was released following treatment.

Sutures were used to close a laceration on the right hand of Billy Powers, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Powers of Jerseyville. The boy accidentally ran his hand through a glass pane in a door at the Jersey Community High School where he is a student.

Milking at regular 12-hour intervals is best for high-producing cows on a twice-a-day milking schedule. However, dairymen can usually milk average and low-producing herds on a 10-to 14-hour schedule with little effect on total milk production, according to dairy scientists at the University of Illinois.

Taxes To Be Subject When Farmers Meet

Farmers of this area are invited to attend the Midwest Farm Conference which will be held at the state fairgrounds Saturday, Oct. 24.

The tax load carried by Illinois farmers will be the subject of a panel discussion to be held in the Illinois building in the morning, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois will be the guest speaker during the afternoon session, which will be hold in the coliseum. He will introduce Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts at 3 p.m.

Others on the program include Charles F. Brannan, former secretary of agriculture; Dr. Leon Keyserling, former head of President Harry A. Truman's board of economic advisers, and Paul C. Johnson, editor of Prairie Farmer.

Panelists on the morning program will include State Treasurer Joseph D. Lohman, Vernon Morrison, professor of economics, Southern Illinois U; Representative John K. Morris, Jr., of Chadwick, chairman of the legislative revenue committee for the 71st General Assembly, and Dr. John M. Eklund, director of organization and education for the National Farmers Union.

Ralph S. Bradley, president of Illinois Farmers Union, was chairman of a tax committee appointed by the 71st General Assembly.

"This committee held meetings throughout Illinois this past year and made corrective recommendations to the legislature which were vigorously opposed by powerful corporate and industrial groups who would stand to gain with a continuation of the burdensome tax on Illinois farmers," Bradley says. "The Illinois tax system has long been recognized as grossly unfair to farmers but enough political courage by a sufficient number of our legislators has not been in evidence to rectify it."

"Progress for Better Living" will be the central theme for the 1960 University of Illinois Farm and Home Festival. Set for March 31 and April 1 and 2, the festival will portray how science and education have led to better farming and better living for people in Illinois and throughout the world.

A Quiz For The Networks

The House subcommittee investigating the fixing of TV quiz programs is drawing national attention to a matter that demands major action to assure that such a breach of faith with the public will not again be possible.

Ideally, the television industry should, of course, police its own house to guarantee the honesty and integrity of every program under its control. This obviously is not a responsibility it can undertake lightly or casually.

From the record, the industry has not fulfilled that responsibility up to now. Carelessly, it allowed the producers and participants in certain quiz shows to rig their productions and offer them, in evident good faith, as legitimate contests of mental skill.

When you are using the television or the radio air, you are using what American law says is a public commodity. Those who are licensed to use it gain many privileges. There can be no excuse—none at all—for abusing those privileges.

If the industry should say that it cannot properly police its programs to assure their honesty, then it will plainly become a matter for government concern.

Government is the guardian of the air. It hands out licenses to those it considers fit to have them. It must be able, if that necessity arises, to clamp down on any who use the public air to foist fraud upon the viewing and listening millions.

Federal Communications Commission Chairman John C. Doerfer says his agency now lacks the power to prevent the rigging of shows, and that in any event such action would amount to censorship and the abridgment of free speech.

Free speech is not nor ever has been an absolute right. We are not free to defame others, to incite to riot, to teach the overthrow of our government, to transmit fraudulent materials in the mails, and so on.

There is no reason to believe that free speech will suffer as a basic right if steps are taken to assure that the substance of TV programs in every instance is honest and not fraudulent.

It would be better if no new federal regulation should prove necessary. Whether that is so or not would appear to depend on what the TV industry does at this point to police itself. If it falls short, the call for federal action would strike most people as proper and fair.

If Wishes Were Horses...

Politics is just like anything else. Fact, fiction, illusion, rationalization, wishful thinking and a lot of other things often get almost hopelessly intertwined.

And politicians, inevitably, act upon what they believe is true, whether it really is or not. Furthermore, though they want to be realistic, some give more credence to the wish than to the fact.

We can see a prize example of this right now. In New York, in Wisconsin, in quite a few other places, talk is heard among certain Democrats of a Stevenson-Kennedy presidential ticket for 1960.

The boosters of a Stevenson-Kennedy ticket are well aware that Sen. John F. Kennedy is the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination. They know, too, that for a long time he has fared better than any other Democrat in public opinion tests against all potential Republican nominees.

Thus they appreciate throughly the big lift he would most likely give the party ticket next year. Their harsher critics might say they badly want this lift to bolster the chances of a Stevenson who twice went down to crushing defeat at the hands of President Eisenhower.

Some of the "practical" men are looking at it another way. They worry over the impact on many voters of Kennedy's Catholicism. Putting him second on the ticket might be a way of seeming to face this issue without actually doing so.

Yet all these mental gyrations, all the boosts for a Stevenson-Kennedy slate, are really fruitless. They are founded on a wish, not a fact.

In countless instances we have no hope of separating the real from the illusory. Luckily for Democrats struggling to make up their minds, they can be separated in this case.

The well-founded word is that Kennedy under no circumstances will take the vice presidential nomination. He knows where he is in the race, and he's going for the top prize, nothing less.

The Stevenson-Kennedy boosters had better rub their blackboards clean and come up with a new slate that will fit the fact, not the wish.

BY JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Most English people here kept up with returns from Britain's recent election at a unique television party. The wingding was tossed at the British Consulate, which is located in a hotel.

In several offices were placed closed-circuit TV sets which were hooked up to a camera in another room. Stationed there was a teletype operator who received the returns from London and passed them on to the man with a microphone. He announced them.

At the same time, another man wrote the returns on a blackboard in front of the TV camera. The blackboard figures and verbal announcements were relayed to guests via the television sets.

As the evening progressed, crowds overflowed from the rooms into the hall. That's why a group of visiting Americans were startled when they entered an office and found only one Englishman watching television.

"How have you managed to keep this place all to yourself?" one of them asked.

Two Of The British Consulate offices were converted into bars for the election return party. Favorite drink was Scotch and soda mixed double strength. In fact, anyone had who didn't want a double had to specify this to the bartenders.

After the Conservatives' victory was announced, an American walked up to an overjoyed bartender and said, "Make mine a light Scotch and soda."

"You'll have to show me what yo.. mean," the bartender cracked. "All the Scotch here is the same color."

Tales Of The Khrushchev visit are still coming to light. Following the San Francisco dinner where he was raked over the coals by U. S. labor leaders, Mr. K. was asked how he felt about the criticism.

"Such talk doesn't bother me," he answered. "It's like oil running off a goose's back."

On another occasion, the Soviet Premier cracked, "If I had known I was going to eat this well in America, I'd have brought along my grandchildren. They won't let me eat like this at home."

Texas Oil, gas and sulphur lobbyist Dale Miller feels like he could use a month's vacation after spending two days on Sen. Lyndon Johnson's Lone Star State ranch. On his first night there, a cloudburst overflowed a nearby river and flooded the entire countryside.

Johnson, Miller and visiting Gov. Price Daniel spent the night rounding up the senator's livestock and getting them to higher ground. They also had to move a load of pipe to prevent it from getting washed away.

As soon as the sun came up, they took off in Johnson's helicopter to evacuate other ranchers and their families. This took all day.

That evening before the phone lines konked out, Johnson got word that all roads to town were under water. Since Miller and his wife had to get back to Washington, Johnson loaded them in the chopper and evacuated them to the nearest airport.

"I went down there to rest," Miller says. "But I never worked harder in my life."

One Of The flood victims rescued by Johnson and his guests was an old woman who lived nearby with a large mongrel hound. Already frightened by the rising flood waters, she became terrified when the helicopted dropped from the sky onto her front yard. Her next emotion was sheer panic when Johnson, bundled in a black poncho and wearing a slouch hat jumped from the chopper and charged toward her. Neither she nor the dog recognized him.

The hound broke from its leash, made a leap for Johnson and bit him on the leg. While Miller and the pilot held the dog, Johnson calmed the woman and led her to the helicopter. The senator, in no mood to rescue his attacker, left the animal behind.

After flying to a nearby town to get his leg bandaged, Johnson's conscience started bothering him. So on the way home, he landed at the woman's ranch again and evacuated the hound.

At A Crowded Shoreham Hotel cocktail party, the wife of a government official collided with singer Nelson Eddy and exclaimed:

"Oh, I know you. You used to play Nelson Eddy in all those old Sigmund Romberg movies."

There's A highway sign near the D.C.-Maryland boundary line which warns:

The World Today

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

The Soviet press had just disclosed a shakeup in the security apparatus of some Soviet republics bordering on other Asian countries. The development hints at rising resentment among minority peoples in the Soviet Union, which may yet give Premier Nikita Khrushchev serious trouble.

The reason for the shakeups was internal. The announced changes came in Kazakhstan, Turkmenistan and Azerbaijan, each of which got a new Russian security chief.

For all his promises to minority nationalities, Khrushchev still exhibits a passion for pan-Slavism, meaning domination by the Great Russians over the minority peoples in other Soviet republics.

Kazakhstan, a sprawling province bordering Red China, seems to have been having serious troubles. Only recently the central theoretical magazine of the Soviet Communist party, Kommunist, complained of "bourgeois nationalism" in the Kazakh province. The term means any sort of opposition to Russian domination. The magazine flayed those elements opposing the study of the Russian language and of Russian culture.

In Uzbekistan, another Central Asian province, there have been hints that some opposition may have been violent. About a month ago, the central Moscow government gave a posthumous award to a member of the Young Communist League of Uzbekistan who had been "tragically murdered while standing guard over public order" in an Uzbek town.

In Turkmenistan the ruling Russians seem to have been having more and more trouble with the indigenous Turkmen people, who are kin to the Persians. Around the beginning of this year the party in the province underwent a thorough purge.

The first secretary of the Turkmen party, a local national named Babayev, was fired. Clearly his sin had been that of taking too seriously Moscow's promises of greater rights for the local nationalities. He had been slowly "de-Russifying" his organization.

The party organization went to work and denounced what it called a tendency to "pit cadres of indigenous nationalities against cadres of other nationalities." This, the party warned, was an "exceptionally harmful" approach.

Khrushchev long has been noted for his pan-Slavism. For him, as well as for the rest of the leaders among the Great Russians, resistance to Russification is matter of international security. In Kazakhstan, the resistance may have assumed serious proportions.

Moscow sent a big man to Kazakhstan to take over the job of security. Konstantin Federovich Lunev, the new security chief, has been deputy chairman of the central government's KGB (Committee of State Security), which succeeded the Stalinist MVD police organization. He was on the judicial board which approved the execution of Stalinist police boss Lavrenty Beria. The Kazakhstan job must be a big one to require the talents of such an expert.

Khrushchev himself has just concluded a tour of some of the provinces. He may have been a bit shaken by bold questions asked by ordinary people. When, they wanted to know, would consumer goods prices go down? Khrushchev replied by asking them to be "realistic."

When would there be better goods, better housing?

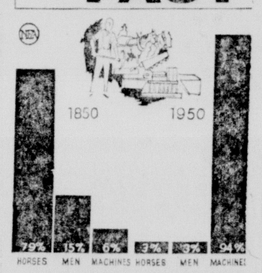
Khrushchev replied that the question was legitimate enough, but he was no miracle man and couldn't produce these things overnight.

Nobody was bold enough to ask Khrushchev when there might be a letup in the Russification and the extension of rights to local minorities he had promised. But the security system shakeup indicates Khrushchev knows the question is being asked behind his back.

BRIDAL PATH

A recent survey predicts there will be more than 25 million new brides in America during the next 10 years. Figures are based on birth statistics from 1940 to the present time.

matter of FACT



During the 100 years from 1850 to 1950, power and machinery increased at such a rate that in 1950 one worker in the United States could produce six times as much goods in one hour as a worker of 1850 could. In 1850, 79 per cent of the power used for doing work came from horses, 15 per cent from men and 6 per cent from machines. In 1950, only 3 per cent came from horses, 3 per cent from men and 94 per cent machines.

Ozark Area Makes Bid To Attract Retired People

BY MARIE DAERR

"Come to the Ozarks."

Retired people are given this warm invitation by an attractive, information-packed booklet that is the Ozarks' bid for their attention when they pick a spot to spend their later years.

"The Ozarks Playgrounds area has taken a competitive place with Florida and California," according to Tom Ayers of Joplin, Mo., executive director of the Ozarks Playgrounds Assn., which put out the 32-page illustrated brochure.

Ayers said 50,000 copies were run off for national distribution in the first printing. Mail requests to the association's general offices, 112 W. Fourth St., Joplin, will be filled.

"Our booklet answers a need that became apparent since the association formed a Retirement Homeseeker Department," Ayers said.

Southwest Missouri, Northern Arkansas, Southeast Kansas and Northeast Oklahoma are the regions described invitingly in the booklet.

Climate? The booklet states that the Ozarks area has about 275 days of sunshine a year, that the annual average monthly temperature is 56 degrees and that the average maximum for the year is 65. Spring weather starts in March, it says, and sometimes it's still shirt sleeve weather in November.

Home building costs? According to the booklet, these are at least 25 per cent lower than for similar construction in other areas.

Natural beauty, rodeos, county fairs, which begin in late August and continue until mid-October, and year-round fishing are entertainment lures.

The booklet also has a state-by-state directory on items ranging from banks to tourist facilities. You will learn that Cotter, Ark., is headquarters for float trips where rainbow trout abound; that Galena, Kan., has 13 churches, civic clubs and excellent shopping facilities and that Carthage, Mo., welcomes visitors to its marble quarries.

If older people have doubts about their importance these days, this booklet should help dispel these ideas!

Q—Are laws on state assistance to the aged the same throughout the country?—L. R. F.

A—No. They vary from state to state.

Q—I am a widow who is interested in moving into the South or Southwest and buying a home with four or five bedrooms which I could rent out to college students. Is there any way of finding out which colleges have many students living in private homes?—Mrs. B.B.

A—Go to your library and look up colleges in the areas in which you are interested. Then write to the registrars, asking your question. I certainly recommend that you visit several of the college towns which you think would be suitable, before you move from your present location.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Tale of Finland Missionaries

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The story is not about missionaries to Finland, but about missionaries from Finland to Africa; surely one of the most remarkable and inspiring stories of missionary zeal, and also of ultimate accomplishment in the face of almost certain defeat.

In recent years I have resumed a boyhood hobby of stamp collecting, when I discovered how relaxing the hobby could be. I am a very amateur collector, without knowing anything of the intricacies of what has become an enormous business. I have, however, been interested enough to subscribe to some stamp papers, especially to the well-known Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News.

It was in this paper for Aug. 7 that I saw the article "Religion in Stamps," by Glenn D. Everett, telling this remarkable story of "Winning Africa for Christ." The occasion was the issuing of a stamp by the Finnish government to mark the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Finnish Missionary Society.

Finnish Lutherans had been supporting missions with German Lutherans, but inspired by news of David Livingstone, and stories of Africa brought back by Finnish sailors, they determined to organize a missionary society of their own in 1859.

But it was 10 years before money and volunteers were available to launch the mission to Africa, and it was another 10 years before the first converts, only four, were baptized. In 1869 five ordained young men with several lay workers set out for Ovamboland, an area of Southwest Africa, below the Congo, and in the following year with five wagons, each drawn by teams of 14 oxen, reached the village of Ondonga.

At first well received by the natives, trouble began when hostile traders and slavers incited chiefs and witch doctors against the missionaries.

It was little wonder that after virtually 20 years, with opposition and destruction, and only four converts to show, there were many who wanted to abandon the mission. But the missionaries stayed.

Today, the church in Ovamboland has over 60 missionaries, 43 native pastors, 818 lay teachers and evangelists and more than 100,000 African members, and the Finnish missions have spread to Tanganyika and other areas of Africa.

The story of such triumph over seemingly unsurmountable loss and destruction points to hope for the outcome in Ecuador of the mission in which five airborne missionaries have given their lives, and the widow of one, with relatives and associates, is carrying on with incredible courage and a love and devotion that seems to be winning the Indians—even those who killed her husband. The cynical might say, Abandon it all! Why wish defeat and further violence?

But in the light of the Finnish African mission experience one may well wonder what 35 years, or perhaps much less, among the Auca Indians will show.

Try This Hearty Pea Soup For a Real Dutch Treat

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NE Food and Markets Editor

The young and gracious Princess Beatrix of The Netherlands, on her recent visit to the United States, inspired our interest in Dutch food. So we turned to "Favorite Recipes From the United Nations," edited by the American Home Economics Association and published by the United States Committee for the United Nations and particularly enjoyed the following. They could well be included in your international menu to celebrate United Nations Day, October 24. The book contains 135 authentic recipes.

Erwtensoep (Pea Soup)
(Yield: approximately 8 servings)

Two cups green split peas, 3½ quarts water, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 pigs feet, 4 leeks (1½ cups chopped), 1½ cups chopped celery, ½ pound smoked sausage, cubed or sliced.

Soak the peas in 3 cups of the cold water for 12 hours. Drain and add enough water to make 3½ quarts. Add salt and bring to a boil. Skim, then add the pig's feet, leeks, and celery. Simmer for 3 to 5 hours, or until the pig's feet are quite tender and the meat loosens from the bone. Lift out the pig's feet and discard skin and bones. Add meat bits to soup. Half an hour before serving, add the smoked sausage.

Strips of toasted bread or pumpernickel bread are eaten with this soup.

Blinde Vinken (Blind Finches or Beef Birds) (Yield: 6 servings)

Six thin lean beefsteaks (minute or cube steaks), ½ pound lean pork or veal, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 gherkins, one-third cup butter or drippings, 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon flour (for thickening, if desired.)

Wipe the beef and pork with a damp cloth. Salt the beefsteaks. Cut the pork into 6 strips. Lay a strip of pork on each beefsteak and place a gherkin in the middle of each and roll up. Tie rolls with thread or hold together with toothpicks. Brown them in butter. Add 1 cup water, cover, and simmer the birds for one hour, adding more water from time to time if necessary. Thicken the gravy, if desired, with flour mixed to a thin paste with water.

International Dinner: Netherlands pea soup, United States roast turkey, Ecuador creamed potatoes, Uruguay string beans, Swedish rye bread, Danish red fruit juice dessert, coffee, tea, milk.

VISIONARY—Dr. Paolo Nistri of Rome, Italy, shows a sketch of his "Cinebox," a machine that would enable jukebox addicts to see as well as hear their favorite singers. The machine uses 16mm sound film instead of records. There will be 40 selections on each Cinebox. Nistri has reportedly signed a contract to have the machine distributed in the United States and Canada.

Pity Her if She's Just a Gal Who Can't Say 'No'

An awful lot of women take on more than they should because they have never discovered that it is actually possible to say "no."

They are afraid that if they don't accept an invitation they'll hurt somebody's feelings. So they end up running around to parties they don't really want to go to and in turn entertain people they don't care two whoops about.

They are afraid that if they don't accept a job in whatever organization they belong to somebody will think they are slacking, and soon they find themselves doing all the hard jobs.

They wouldn't think of turning down an invitation to a club for fear someone wouldn't understand. So whether they like the term or not, they eventually end up as clubwomen.

They let their children impose on them because they think they can't say "no" without losing their children's love, when actually no child long respects a mother who doesn't know how to say "no" and make it stick.

Women who can't say "no" even buy things they don't need or actually want because when selling pressure is put on them they can't quite get up the courage to say, "No I can't afford it."

Actually, "no" is a very easy word to say. And if said with a gracious firmness it rarely causes any lasting resentment or unpleasantness.

If you don't believe it, just try saying "no" the next few times you really want to but are tempted to say a doubtful "yes" instead. After the first few tries you'll be amazed at how easy it is to say "no" —and how much simpler it makes your life when that little word is necessary.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

We've been reading so much about space flights and visitors from other planets zipping about in flying saucers, just figured a warning was due. Don't panic if you see strange shapes flitting across the face of the moon come Oct. 31. For it's Halloween evening . . . the night when witches jockey their jet-propelled brooms side-saddle, and hobgoblins roam the land. Along with the night's supernatural aspects you can expect a swarm of neighborhood kids looking as wild as they sometimes seem to their parents . . . and offering you a choice of "tricks or treats". Our advice is . . . have the "treats" ready. Halloween is no time to push your luck. This might be the night the small green men in the saucers decide to land.

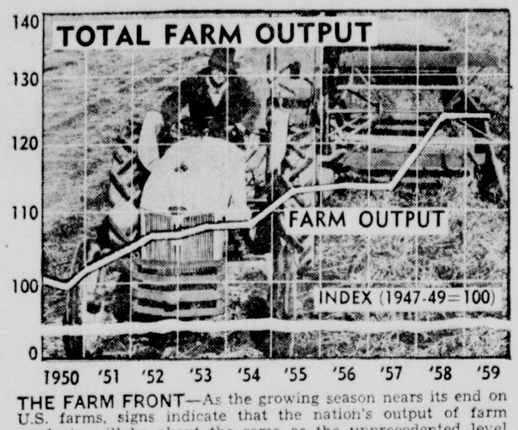
Have you seen the new Chrysler and Plymouths for 1960? WOW!

A schoolboy who was struck by a school principal in Illinois was awarded $1,000 for the blow. That's really collecting interest on the principal. And of course it is to your interest to maintain your automobile in A-1 condition, to insure maximum protection for you and your family. Icy and slick wintry roads are just around the corner and to drive with faulty brakes and threadbare tires is only tempting fate. Just to be safe drive in and let our expert brake mechanics inspect and adjust your brakes for you. E. W. Brown, 406 South Main. Phone 5-4333.

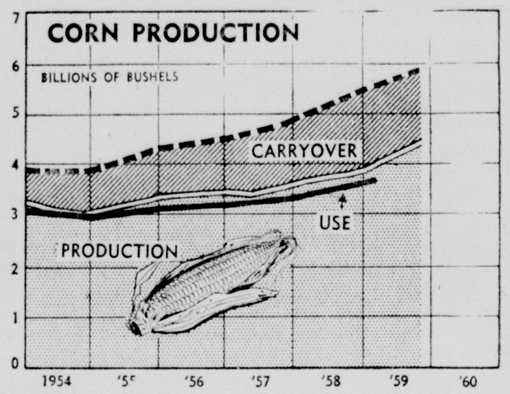
1959 Another Wonderful Crop Year In The U.S.

As the growing season ends on U. S. farms, signs indicate that the nation's output of farm products will be about the same as the unprecedented level reached in 1958. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture forecasts, on which these charts are based, crop production as a whole will register a decline, for the first time in five years, but that record-breaking corn and livestock output make up for it.

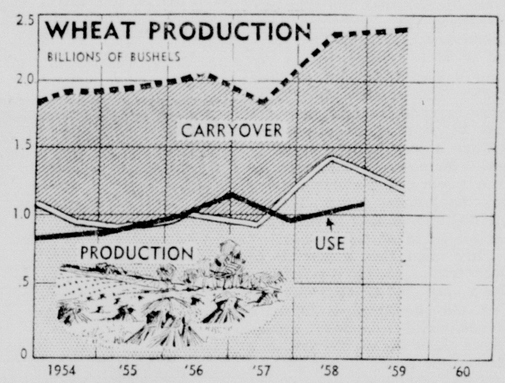
This year's harvest of wheat is down 23% from 1958's all-time high and has moved to a level that is close to the annual rate of consumption. Even so, carryover from previous years is so great that it represents better than a two-year supply. Corn production will be about 10% larger than last year. Added to stockpiles, the carryover will be enough to meet the nation's needs for the next 18 months.



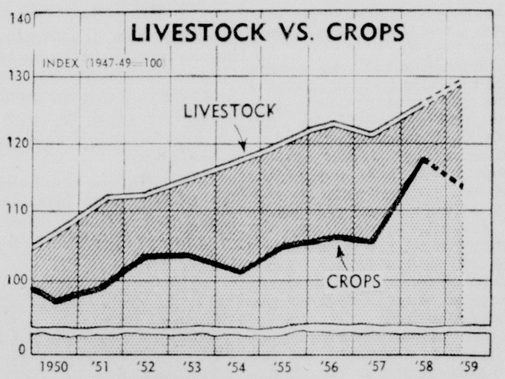
THE FARM FRONT—As the growing season nears its end on U.S. farms, signs indicate that the nation's output of farm products will be about the same as the unprecedented level reached in 1958. Though crops as a whole are down, a record-breaking corn harvest and livestock output will make up for it. Chart above is based on Department of Agriculture figures.



CORN OF PLENTY—Department of Agriculture forecasts show that production of corn on U.S. farms in 1959 will be about 10 per cent larger than 1958 (see chart, above), making this the seventh straight year that production has exceeded use. Added to existing stockpiles, the carryover will be enough to meet current rates of consumption for the next 18 months.



WHEAT TO EAT—This year's harvest of wheat, as forecast by the Department of Agriculture, is down 23 per cent from 1958's all-time high and has moved to a level that is close to the annual rate of consumption (see chart, above). Even so, carryover (supply on hand) from previous years is so great that is represents better than a two-year stockpile.



CURBING THE CROPS—This year, for the first time in five years, anticipated volume of crops raised on U.S. farms is down slightly from a year ago (see chart, above), according to Department of Agriculture estimates. Cotton and corn are the only major crops showing an increase. Output of livestock, however, is heading for a new high.

Chapin Home Bureau Elects New Officers

The Cheerful unit of Home Bureau held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Andeen Detmer. Roll call was answered by twelve members.

The major lesson, "Sleeping Area," was given by Mrs. William LaKamp. The selected subject, "Ironing Board Covers", was given by Mrs. H. Hahlmann.

A business meeting was held and the following officers were elected: Mrs. Andrew Detmer, chairman; Mrs. Marvin Matzke, vice-chairman; Mrs. Fred LaKamp, secretary and treasurer. The group then sang the song of the month.

Members were reminded to have their reservations in the office for the district meeting to be held in Winchester Oct. 29.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. The November meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Wendell Middendorf.

Rebuild Barn Destroyed By Fire In Greene

WHITE HALL—A large group of neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ridings on Tuesday and Wednesday southwest of the city and helped rebuild a large barn which was destroyed by fire recently. Ladies of the group prepared and served meals to the workers.

Everett Heldermann, Carl Fraser, Edgar Ridings, Joe Smith, Neal McCollom, Jim Ridings, Martin Williams, Gloyd Hoesman, Harry Hurst.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

Prices of feeder and stocker cattle and calves were trimmed by $2 to $4 a hundred pounds during the past few weeks. Prices came down because many farmers refused to pay ranchers' early asking prices. The ranchers were loaded with cattle. They had to sell. Killers were not in competition with farmers—prices were too high.

The price decline may—or may not be over. Either way farmers who need cattle should do some shopping around. Compare quality, prices, weights and methods of computing weight to be paid for. Many cattle may be bought at considerably less than the first asking prices.

The rebuilding of ranch herds is about finished. The supply of cattle available for feeding is apparently at an all-time high.

At the beginning of this year, ranchers and farmers had 19,755,000 head of calves under one year old, not counting those being kept for milk. This number was 7 percent more than the year before and 4 percent more than the previous record high of four years before. Most of those calves are now yearlings.

More Beef Calves

We estimate the number of calves dropped by beef cows this year at around 23,000,000 head. This would be 8 percent more than last year and 3 percent more than the previous record high set in 1955.

The total 1959 calf crop, including dairy calves, is estimated at 41,300,000 head. That is 2 percent more than last year, although 3 percent short of the all-time record set in 1954. The declining number of dairy cows holds down the total calf crop.

While the calf crop is larger this year, slaughter of calves is small... Commercial slaughter from January through August totaled only about 5 million head. This is one-fifth less than last year and more than one-third less than two years ago.

Fewer Imports

Imports of cattle and calves from Mexico and Canada have been a little smaller this year than they were in 1958. From January through August, imports from Mexico totaled 280,000 head, down 9 percent from last year. During the same period, imports from Canada totaled 280,000 head, down 28 percent. Most of these cattle were stockers and feeders.

Prices for fat cattle may work toward a lower level during the next few months. During the past 10 years, average prices of choice steers were highest in September and lowest in February. February prices averaged about 7 percent lower than the September figures.

The past year was an exception. Prices of choice steers at Chicago averaged just under $27 from July into December and around $28 in January and February. Peak month was April, with an average price of $30.33.

Cattle prices are at an unusually high level in relation to prices of other farm products. Adjustment to more normal relationships probably is beginning.

King Milling Company Opens 'Push Button' Plant At Pittsfield

By John B. Martin

PITTSFIELD—Two tons of livestock feed every three minutes — that's the story at the new quarter million dollar King Feed Mill in this Pike county community.

The King mill has been in continuous operation as a family enterprise since 1869.

The new plant embodies every modern, efficient production facility. It is designed to handle a large percentage of incoming ingredients in bulk, utilizing every device to reduce costs and at the same time offer custom-type service to the livestock feeder.

This panel board has a series of electronically controlled push buttons that control the flow of ingredients from the bulk bins into a horizontal mixer bin. The ingredients are automatically weighed on the scale shown in the picture. The result is a batch system of mixing for accuracy and yet a continuous system for speed and efficiency.

The new plant utilizes a five story brick building formerly used as a flour mill. Adjacent is a new warehouse with more than 8,000 square feet of storage space for finished products.

Receive Materials In Bulk

Eight new outside storage bins provide facilities to unload bulk ingredients from either railroad cars or bulk trucks with capacity of 40 tons per hour plus adequate machinery to transfer these ingredients from the eight 50 ton storage bins into 15 ton bins built within the mill building.

A "push button" panel board makes possible the assemblage of as many as 18 different ingredients with provisions to add medications and other specialized additives in the quantity required for special feeding needs. Two of the largest available pellet mills, equipped with 100 HP driving motors supply needed capacity for the mill's operation. Approximately 96 per cent of the output is in the pellet form.

Grand Opening Saturday

Saturday, Oct. 24, will mark the Grand Opening and Open House at the King mill in Pittsfield. The event will open at 10 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m.

To make this the biggest event in their 90 years, the company will highlight their celebration with an "entertainathon," a marathon of entertainment. Making a giant theatre in their new warehouse, the company is sponsoring seven consecutive hours of entertainment by nationally known stars.

Heading the list of name artists will be Jim Reeves, singing star from the Grand Ole' Opry, and his Blue Boy Band with whom he has made several hit recordings. Also featured on the program will be the Prophets Quartet and Bob Foster, virtuoso of the Hammond Organ.

In addition to the outstanding talent program which should attract a large volume of guests from a wide area, there will be conducted tours through the plant with refreshments and gifts for all. Many Pittsfield business firms will also offer door prizes during the 7 hours of entertainment.

Press Preview

Stillman J. Stanard, Illinois director of agriculture, spoke briefly to the group after being introduced by Earl C. Smith, president of Pittsfield's First National Bank. Both men recounted some of the early days in Pittsfield and the company's history.

The company was founded in 1869 in what is now Pittsfield's King Park. The company moved to its present location in 1900.

M. C. King, II, and Clark C. King, grandsons of the original founder, now head and manage the company.

The King Milling company was operated exclusively as a flour mill until 1937. They started the first commercial livestock feed manufacture in 1937 and have continued to grow. The present modern plant has been under construction for the past year.

Principal market for the mill's output is in Pike county and about 6 adjoining counties in western Illinois and eastern Missouri. The company sells direct to the farmer.

Future Farmers At Waverly Plan Trip To Show

WAVERLY—The Waverly F.F.A. held a meeting Monday, Oct. 12 in the Agriculture room. The meeting was opened by president George Brown who welcomed all the new members since they had been initiated formally and informally, Monday, Sept. 29.

One of the main items of business is the trip to Chicago to the International Livestock Show. Any adults who wish to go can get in contact with Mr. Twenhafel.

The other item was the magazine sales. The total dollars worth sold was $1,048.41. The top salesman was Larry Brown with $122 and Mike Haynes was second with $115.

Nine new members were initiated into the Industrial Arts club of the Waverly Community school in the high school gymnasium on Monday, Oct. 12.

Clear $500 At Supper

The monthly meeting of the Altar Society of Saint Sebastian church was held in the church basement with 17 members and two guests, Mrs. Kathryn Clark, and Mrs. Lucille Clark. The secretary announced that a little over $500 would be cleared at the ham supper held on Sept. 27.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lorene Myers with Mrs. Lena Ryan as assistant hostess.

After the business meeting a social hour was held, with prizes going to Mrs. Joseph Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Elmer Huyear, Mrs. Kathryn Clark, and Miss Margaret Maher.

During the business meeting it was decided to buy some mixmasters for the church basement, one a heavy duty mixer for use at suppers and one a portable for other purposes.

The ladies announced that the first card party for the season would be held on Tuesday, Oct. 20 in the church basement with bunco, pinochle and euchre being played. The card party is to start at 8:00 p.m.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. John Ryan and Mrs. Donald Ryan.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Sexton have purchased the residence known as the Sally Martin property and they plan to move in the near future.

The annual fireman's fish fry will be held on Sunday, Oct. 25, at the fire house.

Child Welfare Meeting

The Child Welfare club held its monthly meeting in the American Legion building on Wednesday, Oct. 14, with Mrs. John Woods and Mrs. Paul Stewart as hostesses.

Mrs. Irene Miller and Mrs. Fern Stubblefield were present as representatives of a reducing machine. Mrs. Miller gave interesting points concerning diet and exercise on the machine.

Nineteen members and two guests were present, Mrs. John Isaacs and Mrs. Fred Winkler.

Happy Girl

Mrs. Russell Deck Sr. of Roodhouse has a 4-year-old granddaughter who often visits her. This gay picture was made on a recent visit.

This young lady may now come in for her Junior Journalist pencil and Junior Press Card which all earn who have anything they have drawn or written printed on the Junior page.

In the springtime, not so long ago, there was a very happy little girl in the Japanese town of Sano. Her name, Teruko, means bright and shiny. Teruko was nine years old that spring, and she had a special reason to be happy.

The first prize had been given to her for the doll in gay, royal costume which she had entered in the school contest. Like other little girls in Sano, Teruko had learned to sew when she was very small.

However, she had a special talent. Her designs were the most beautiful and her stitches the most perfect that the villagers of Sano had ever seen.

Teruko had many dreams of the dolls she would dress—dress for all the world to see. And she had a plan too. Teruko was going to help her mother.

Her father had died when Teruko was a baby. She and her mother lived in a small brown house with a gray roof and a pretty garden. Through the branches of the flowering plum tree they could see the famous Mount Fuji. Thinking of the people from all over the world who came to marvel at Mount Fuji, Teruko had decided that she would dress dolls to sell to those many travelers.

Perhaps then her Okasan—this is the Japanese word for mother—would not so often have to go to the city of Yokohama for the sewing on which she worked until late every night.

Through the beautiful spring and into the summer, Teruko dreamed of her hopes as she worked on her doll clothes. She fashioned tiny obis from bits of bright silk. She made the elegant robes of the warlords of old. Her mother often had to call her twice for meals, so intent was Teruko upon her work.

Teruko Feels Tired

When Teruko first felt tired on a day in the hottest part of the summer she tried to hide it from her Okasan. But she knew that she must be sick. She was so tired it seemed she could not even walk to the garden. That night a fever came, and when Teruko woke in the morning she could not lift her arm.

Teruko was ill for many weeks. She worried about the leg which she could not feel or use, but most of all she worried about her arm. For how can I sew, Teruko said over and over to herself, if I cannot hold a needle in my fingers.

I have been punished by God, the little girl thought. I cannot help my Okasan. Instead I shall be a disgrace to her.

Teruko's mother tried to be cheerful, but it was very hard. She feared the life of sorrow ahead of her little daughter. There would be no more school for her. There would be no fine husband and children of her own. There was little happiness that autumn in the small brown house.

Mother often went to Yokohama now to bring home her sewing. She must make up for the many weeks she had sat by Teruko's bedside.

One day in November, she was very late coming home. Teruko tried not to cry as she sat in the dusk and waited. She wished to be brave, but she had grown afraid.

It was long after dark when the door opened and her mother hurried into their home.

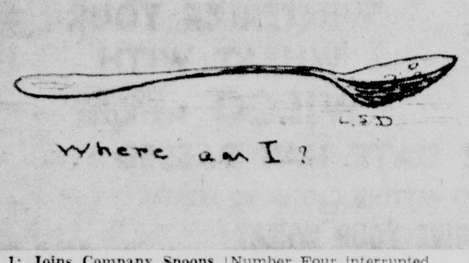
Hettie's Spoons

By Mrs. Otto Dorr



Part 1: Joins Company Spoons

Hettie dropped an old spoon into a drawer where six company spoons lived. They politely moved aside as the drawer closed to make room for the stranger saying, "How do you do, come in."

"Where am I?" the unacquainted one asked. "I was never here before." Then it timidly added, "I live in the pantry. They will surely look for me before long. I measure the baking powder for Hettie."

"We are the company silver," one explained, "They do not use us every day."

Not Very Polished

The dull-looking teaspoon could see the six shining ones even in the darkened drawer. They seemed friendly so it answered bravely, "I am not brightly polished as you are, but I have at least been to Boarding School."

"School!" spoon Number One exclaimed. "What is that like? We have to learn manners at the table, that is hard enough, such as 'Never make noise, keep perfect order on the table, never stir out of place and go to the kitchen if we fall on the floor.'"

Like Deportment

"That sounds like Deportment at our school. It bothered the boys too."

"Tell us about it," Three spoons crowded over to hear before the newcomer could answer one.

"We rode on a train to Boston with my boy and his mother. They had to buy all his winter clothes there. It was fun!"

"What did you see?" spoon Number Four interrupted.

"Nothing," came the answer. "I was inside his satchel, but I could hear him talk."

"'I do not like this town,' he told his mother, 'Crooked, short, narrow streets! I like it at home where streets are long and flat and wide. Ma, can I go to see the harbor?'"

"'No, it is not safe for you there.'"

"'Can I ride on a horsecar, Ma?'"

"'Yes, you can get on one every day. They all come back to our Tremont Hotel.'"

Let's See Bunker Hill

"'Ma, when are we going to see Bunker Hill Monument?'"

"'When all our shopping is done,' she promised him."

"A boy is a good traveler," said the old spoon, and stopped to laugh.

"Go on!" spoon Number Two urged, for it liked the boy too. "What happened next? Did he get to Bunker Hill?"

"Certainly, his Ma took him in a carriage. He climbed all the steps to the top to look out the little windows.

"When he came down he said, 'Ma, it was wonderful. I counted all the steps; there are 275! Ma, can I ride back on a horse car?'

"That was 85 years ago." The old spoon looked at the listening six. "Maybe there are changes now, but you can see a picture of Bunker Hill Monument on a postage stamp some day when a letter waits on the table to be read."

Story Of Rubber

By Jerry Lawless

Growing Rubber

The production of rubber into the usable products of today begins on the rubber plantation. Practically all of the natural rubber of commerce comes from trees on plantations in the Far East and in Liberia, Africa.

These trees are so designed by nature that they can't live close together. Because of the struggle for existence, the healthy rubber tree tends to try to kill all other trees of its kind and even its own young. Therefore, nature has designed the seed-bearing pod so that they contain formations of gas which cause them to explode when ripe, throwing their seeds from seventy-five to one hundred feet away from the parent tree.

The noise that occurs every time a seed pod explodes sounds as loud as a twenty-two calibre pistol. Because of this process, the seedlings have a much better chance to survive.

Always Green

The trees demand plenty of water, but won't flourish in an excess of it. They are green all the time, yet gradually shed their leaves every year.

Rubber is found in an emulsion known as latex in microscopic tubes in the bark. The tree is tapped by natives with U-shaped blades, and the latex oozes out of the cuts which are at 30 degree angles to permit easy flowing of the sap.

If the trees are strong enough, two such cuts will be made on them. The latex comes out of the trees on the average of two drops per second. It has the consistency of milk and specks of darker material, able to be recognized as rubber particles, are scattered throughout the liquid.

From big plantations, by bullock-carts and narrow-gauge railways, the rubber goes to sea ports such as Singapore, Penang, and Colombo.

Air To Live In

As with most of the aspects of keeping men alive and happy in space (scientists call this human factors) providing air to live in is only a matter of time. Right now a flight of two hours is possible and this time will be increased quite a bit soon.

We now have the space suit necessary to guarantee that a man could stay alive for one or two orbits around the earth—about three hours. This space suit is the MC-2 full pressure suit.

The picture at the top of this article shows Dr. Edwin G. Vail, WADC project scientist, being fitted with this suit, by Capt. Daniel Fulgham, for a low pressure test of the suit.

The MC-2 full pressure suit was developed by the David Clark Company and the Wright Air Development Center.

The air tank for the MC-2 would contain liquid oxygen which is vaporized as the pilot needs more air. The helmet of the space suit also has a tiny air lock which MMT-Multi-Meal Tube containing concentrated food can be put through when the pilot needs nourishment.

For flights of more than just a few hours a space man would need a sealed cabin, so he would need his space suit only for emergencies. These could either be repairs that had to be made outside the space ship or a leak in the cabin.

Longer Time—Bigger Problem

Of course it would be more difficult to provide oxygen for a longer period of time. A tank of oxygen can now give a man enough oxygen for 24 hours, but the supply of containers would be limited by the size of the space ship.

This would be the case if an open oxygen system, similar to that of high altitude planes was used. In the open oxygen system the air exhaled (breathed out) by the pilot is dissipated outside the ship.

The Wright Air Development Center's Aero Medical Laboratory is now developing a closed oxygen system. In this system a continuous circulation of oxygen would be provided with waste products being removed before the air was reused.

The closed oxygen system is expected to reduce the needed oxygen supply rate by 90 percent. This would make one oxygen tank do for about 180 days instead of just one day.

A pump will carry the pilot's exhaled breath to a chemical absorber which will remove the carbon dioxide, after this the air that's left will be cooled, causing the extra water to drop out. To complete the cycle a pressure regulator will introduce new air to replace the impurities and return the fresh air to the pilot.

Helping Birds To Solve Their Winter Problems

By Joseph A. Smith

In "Let's Go Birding" you have read many interesting things about birds. We must remember that they too have a housing and food problem especially during the long, hard, cold winter months.

Feeding stations set up late in the fall will teach the birds of their whereabouts. They may save some bird from starving this winter when food is more scarce.

The station should be rather high. Food should be replaced once a week.

Beef suet, oatmeal, sunflower seeds, lettuce, rice, and various vegetables make them a feast. Some like raisins and peanut butter.

A small pile of sand for them to scratch in will be just fine too.

For the housing situation let's name a few homes as suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Bluebird: 5" by 5" by 8", with 1½" hole, 7½" high; Chickadee: 4" by 4" by 8" with 1¼" hole, 10' high; House Wren: 4" by 4" by 7" with 1" hole, 8' high.

Tree Swallow: 5" by 5" by 6" with 1½ hole, 12' high; Red Headed Woodpecker: 6" by 6" by 13" with 2" hole, 15' high; Downey Woodpecker: 4" by 4" by 8" with 1¼" hole, 12' high.

HOW PEOPLE PREPARE FOR WINTER

SIGNS OF AUTUMN

Come join the fun of the annual Halloween "Trick or Treat" for UNICEF. The date is Sunday, Oct. 25, the time 3:45 to 6 p.m.

Your church is looking for spooks (you in your Halloween costumes) who will ring doorbells and receive pennies for UNICEF. Think of the fun you'll have, but best of all you'll be helping children all over the world.

The pennies, quarters and dollars you collect will buy milk and medicine for children who are starved and sick. Did you know that just one penny will buy five glasses of milk for a needy child?

Following the "trick or treating", there will be refreshments and a talent show at the Y.M.C.A.

THE FAMILIAR

By Emma Mae Leonhard

The familiar may bore people; it may discourage people. It may also console people. How often have we heard the statements: "This town is dead! There's nothing to do! There's nothing new or exciting! I'm bored to death!"

Or a student may say, "I got a C again on my paper. There's no use working: I always get C's."

On the other hand, after a long vacation of traveling, most people are relieved to see the familiar home again. Or children, left in the care of comparative strangers, are overjoyed when their parents call for them.

Yes, the familiar generally exists in our lives. So it does in the bird world too. We continually see the Cardinal, the Blue Jay, the Crow, the Goldfinch, the Meadowlark, and many other species of birds. Many people see them around their city or their country homes; they take these birds for granted and may not even be aware of their presence.

Many a time birders spend an entire morning, an afternoon, or even a whole day seeing nothing but the familiar birds. If they are real birders, they usually don't become bored or discouraged.

They often find a new or an unexpected slant on the familiar. On a gray cool October morning, they may be surprised to see a Hummingbird darting around where there are no flowers, or a Great Blue Heron sitting up in a tree instead of being posed in the shallow water of a lake.

Familiar Becomes Unexpected

On the morning of October 4 the familiar changed to the unexpected for a group of birders. Rain had drenched everything the day before. Weeds, trees, fields, and shrubbery were still heavy from the rain.

No sunshine was there to warm the cool damp grayness or to color the cobwebs with rainbow hues. No wind was stirring to shake the heavy drops from the leaves. Many a familiar road or lane, popular with birds and so with birders, was too muddy for anything except a truck or a jeep.

However, the birders kept on; birding must go on in rain or mud as well as does football. Sometimes the inclement weather brings surprises to both. So it did that October morning.

The clouds thinned; gray changed to a whiteness and then to a blue in places. The sunshine came and went carelessly.

Chorus Begins

Then the chorus began. Not one Meadowlark was singing; a whole field of Meadowlarks were singing.

In March we know that we shall hear the cheerful and thrilling carol of the Meadowlark coming from everywhere, the familiar voice of spring. On through the summer we are familiar with the song of a single meadowlark in the open sunshine.

Even in the fall on until November we may be able to catch the echo or the harbinger of its spring song. But this was a whole field full of echoes or harbingers of spring.

As we drove on, we heard the same chorus of Meadowlarks in almost every extensive meadow or field. The morning or birding had not been in vain.

The familiar had taken on a new meaning and a new beauty. Perhaps that is what the familiar in life must do, add a new look.

Is written, sung and read:
Again the rhythmic, dreamlike lines

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Sherrie Maria and Jodie Sue Masters

RED ASH

By Rip Barnsdall

Usually found growing singly in low, moi... soil on river banks or bordering swamps, marshes, or ponds.

The buds of this tree are covered with a thick red-brown velvet. The twigs and undersides of leaves also have small red hair-like projections.

Richard Seymour Of Meredosia Marries Michigan Girl Oct. 17

MEREDOSIA — A Meredosia young man, Specialist Fourth Class Richard Eugene Seymour, U.S. Army and Miss Sandra Marguerite Behrens of Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan were united in marriage Saturday evening, October 17, at the Presbyterian church in Grosse Pointe.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August A. Behrens, Grosse Pointe, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Bessie Seymour of Meredosia.

The candlelight ceremony was performed at seven-thirty o'clock by the Reverend Andrew F. Rauth using the double ring service. White mums were used in decorating the church and the Behrens residence.

Miss Sue Larsen was maid of honor and Miss Louise Wilson, bridesmaid. Both are from Grosse Pointe.

Best Man From Beardstown

The bride wore a handsome floor-length gown of white peau de soie taffeta trimmed with Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. Her veil was of nylon illusion, fingertip-length, and caught by a small band of taffeta and lace studded with seed pearls. Her flowers were stephanotis and white orchids with ivy, carried with a white Bible.

Miss Larsen wore beige organza and carried yellow pompoms with ivy and Miss Wilson wore pastel organza carrying the same flowers. Both wore velvet headbands matching their costumes and outlined with seed pearls.

The mother of the bride wore a blue lace sheath with matching jacket, a velvet hat matching the shade of her dress and white gloves and bag. Her flowers were cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Seymour, mother of the bridegroom, was unable to attend the ceremony.

Reception Follows

A reception in the lounge at the church followed the ceremony. The bride's only aunt, Miss Elsie Behrens, and Mrs. J. S. Hill served tea and coffee from a lovely silver service at one end of the serving table that was centered with a tiered wedding cake.

The newlyweds left after the ceremony enroute to Meredosia. The bride was wearing for travel a navy blue suit with white accessories. The bride is a graduate of Grosse Pointe high school and the groom of Meredosia-Chambersburg high school.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Glen of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Orloff of Chicago.

15 Churches Unite In UNICEF Trick Or Treat Drive

Next Sunday, boys and girls dressed in Halloween costumes or masks will be "trick or treating" for UNICEF. The "trick" is to "treat" the less fortunate children of the world by donating coin or paper money to UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund.

Jacksonville's UNICEF spooks can be identified by the black and orange tag bearing the emblem of the child drinking milk. They will be ringing your doorbell between 3:30 and 6:00 P.M. Sunday, Oct. 25.

Jacksonville's donation to UNICEF decreased considerably in 1958. It was $752 as compared to, for example, the $923 collected in 1955. If everyone gives just a little more next Sunday than last year, we can proudly join those communities which contribute over $1000 each year. Nationally the total sum to UNICEF increased from $32,000 in 1952 to $1,250,000 in 1958. Each government receiving aid from UNICEF matches the contribution two and one-half to one. More than $2.50 is spent for each $1.00 received.

15 Churches Unite

Centenary, Mrs. Robert Lisensky; Central Christian, Mrs. Russel Vernor and Miss Schoedesack.

Congregational, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Davis; Faith Lutheran, Barbara Anderson, and Joan West.

First Baptist, Mrs. C. R. Dowland; First United Presbyterian, chairman to be named.

To Feed "Goblins"

Following the drive refreshments will be served to the UNICEF goblins at the YMCA Youth Center on West State street. Mrs. Lester Abbott and her committee are in charge of this arrangement that will include this year entertainment. There will be pupils from the Godfrey School of Dance performing and Russell Armstrong, local magician, will perform feats of magic.

AN EYE ON STRIKE

HONOLULU (AP) — Some Hawaiian firms say they will begin using Japanese steel if the United States steel strike continues for several months.

The strike so far has not caused a great influx of steel from Japan. Most companies say they are short of some steel items, but have big enough over-all stockpiles to last through the year.

URANIUM UP

The production of uranium in the Free World has jumped from 2,000 to 40,000 tons a year during the last 10 years, according to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Irene Crawford Weds Leroy Duffer Oct. 2

In a simple candlelight ceremony Friday evening, October 2, at First Baptist church Miss Irene Crawford became the bride of Charles Leroy Duffer with the pastor, Dr. L. E. Olson, DD, officiating at the single ring ceremony. Raleigh R. Crawford of Jacksonville gave his sister in marriage.

The former Miss Crawford is the daughter of the late John and Ella Hart Crawford. Mr. Duffer is the son of Charles Duffer of Roodhouse and the late Fanny Norman Duffer.

In addition to burning tapers in branched candelabra candles also glowed at the altar where brass altar vases contained white gladioli and carnations. Before the ceremony Mrs. Julian Chandler, accompanied at the organ by Miss Mahala McGehee, sang "Because," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Oh Perfect Love."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, daughter and son-in-law of the groom, attended the couple. Ushers were William Hovey, Carl Becker, Albert Armitage and John Crawford.

The bride wore a conventional length dress of ice blue lace on matching color taffeta. The wedding gown was fashioned with low rounded neckline at front and back and three-quarter sleeves. She wore long white gloves and her veiled hat, of imported feathers, matched the color of her wedding costume as did her satin shell pumps. The bride wore pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a purple throated white orchid, satin ribbon streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Jones wore a navy costume identical to the style worn by the bride with matching slippers and a white feather hat. Her flowers were blue and white carnations in a Colonial arrangement.

Reception Follows

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall immediately after the 7:30 o'clock ceremony. Members of the church Service League, of which the bride is a member, complimented the couple by assuming charge of the arrangements.

The bride's colors blue and white, were used throughout appointments at the serving table set with silver. A four tiered wedding cake centered the net on satin table where guests were served cake by Mrs. Russell Thompson and Mrs. Ward Petefish; coffee, Mrs. William Hovey and punch by Miss Carolyn Becker. Nutmeats and blue and white mints were also served.

The blue trimmed white frosted bride's cake was topped with a fresh flower blue and white carnation corsage. Mrs. Albert Armitage registered guests and Misses Bonita Huppe and Ruth Ella Becker were in charge of gifts.

Glenn Spencers To Mark Silver Anniversary Oct. 20

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Spencer, 308 Finley street, will observe their silver wedding anniversary Tuesday, Oct. 20. A family dinner will be held today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pryor Bossarte. Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Bossarte are sisters.

Lucille O'Donnell and Glenn Spencer were married Oct. 20, 1934 in Jacksonville. For many years Mr. Spencer operated a food market on South Diamond street. He is presently Secretary of Production Credit Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer are parents of five children, Lieutenant William F. Spencer, serving with the U.S. Marine Corps in Hawaii; Carol Ann, student at Routt High School and Dick, Bobby and Marilyn, who attends Our Saviour's grade school.

Mrs. Frank Joseph Kaiser

Mary Margaret Ryan, Frank Kaiser United

The Sacred Heart church at Franklin was the scene for the Nuptial Mass the morning of Thursday, October first, uniting in marriage Mary Margaret Ryan of near Franklin and Frank Joseph Kaiser of Alexander, Illinois.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Ryan and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Kaiser.

Sisters Attend Bride

There were three attendants to the bride, her sister Rebecca, was maid of honor; another sister, Mrs. Edward B. Cully of Jacksonville, bridesmatron and a sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. George Cline, Jr., Alexander, bridesmatron.

Michael Kaiser attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Edward B. Cully, Jacksonville, brother-in-law of the bride; George Cline, Jr., Alexander, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Holly Ash, James Cully, Ray Christison and Wayne Cully, all of Jacksonville.

Cut flowers and ferns adorned the altar of the church where the pastor, Reverend Father Hugh Cassidy, performed the double ring ceremony in which Mr. Ryan gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Vern Bergschneider presided at the organ and Mrs. Paul Langdon sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "Shubert's "Ave Maria" and Franck's "Panis Angelicus." The traditional wedding processional and recessional were used.

Wears Embroidered Tulle

The bride's gown of tiered embroidered Schiffli tulle over taffeta was very full skirted and floor length. The snug bodice featured a portrait neckline enhanced by a ruching of tulle and short sleeves. The voluminous skirt extended over graduated hoops, swept into a Chapel train.

Long mitts, matching the material of her gown, completed the costume. The bride's veil of imported illusion, hand rolled, flowed from a dainty cap of embroidered tulle. She carried a Colonial cluster of white carnations on a pearl edged star base showered with satin ribbons. Her only jewel accessories were a single strand of pearls and matching earrings.

Attendants In Sheaths

The bride's attendants were gowned alike in conventional length turquoise velveteen sheaths trimmed in matching satin. Their slippers were also in turquoise satin and their headdresses were satin cloches. They carried hand bouquets of turquoise and white carnations.

The bride's mother wore beige wool tweed with brown accessories and the groom's mother a two piece taupe silk faille with corresponding accessories. Both mothers wore gardenies.

Reception Follows

A reception at Sacred Heart Hall was held immediately after the nine o'clock ceremony. Turquoise with white comprised the color combination used at the reception. The wedding cake was in five tiers, frosted white with turquoise trim, the same combination in mints served with coffee or punch and salted nutmeats.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Louise Weigand, Mrs. Marjorie Cully Enke, Mrs. C. R. Sowle, Mrs. Carl Kaiser, Mrs. James Cully, Miss Dorothy Ann Kaiser, Mrs. Holly Ash and Mrs. Roy Christison.

Miss Sally Ann Ryan, sister of the bride, registered guests.

To Tour South

When the newlyweds left for a honeymoon through southern states the bride was wearing a winter white wool suit, with mink trim, brown accessories and brown-tone cymbidium orchids. While on their wedding trip the couple will visit the Paul Kaiser family at Dallas, Texas.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser will make their home at Alexander. Mrs. Kaiser graduated in 1953 from Franklin High School and is employed at the Newman Clinic in Jacksonville. Mr. Kaiser, member of the 1952 class at Routt High School, served two years with the Army and is employed by Orleans Co-op Grain Company.

Guests attended the wedding and reception from Alexander, Decatur, Franklin, Jacksonville, New Berlin, Springfield, Waverly and White Hall.

Seton's Canonization May Take Many More Years

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, who took another step toward canonization last week, is still a long way from becoming one of the many thousand saints on the Roman Catholic calendar.

The announcement by Pope John XXIII that the American-born nun has "passed the 'antepreparatory' stage" means she is somewhere in the middle of the canonization process, with the highest hurdles ahead.

The Catholic Church doesn't take sainthood lightly.

Mother Seton, who could become the first native American saint, died in 1821, but canonization proceedings did not get under way on the lowest official level (the Baltimore diocese) until 86 years had passed.

Four years later, the documents painstakingly collected and examined in Baltimore were forwarded to Rome to a "postulator," a sort of clerical attorney who would plead her case before the Congregation of Rites.

Further examination by a commission in Rome, delayed by World War I, lasted another 29 year. It was not until 1940 that her cause was formally introduced and she was being considered for beatification.

Catholic spokesmen in the United States are not sure exactly how far along the road toward beatification — the last step before canonization — Mother Seton has passed.

Apparently these three points have met approval: She has a reputation for sanctity; she has not been venerated publicly; and her writings, even personal letters, express the saintly ideals.

She can be pronounced beatified — and bear the title "blessed" — only after the church has satisfied itself that two miracles can be attributed to her intercession.

Church spokesmen say it is unlikely that beatification can be considered and approved until 1960 or even much later.

Canonization, the final step to sainthood, is achieved only after the church proves to itself that her intercession has brought about two more miracles since her beatification.

This final step can take years or even decades.

Thus, the church's investigations of sainthood have come a long way since the informalities of the 13th century, when St. Peter of Castelnau could be canonized less than two months after his death.

The elevation to sainthood of Pope Pius X in 1954 required an examination period of 30 years, a mere drop in the bucket of time as the canonization process goes.

CHANDLERVILLE 4-H HOLDS ELECTIONS

CHANDLERVILLE—The Ducklings 4-H club met Wednesday evening at the home of Morris Bell. The club was reorganized for the coming 4-H year. An election of officers was held and the following members were chosen: Ray Toland, president; Max Banks, vice president; Elizabeth Kramer, secretary; Edward Kramer, treasurer; Jerry Ainsworth, reporter; Linda Kramer, recreation leader, and Jerry Ainsworth, 2nd federation delegate.

The club has three new members, Brenda Middlekamp, Billy Abbott and Rose Ann Bell.

Barbara Jean Smith

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith of Franklin announce the engagement and November wedding plans for their daughter, Barbara Jean, and DeeWayne Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Kelly of Franklin.

Both are graduates of Franklin High School. Miss Smith graduated this year from Passavant Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. The prospective bridegroom has just completed military duty in Germany.

The wedding will be held at four o'clock the afternoon of Sunday, November twenty-second, at the Durbin Methodist church near Franklin. All friends and relatives of the couple are cordially invited.

Lois Elaine Matthews

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Matthews, 923 Freedman street, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lois Elaine, to James Maurice Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Spencer, Winchester route three.

They will be married February twenty-first, nineteen hundred and sixty, at First Baptist church in this city.

Miss Matthews graduated from Jacksonville High School and is employed at Elliott State Bank. Mr. Spencer, a graduate of Winchester High School, is engaged in farming.

Amvet Auxiliary Officers Named

The regular meeting of the Amvet Auxiliary was held Oct. 13 at the Amvets club rooms, with President Eva Burns presiding. Roll call of officers was heard with nine officers present. Acting sergeant-at-arms, Esta Lee Beadles, led in the pledge to the flag and the reading of the preamble. Opening prayer was given by Chaplain June Dodsworth.

Silverware and supplies for the kitchen are to be purchased. A dinner will be held for the deaf at the Amvets club rooms Oct. 31. The Bloodmobile will be at the Amvets Post Home, Nov. 9 and 10, with Mary Biggs, co-chairman, and Naoma Moore, chairman, of the Bloodmobile.

Final plans were made for the joint installation, banquet and dance to be held Oct. 17 at the post home.

Dr. Lenth Tells Murrayville PTA Of Civil Defense

The Murrayville P.T.A. met October 13 in the school gymnasium. The meeting was called to order by the president, Rev. John R. Seed. The pledge of allegiance was led by Ronnie Megginson.

The third grade pupils, under the direction of Mrs. Million, presented several musical songs. The children then enjoyed a film strip while Dr. Vincent T. J. Lenth of Jacksonville, speaker for the evening, addressed the parents. His topic was Civil Defense.

Mrs. Earl Wright stated that starting Nov. 1, one day a week United States Saving Stamps would be sold at the school, probably on a Wednesday. Mrs. Donald Lakin announced that plans were underway for a carnival to be held at school, Oct. 29. Mrs. Frank Boston told the group that dish towels were needed badly for the P.T.A. use. All donations will be appreciated.

Refreshments of fruit juice and coffee were served in the cafeteria with the 7th grade parents in charge.

Plan Teachers' Examination In Morgan Nov. 13

The next written examination for teachers' certificates will be held in the office of Wilfred E. Rice, Morgan county Superintendent of Schools, on Friday, November 13, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Under the present certification law, an applicant with less than a degree but with a minimum of 60 semester hours of training may qualify for a provisional certificate by examination, providing the 60 semester hours include at least 6 semester hours in the field of professional education. A provisional certificate issued under this plan is valid for two years of teaching in the kindergarten-primary, elementary, high school or special subject field. A certificate earned under this plan may be renewed at the end of each two-year period upon evidence that the holder has earned 8 semester hours of credit within the period; provided the requirements for the certificate of the same type issued on the basis of credit shall be met by the end of the sixth renewal period.

Those wishing to write the examination should send a transcript of their college credits as soon as possible to Aaron Brien, Secretary of the State Teachers Certificate Board, 105 State Office Building, Springfield and request a letter stating that they are qualified to write the examination. The applicant should present this letter when he reports to take the examination.

Those wishing to write the examination should notify the office of the County Superintendent of Schools not later than November 2 in order that questions may be ordered.

State President Guest At October Luncheon As Woman's Club Welcomes 11 New Members

A capacity crowd attended the October luncheon Saturday, Oct. 10, at Hotel Dunlap that officially opened the fall and winter season for the Jacksonville Woman's Club. The club was honored with the presence of Mrs. M. E. Bruce of East St. Louis, president of Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Tables were most attractive with lovely floral centerpieces arranged by hostesses. The occasion marked the first general meeting with the new president, Mrs. Lester Reed, presiding. Mrs. Reed welcomed guests and members with Edgar Guest's poem, The Woman's Club.

Miss Clara Cobb, recording secretary, presented minutes of the last meeting and those of the October board meeting. Mrs. Alvin Middendorf, treasurer, gave the club's financial report.

Announcement was made the club presented the IBSSS school with two series tickets for the MacMurray Jacksonville Concert Association and also made a donation to Morgan County United Fund.

Opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Clyde Landreth, second vice president and Mrs. Ralph Floreth led in the pledge to the flag.

Mrs. B. A. Bollman, luncheon chairman, presented her co-chairman, Mrs. Claude Jewsbury and Mrs. Byron Stewart. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. G. G. Sturm, Mrs. M. A. Summers, Mrs. Ray Johnson, Mrs. Dean Cannell.

Mrs. Elbert Lair, Mrs. H. C. McDougall, Mrs. Bernard Camm, Mrs. Viron Ransom, Mrs. Carroll Houston and Mrs. Harry Killam.

The speaker's table was decorated by Mrs. Harry Merriman with flowers from the garden of Mrs. Alvin Middendorf. Place cards, with handpainted shell flowers, were made by Mrs. Eugene Dodsworth, garden chairman.

The membership chairman, Mrs. J. D. Bunting, introduced the new members of the club. Mrs. Reed responded with hearty welcome and a brief resume of the club.

The ticket chairmen were Mrs. George Thayer, chairman, Mrs. Adam Ehrgott, Mrs. E. W. Logue and Mrs. Isaac Tomlin. Yearbooks were at each place setting. Mrs. Floyd Hess is yearbook chairman, Mrs. Earl Davis, co-chairman.

President Speaks

Mrs. H. E. Seestrom, program chairman for the club year, presented Mrs. Earl Davis, chairman for the day, who in turn introduced Mrs. Bruce. The state president of IWFC used as her topic, Service, A Woman's Birthright.

Mrs. Bruce personalized her entertaining talk with experiences in appearances during her office localizing with the notation that 60 years ago the Illinois Federation met in Jacksonville.

Of interest to the group were informative newsnotes such as receiving an invitation to the reception for Queen Elizabeth, being included in receiving at the Governor's Mansion, attending receptions at the White House in Washington, etc.

Emphasized were the obligations of the clubwoman, both on the individual, club and federation level, in personal life and community and to moral and civic standards. The speaker concluded her talk with a glancing review of the national Federation convention held last summer in California.

Concluding announcements included the Morgan County Federation meeting at 2 p.m. Oct. 27 at Grace Methodist church.

Mrs. Reed presented the music chairman, Miss Charlotte Sieber, who introduced Miss Ingrid Hellwig, pupil of Professor Joseph Cleeland at MacMurray College. Miss Hellwig, accompanied by Miss Valerie Logan, sang, "It's A Grand Night For Singing," "No Other Love," "I Could Have Danced All Night" and "Bali Hai."

The meeting adjourned promptly at three o'clock. The club will meet next on Nov. 14 at the hotel.

DUNNING IS PROFESSION

CHICAGO (AP) — Dunning delinquent debtors now is a profession.

Dr. Eugene Barnes, a psychologist, says the collection agency is similar to a traffic control system and policemen.

"The 45 billion dollar credit economy of the United States is equally dependent on the collection agency," he says.

Mrs. Carls Tells Literberry Women Of 'Televisit'

Members and their families held their annual October Family night meeting at the Literberry Baptist Church. A bountiful potluck supper was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Warren Daniels opened the business session with the flag pledge led by Mrs. Earl Rexroat after which the group sang "Onward Christian Soldiers." Mrs. Fred Standley gave devotions, reading from St. Matthew, chapter 5. Prayer was given by Rev. W. J. Boston. Mrs. Standley read a poem, "My Neighbor's Bible."

Miss Lora Petefish gave a report of the budget committee, Mrs. Frank Ogle reported for the ways and means, and Mrs. Dewey Petefish read a letter in regard to a library service for the county and for a bookmobile.

The club gave a unanimous vote to this and each signed a petition in favor of this project as it would be very worthwhile for all county residents.

Mrs. Lawrence Mallicoat was program chairman for the evening. Group singing was enjoyed by all with Miss Wilma Crum at the piano and Mrs. John McGinnis as song leader.

The chairman introduced Mrs. Henry Carls from Virginia, Ill., who recently was chosen for this area for "CBS Daytime Televisit Week." She gave a most interesting report of her trip from St. Louis to New York then to Hollywood, Calif.

She met many celebrity TV stars, visited with them and found them most interesting. Mrs. Carls' talk was very interesting, and a question and answer followed which gave the group many interesting things in regard to TV. She expressed they were well paid but certainly earned it with the long hours and energy, patience and experiences they have to follow day by day to have programs to meet with the approval of the public.

The meeting adjourned with the club prayer being given. Mrs. John McGinnis will have the November meeting Tuesday, Nov. 17, at her home.

The domestic committee for the evening was Mrs. Coy Stice, Mrs. John McGinnis and Mrs. Lawrence Mallicoat.

'Everything But The Kitchen Sink'—

Broadcasting radio noises "like a flying bagpipe," as one missile man described it, America's latest earth satellite, Explorer VII, is probing the mysteries of near and far space. Its two transmitters are relaying information to 20 tracking stations on earth concerning seven different experiments. Experiments range from measuring little meteors to gathering weather forecasting data. The 91.5-pound station, carried aloft by the Juno II rocket, is expected to orbit 20 years. It joins 12 other satellites.

With The Girl Scouts

Important dates to remember this week are the two training sessions to be held for leaders of Girl Scout troops at the Scout office. These meetings are very important for those who have not had any previous training for leading troops. Brownie basic training will be held Tuesday, October 20, from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. with Mrs. Charles Nicholson conducting the course. Mrs. Charles Crocker will give the Intermediate basic training on Wednesday, October 21, at the Scout office, holding sessions at the same hours as the Brownie training the previous day. All leaders of new troops are urged to attend.

Members of the training committee of the Board of Directors will meet Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Scout office for a regular session.

Waverly-Franklin leaders will meet in Waverly at the home of Mrs. Doglio on Thursday morning, October 22, at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Hartman, the Executive Director, will conduct two meetings for mothers of girls interested in Scouting at Beardstown on Friday, October 23. There will be a meeting at the Washington school in Beardstown at 9 a.m. and one at the Beards school at 10 a.m.

Big plans are being made for the Cass county rally of Girl Scouts to be held Saturday, October 24, from 2 to 4 p.m. in Chandlerville. Troops from Virginia and Ashland have been invited to attend. Each troop is to furnish two special numbers. Mrs. Jack Gardner is in charge of arrangements.

Give Program

Mrs. C. A. Dawson, leader of Troop No. 75 who visited the International Roundup in Colorado last summer, accompanied the Roundup girls last week when they put on the program at the regular meeting of the Jacksonville Lions club. Mrs. Dawson introduced the girls and told of her impressions as a visitor to the huge encampment, adding to the interesting and popular program given by the girls.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Executive Board of the Girl Scout Council met Wednesday at the Scout office for regular session. Mrs. William Gross, program chairman, gave an interesting account of the program institute held last month in Springfield and gave a summary of the Girl Scout rallies held at the Youth Center and Jonathan Turner school in Jacksonville. Reports of committee chairman were given as well as the Executive Director's report.

The November meeting will be held November 19 at 9:00 a.m., place to be announced later, since this will be a combination Board meeting and neighborhood meeting, with Board members, Board committees, leaders, assistants, troop committee mothers, troop organizers and anyone registered in the Jacksonville neighborhood invited. This will be an open Board meeting, followed by neighborhood business and a program on the Girl Scout program presented by the representatives of our Council who attended a Program Institute in Springfield, Illinois, the latter part of September.

Leaders' Meetings

Jacksonville leaders met Thursday morning, October 15, at the Girl Scout Office for the regular monthly neighborhood meeting. Troop problems were discussed, announcements made, and then a program of slides was presented by Mrs. C. A. Dawson, on our own Camp Shagbark, and then on the International Senior Girl Scout Roundup which Mrs. Dawson visited while our delegates were participating in this unforgettable event.

Greene County leaders met Tuesday afternoon, October 13, at the home of Mrs. Ruth Galloway, Roodhouse. Plans for fall activities were discussed and pictures of the Roundup shown. The next regular meeting will be on the second Tuesday in November at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Bud Roth in Carrollton.

Roodhouse mothers are being called to a meeting in the school in Roodhouse on Wednesday afternoon, October 21, at 2:15 p.m. to discuss assistance needed with Brownie troops 51 and 93.

Troop Events

Girl Scout Troop No. 41, South Jacksonville School, went on a cookout October 15 at the new Oak Grove Park on Lake Jacksonville. The day was a huge success with activities ending with a Bear Hunt complete with girls playing the parts of hunters and hounds. There were seventeen girls and three visitors present, as well as the leader, Mrs. William Smith, assistant leader, Mrs. Harold Stansfield, and Mrs. Glen Neff and Mrs. Jack Andrews. Hobo stew, rolls and "somemores," were served.

Troop 88, Lincoln School, and their leaders, Mrs. Don Robinson and Mrs. Don Griffith, held an outing at the Girl Scout Cabin on Lake Jacksonville, Thursday, October 15. Sixteen girls, their leaders, and a troop mother, Mrs. C. L. Kanatzer, were present. They cooked out, with the menu being hot dogs, baked beans, potato chips, etc. They played games, took a hike, took pictures, and all agreed they had a wonderful time.

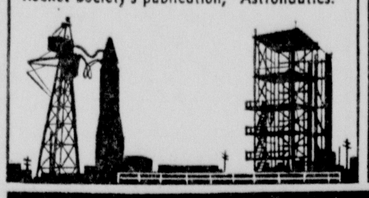
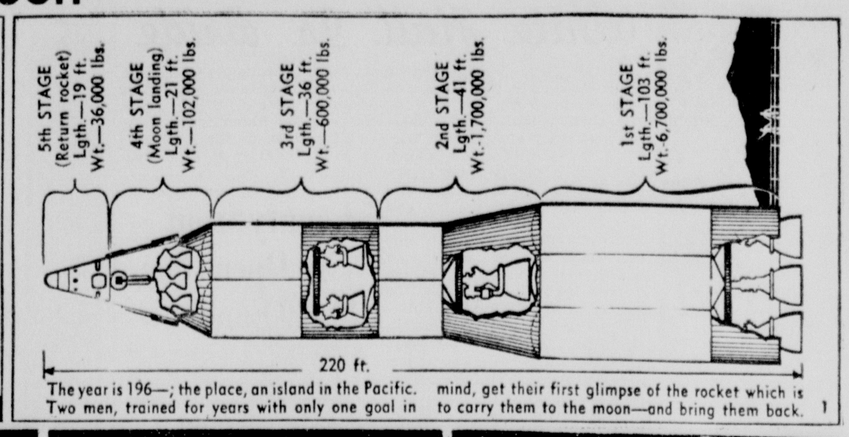
Man On The Moon—

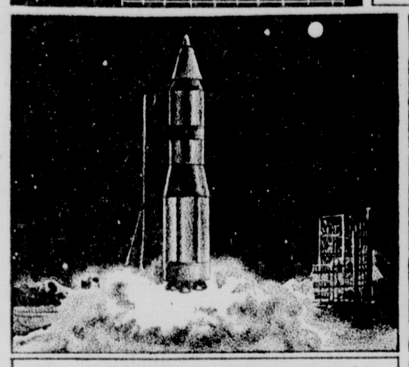
— PROJECT NOVA —

Experts predict that human beings will land on the moon within the next 10 years. A rocket for this mission has already been named by National Aeronautics and Space Administration—NOVA—a giant 200 times more powerful than Vanguard. Preliminary work on it is already underway. The following story is based on an article by Milton W. Rosen and F. C. Schwenk, which appeared in American Rocket Society's publication, "Astronautics."

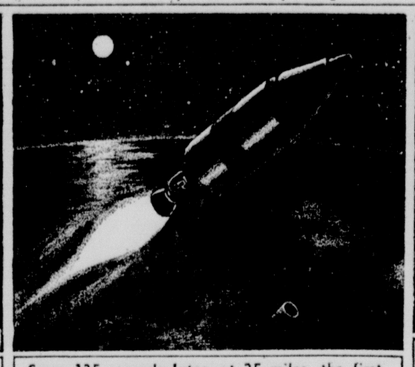




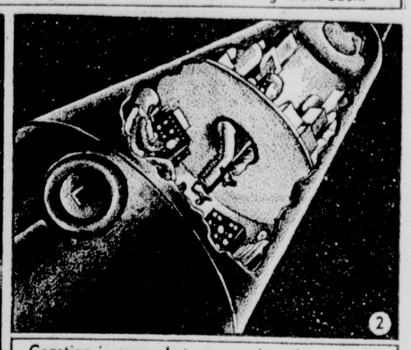
The year is 196—; the place, an island in the Pacific. Two men, trained for years with only one goal in mind, get their first glimpse of the rocket which is to carry them to the moon—and bring them back. 1



As the six 1.5-million-pound-thrust motors of its first stage ignite, Nova rises ponderously toward the heavens.



Some 135 seconds later, at 35 miles, the first stage drops off and the second fires. Three minutes later, the third.



Coasting in space between earth and moon, the passengers settle down for the 60-hour flight. Lower level of capsule holds couches and controls; upper level food and other gear. 2

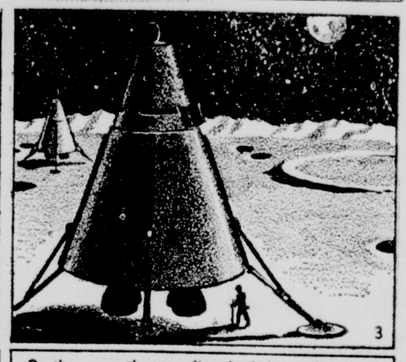
Braking rockets slow the fall of the capsule as the moon looms up, maneuvering it toward a selected landing area. Landing struts, spanning 40 feet, are now extended.



On the moon, the men disembark for exploration. Nearby is a spare, unmanned capsule which was landed earlier. 3

Sixty hours later, as it enters the earth's atmosphere, the capsule's surface glows from friction. Pieces of its outer shell burn off, carrying away the heat.

At 30,000 feet, a parachute opens and lowers the capsule to the sea where ships await it. 4

R. W. Armstrong Addresses Demo Woman's Club

The Morgan County Democratic Woman's Club met in the lounge of the Court House Tuesday evening, Oct. 15, at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Homer Baptist and Miss Hazel Strawn as hostesses. Mrs. Mable Brown, president, was in charge.

The pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Florence Wegehoft. In the absence of the secretary, the president appointed Miss Fannie Boyd, secretary pro tem. The minutes of the September meeting were read and approved.

It was announced that Mrs. Mary Strawn, oldest member of the club, would observe her 96th birthday on Oct. 26.

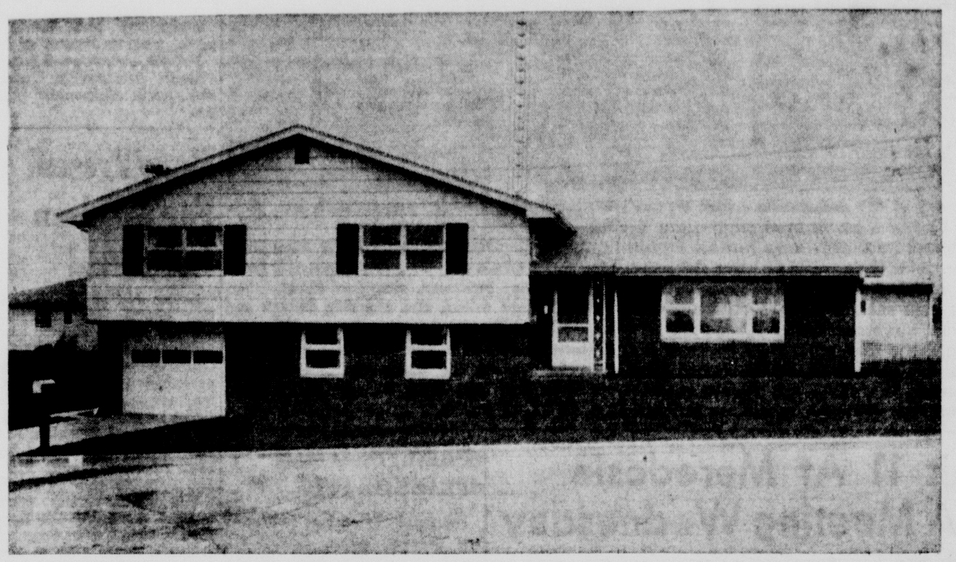
F. J. Andrews Lumber Company Presents

NEW HOME SERIES

NO. 15



Today, we take pleasure in presenting the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Martin, daughters Carol Anne, Holly and Laurel, No. 7 Newland Lane, Westgate Addition. Handsomely styled in Red brick and White siding, using Green shutters for an accent, this multi-level home offers a spacious comfortable plan, as well as beauty of design. The entry is recessed for a warm welcoming approach to the front door, and is highlighted by a White wrought-iron pillar. A distinctive shado-mould door opens the way into a spacious foyer. The foyer is a compass for the interior plan . . . louvered doors at the left give access to a guest closet; it is only a few steps past the guest closet to the kitchen; the family bedrooms are just six steps up; the bath is conveniently situated on the upper level to serve also as a guest lavatory; a half flight of stairs leads to the family room below; to the right, there is a wide entry to the living room where a triple section, awning type, picture window presents a pleasant view of the front lawn.

The living room is definitely distinguished from the foyer by a planter alcove at one side of the entry. Indirect illumination lends a dramatic effect to the planter wall which has ceiling high vertical louvers, open shelves facing the living room are incorporated in the lower section. The living room has excellent wall space for furniture arrangement, and a dining extension beyond with sliding glass doors forming a window wall that looks out and opens out to the terrace, two Duxbury designed corner china cabinets are built-in complementing the setting perfectly. A pair of louvered doors permits passage to the kitchen. Soft shades of Beige and White used for the walls and the wall-to-wall carpeting are instrumental in linking the foyer, living area and dining area together visually.

The kitchen is a homemaker's dream. A combination of brushed chrome and stainless steel appliances against the background of Nevamar laminated cabinets with a Fruitwood finish provide the ultimate in kitchen conveniences. The decorator has emphasized with color what the engineers have underscored with equipment. The countertops are Pink Formica, the Vinyl floor in a terrazo pattern has flecks of Gold set in an Oyster-white field, the dining area gains a view with colorful scenic patterned wallpaper, creating a delightful atmosphere for informal family meals. The Fruitwood finish is repeated for the top of the dinette table. The attractive kitchen completes the plan on this level

You can go down to the family room, a half flight of stairs below, so that entertaining can combine the formal and informal on both levels. In the family room, spaciousness is apparent at once, two windows provide adequate light. Congeniality and warmth are the keynotes of this room, contributed by walls painted Seafoam Green, a Vinyl tile floor in harmonizing tones, a Classic cushion-tone ceiling, and a built-in desk topped by bookshelves. At one end of the family room, games are stored in built-in cabinets, at the other end, a door gives access to the garage, which is extra deep to provide storage at the rear. To the right of the family room, a hall leads to a well-appointed lavatory, Ceramic tile in an Oatmeal shade is used for the walls and the floor. Opposite the lavatory, there is a shower stall with a swinging frosted glass door. Adjacent to the hall, a comfortable laundry room features three storage closets and a door leading directly to the back lawn. This level also accomodates the utilities.

Ascending six steps from the foyer to the upper level, a bright flurry of Edwardian flowers in wall-to-wall carpeting blends beautifully with the wallpaper to contribute unusual charm to the hall, to the left a guest room with walls and woodwork of a soft shade of Green, opens invitingly. A unique feature of the guest room is a veritable storage closet, condensed to a charming wall-piece with open shelves for displaying perfume bottles, knickknack, etc., opening out on hinges to conveniently conceal blanket storage. In the master bedroom, an integrated look is achieved by coordination of wallpaper and fabric. The use of wallpaper on one wall gives the effect of a bed niche, windows on two sides of the room are curtained in a drapery fabric with matching design. The remaining walls and woodwork are of a soft shade of Green. The third bedroom, a large, well-proportioned room, is the retreat of the Martin daughters.

Wedgewood Blue walls combine interestingly with sharp White woodwork for accent. Three beds with headboards upholstered in a harmonizing shade, ranked flush along one wall, contribute an important decorative quality to this charming room. The importance of built-ins has been stressed by the use of compartments for hats, shoes, purses, etc. In the large closets in each of the bedrooms. Louvered doors and beautifully grained hardwood floors enhance the bedrooms. The spacious bath-dressing room floor is paved with Light Grey lustre glaze Ceramic tile. To dramatize the decor, the walls are surfaced with lustre glaze Ceramic tile in shades of Coral, Yellow, Saddle-Brown, Light Grey and Slate Blue placed in unstereotyped pattern on a White background. Light Grey Ceramic tile is used for the countertop of the large vanitory, drawers and storage space below the counter are convenient additions. A full width mirror with dual apotheca cabinets incorporated adds a decorative note. The bathroom features an angle tub with shower, also a built-in towel cabinet. In the bedroom corridor plus features are a laundry chute and a large closet for linen storage. Serenity is a distinctive feature of this level.

This is a home with plenty of living space, dramatic design, and unusual charm, made possible by the consideration of every detail, and the magic of multi-level planning.

Juniors Selling Candy Door-To-Door

Members of the Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club are selling Trick or Treat candy again this year to benefit the National Brain Research Foundation. The project is state-wide for junior clubwomen. District 20, which includes Jacksonville, competes on local levels and last year the Jacksonville club placed first. The overall sale of $1,016.75 also rated the local club as third in the State. Highland Park was first and Rochelle, Ill., Juniors second. Above, the chairman, Mrs. James Orr, left, and co-chairman, Mrs. Jack Stevenson, right, leave cartons of the candy with a junior club member, Mrs. T. L. Busey, on Sunset Drive.

Members of the committee are Mrs. John Gain, Mrs. James Gibbs, Mrs. Layo Flick, Mrs. Ben Lampitt, Mrs. Ray McKinley, Mrs. Carl Schanbacher, Mrs. Richard Sellars, Mrs. Maynard Pennell and Mrs. Howard Hembrough. The door-to-door sale will continue through Oct. 23. Boxes attractively decorated sell for one dollar. Members will have booths in both local banks during business hours Oct. 16, 17, 23 and 24.

Unit 11 At Meredosia PTA Meeting Wednesday

MEREDOSIA — Wednesday night the Meredosia-Chambersburg P.T.A. held its regular meeting in the Chambersburg grade school gym, beginning the organization's policy of meeting at the different schools in Unit 11.

After the call to order by President John Stanfield, Cub Scouts advanced the flag, and led the pledge of allegiance. Mr. Stanfield introduced Miss Sprague of St. Louis, who talked about the Red Cross in Pike and Morgan counties, telling about the program, the responsibilities of the counties in the program, and the few restrictions on donors.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Perry high school gym on November 5. Mrs. Geneva Biddle, executive secretary of the Pike county chapter, joined Miss Sprague to answer questions from the audience.

Mr. Stanfield read two letters: one from the public library in Jacksonville, told of a proposed free library service for Morgan county for one year, with the possibility of a Bookmobile and book stations. Federal funds will finance the year's trial. Interested persons were asked to sign a petition which was in charge of the secretary, Mrs. Emery Hinschee.

The second letter was from the leaders of the newly-formed Girl Scout troop—Mrs. Marshall Cloyd, Mrs. Charles Adams and Mrs. Chel Young—reporting that the troop had 26 Scouts enrolled and that the leaders needed five volunteers to form a troop committee. It was voted that the P.T.A. would sponsor the Girl Scouts; the executive committee will try to find troop committee members.

Robert Chambers reported that plans for the annual Halloween Carnival, to be held in the Meredosia grade school gym October 30, are progressing nicely, and asked for suggestions for publicity. Posters will be made by grade school pupils to place in stores; letters will be written to radio and TV stations.

Mr. Young announced that the high school Homecoming dance will be on Monday, Oct. 26, following the football game with Brown county B squad.

Mr. Stanfield commended the yearbook committee on their work in preparing the program booklet for distribution at this meeting.

The refreshment committee for November will be Mrs. James Major, Mrs. Wilbur Kunzeman, Mrs. Gerald Dugan, Mrs. Wanda Dunmire; Mrs. Robert Dennis and Mrs. Jobe. The November meeting will be at the Meredosia grade school November 4, as Veterans' Day falls on the regular date.

Mrs. Major introduced Miss Kheali Nandy of Calcutta, India, a 1959 graduate of the University of Illinois and now attending MacMurray on a graduate fellowship. Miss Nandy told of her education, both in India and in this country; of social customs, food and the difference in preparation here and there; about some of the religious festivals and the marriage ceremony. After her talk, she answered numerous questions. She wore a beautiful red silk sari.

Refreshments of doughnuts, coffee and milk were served in the cafeteria.

Strawn Women Enjoy Program By Mrs. Newbery

The Strawn's Crossing Woman's Club met Tuesday Oct. 13, at the home of Mrs. Ethel Strawn. The president, Mrs. J. E. Rawlings, presided.

Mrs. Roy Newbery presented the program for the afternoon showing pictures taken on an auto trip to California via Salt Lake City, Las Vegas, San Francisco, Yosemite Valley, Hoover Dam and Grand Canyon.

A second set of pictures showed scenes taken while motoring to Texas and Mexico with the King Ranch near Corpus Christi, Tex. being of special interest.

During the social hour, the hostess served refreshments. Guests were Mrs. Grace Davenport, Mrs. Edna Norfleet, Mrs. Grace Davis and Mrs. Hettie Strawn. The next meeting will be Oct. 29 at Hamilton's Cafe with Mrs. A. S. Bosier as hostess.

SPRINGFIELD MAN SPEAKS OF TRIP

ROODHOUSE — Roy Young of the Marine Bank, Springfield, spoke before the local Rotary club Wednesday night on his recent trip to Russia. W. W. Wilkinson was in charge of the program.

Rotarians Stanley Funk, Springfield; Emmett Murphy and Bob Crouch, Jerseyville; Dean Waltrip, Jimmy Hopkins and Junior Rotarians Bob Dawdy and Bill Boston were also present.

News Notes

The last session of the West Central Association Teachers Training will be held in the local First Baptist Church on next Tuesday night where ten classes will be in session during the evening. Mrs. Irwin Davis, Jerseyville, is chairman for the Leadership Training, representing the board of Christian Education for the district. On the first Tuesday night, 152 persons were in attendance and on the second night, 151. The deaconesses of the local church and their helpers have served as hostesses for the coffee break each school night.

Sylvia Williams Of White Hall Is Bride

WHITE HALL — Miss Sylvia Irene Williams of White Hall and John H. Lindholm, Jr., of York, Pennsylvania, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, October tenth, at the Christian church here. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williams and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Lindholm of York.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Bannen Swope, long time friend of the groom's family, assisted by the pastor, Reverend Ruth Nicklin.

Mrs. Carl Moulton presided at the organ and accompanied Alene Love who sang "Because," "The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Mrs. Donald Coonrod was matron of honor, Miss Mariann Schmalz of White Hall and Miss Kay Westerman of Nashville, Tennessee, were bridesmaids and junior maids were the bride's sisters, Charlene and Claudia.

Little Francisca Wallace was flower girl and wore a white frock with gold sash and carried a basket of rose petals.

Wears Imported Gown

The bride wore a classic gown of Italian taffeta and Alencon lace. She carried Fuji mums with a white orchid. The matron of honor wore autumn green peau de soie, sheath cut with conventional length skirt with organza overskirt. The other attendants wore the same style in a gold shade and carried clusters of grapes with fall foliage.

Reception at Church

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony. Gold with white were used in appointments at the serving table set with silver and crystal. The tiered bride's cake was encircled with a wreath of frosted grapes and foliage of natural wheat extended from under the tulle skirt about the table. Mrs. Ben Nunes, aunt of the bride, arranged the decor.

Honeymoon In Bermuda

HELP FOR DWARFED

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Pencil marks on a kitchen wall that measure a little boy's growth bring more than the usual smile to Dr. Philip H. Henneman of the Seton Hall University College of Medicine.

Dr. Henneman has made it possible for a few dwarfed youngsters to gain an inch or two in height through administration of shots gleaned from the pituitary gland. He is engaged in research here, hoping to expand the program.

Plan 1960 International Fair Here On March Fifth

Members of the local Council for Exceptional Children are already making the detailed plans for the third bi-annual International Fair to be held this year on March 5. Fair's in 1956 and 1958 were held at Lincoln school. This year to accomodate more people the Council has obtained permission to use Jonathan Turner junior high school with its large cafeteria and ample parking space for the many hundreds that enjoy this event.

Miss Eloise Kennedy, imports; Miss Newell, pastries; Mrs. Doris Orman, chairman of dinner committee; Miss Virginia Nielson, theatre; Miss Mary Corlett, adviser; Thomas Svob, arrangements and William Walsh, co-chairman for Fair. Two were unable to be present, Miss Bothwell, publicity and David Mudgett, technical director.

Many new and interesting features are being added this year. The 1960 theme will center around the "Snow Countries," with the menu for the Foreign Dinner featuring a wide variety of Scandanavian foods.

Carrying out the Snow Countries theme a picturesque "Skansen will replace the Flea Market, operated at previous Fairs. The "Skansen" will provide the many special attractions found in an authentic Swedish amusement park.

Already a committee is busy unpacking boxes and boxes of lovely imported articles from the "Snow Countries" that will be offered for sale to those attending the Fair. The International Fair enjoys an enviable reputation not only in Jacksonville but in surrounding communities. The announcement of the time and place answers many inquiries of late from enthused patrons of past years.

Japan Adopts U.S. System Of Buying On Installment Plan

TOKYO (AP) — The American system of buy now—pay later is sweeping Japan, where the installment plan was once considered shameful.

Monthly payments for such goods as electric refrigerators, washing machines and television sets previously were almost unknown.

But the boom has come in the last few years from the postwar urge of Japanese housewives to have a house full of electric gadgets and pressure from Japanese industry for new outlets.

Economists say it is playing a major role in Japan's developing consumer economy — a radical departure from the traditional concept that Japanese should be thrifty if they wish to survive.

Only at great sacrifice could most Japanese save the money needed for cash purchases of luxury appliances. TV sets and refrigerators cost from two to three times the average man's monthly salary.

Sales leaped from less than half a billion dollars in 1954 to more than one billion in 1957. The survey estimated installment buying accounted for 5.2 to 6.9 per cent of individual expenditures.

The purchase of an estimated three million television sets in the past two years is attributed to installment buying.

Most retail stores sell on installments of up to 12 months, some even on longer terms.

Cass Woman's Club Hears County Report

CHANDLERVILLE — The Chandlerville Woman's Club met in regular session Monday evening, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the club room. Mrs. Edmund Sarff, president, called the meeting to order. The pledge of allegiance was given.

Mrs. James Merwin, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report. Mrs. Sarff gave a report of the county board meeting and announced the following meeting dates: Wednesday, Oct. 14, Regional meeting held in Peoria; Friday, Oct. 16, County meeting held in Arenzville; Thursday, Oct. 29, in Lewiston.

Mrs. John F. Fearn, chairman of the ways and means committee, read an article on money making projects. The first project of the year will be selling light bulbs.

Miss Dorothy Fridlund was unable to be present at the meeting. The group sang "America the Beautiful," with Mrs. J. H. Scott at the piano.

Mrs. A. W. Nelson announced the November program and presented Miss Julia Force, chairman of the evening program, who presented Mrs. Lowell Barrett who introduced the speaker, Rev. Matthew Ikeda. He presented a very interesting talk on the meaning of citizenship and friendship among nations.

The hymn of the month was "Onward Christian Soldiers." Refreshments were served by the hostesses from a beautiful table centered with a pot of yellow flowers.

Men's Fellowship Elects Officers In White Hall

WHITE HALL—The Men's Fellowship of the First Christian Church met at the church on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Officers were elected for the ensuing year including Robert Cunningham, president; Earl Eastham, 1st vice president; Wayne Bottom, 2nd vice president; Dale Black, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Glen Vandaveer was hostess at her home on Thursday afternoon to members of the Loyal Daughters class of the First Christian Church. A silent auction was held and business of the class transacted. The hostess served refreshments.

Greene Ministers

The Greene County Ministers Association met Wednesday morning at the Methodist church in this city with about ten in attendance. The group is planning a regular organization of all county ministers, of which there are some thirty and pro-tem officers were elected to continue the organizational plans until such time as regular officers can take over.

Rev. Robert Pitsch of Carrollton was elected president pro-tem; Rev. Potter of Greenfield, secretary pro-tem. The group plans to meet in Greenfield at the Baptist church on Nov. 10, and ministers of the county are urged to attend this meeting.

Pike Men Leave For Hunting Trip In South Dakota

Circle To Meet

On Thursday Oct. 22, Circle One of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Orr. Mrs. Minnie Jones will have the program. Circle three will meet the same day with Mrs. Harry Ayres. Both meetings are at 2:00 p.m.

To Speak In City

Miss Ruth Maxwell, Miss Gloria Oberstein and Miss Bess Sprague of St. Louis will be in Pittsfield Sunday to speak at the Annual American Red Cross meeting at the Community Center at 2:30. These ladies are all from the St. Louis Blood Center.

Select Plays

The Junior Class has chosen "Boarding House Reach" as its class play. It is a three act comedy with seven boys and nine girls. The play will be given on Nov. 20. The Speech class has selected two one act plays, "Thanks Awfully" and "Ring Around the Rosy." They plan to present these around the first of November.

Wins Top Rating

Friday Night Scores

Rushville 6 Pittsfield 6

RUSHVILLE — Rushville and Pittsfield battled it out in a deadlocked game Friday night with the game ending, 6-6. This gave both teams a 2 won record and Rushville marks up its second tie game while Pittsfield tied their first. Rushville has lost only one game with the Pittsfield team having two losses.

In the first quarter Rushville took the kick-off and marched up to the 15 yard line before losing control of the pigskin on a fumble. Pittsfield then took the ball to the midfield stripe before the quarter ended.

Then as play resumed in the second quarter Dean Paisley intercepted a Pittsfield pass and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. The conversion was no good and the half ended with Rushville leading by a score of 6-0.

Pittsfield came back in the third quarter with a touchdown after Rushville had fumbled. The Rushville team fumbled at least 7 times during the game and had some 15 off-side penalties called against them.

Triopia 46 Bluffs 6

BLUFFS—The Triopia Trojans downed the Bluffs eleven by the score of 47-6 to give the Trojans their second win over 2 losses and one tie. For Bluffs it was their first loss over 3 wins.

Don Jonnson and Kershaw paced the Triopia team with 3 and 2 TD's, respectively. Johnson also made an extra point as did Kershaw to give them 32 points between them. Other men adding to the score for the Trojans were Alan Anderson with 7 points, Carl Hansmier with 6 and Mark Abernathy with 1.

The lone score for the Bluffs team was made by Bruce to give them their 6 points of the game.

Score By Quarters:

Triopia	21	12	6	6
Bluffs	0	0	0	6

Virginia 28 Hardin 0

HARDIN — Virginia won its fourth game of the season Friday night when they defeated Hardin by the score of 28-0, in an Illinois Valley Conference game.

The first quarter saw much line play by Virginia and good defensive play on the part of both teams. The Virginia backfield was especially good with hard hitting through the line.

Then in the second quarter Virginia scored two touchdowns, both by Butch Marr. Both of the points after touchdown were good on runs.

The third quarter again saw Butch Marr go over the stripe into the end zone for a TD and the conversion was attempted and made on another run.

In the final quarter Reggie Velten scored a touchdown and the extra point was good giving the Virginia team a score of 28 to 0 for Hardin. However, it might be noted that the Hardin team had 3 men out of action due to injuries.

For Virginia it was 402 yards gained on rushing while Hardin gained 115 in the same manner. Virginia also edged Hardin out through the air with 31 yards to Hardin's 21. In pass attempts, it was Hardin out in front with 6 attempts and 2 completions while Virginia attempted 5 and completed only 1.

Macomb 18 Havana 13

HAVANA — Macomb's Bombers scored from the half-foot line in the final quarter to down Ken Weeks' Havana Ducks Friday night, 18-13. Havana had its chance for victory in the final quarter also but fumbled on the one-foot line.

Carl Liles and Bud Prince scored all of Macomb's tallies on runs of 32, 17 and half-a-foot yardage.

The loss was Havana's fourth against a single triumph. It was Macomb's second win against two losses and one tie.

Macomb	6	6	0	6—18
Havana	7	0	6	0—13

Staunton 18 Carlinville 7

CARLINVILLE—Staunton broke loose for three TD's in the second half to beat Carlinville in a South Central Conference tussle here Friday night, 18-7.

Carlinville's only tally came in the initial period of play on a one-yard plunge by John Kele. Dean McKee added the point after on a run for a 7-0 lead that held up through halftime.

Larry Kuba scored twice for the victors and Rex France hit paydirt once to assure Staunton of its fourth victory. The defeat was Carlinville's fourth in five starts. The only win was a 7-0 decision from Jerseyville.

Staunton	0	0	6	12—18
Carlinville	7	0	0	0— 7

Greenfield 20 White Hall 0

GREENFIELD—Greenfield won its first game of the season Friday night with a 20-0 win over White Hall in an Illinois Valley Conference game. This was the fourth loss for White Hall over one win.

In the first quarter Wilbur Wellhausen made a touchdown from the one yard line on a line plunge and the conversion was made good by Gary Bettis on a run.

Then in the second quarter Ronnie Meyer made a TD from the 6 yard line on another fine run. This time the point after failed.

Winchester 13 Pleasant Hill 7

PLEASANT HILL—An Illinois Valley Conference game saw the Winchester eleven edge out the Pleasant Hill Wolvs for a 13-7 victory.

The first quarter was scoreless with both teams playing good defensive ball which held the respective offenses to a standstill.

Then in the second quarter the Pleasant Hill team scored first and added the conversion to give them a 7-0 lead at the half.

In the third quarter Winchester came back with a TD early in the quarter but failed to make the PAT good. They also scored again in the same quarter and this time the conversion was good Pleasant Hill Wolves for a 13-7 score. It might be noted that in the third quarter Winchester passed a lot and made most of their first downs that way. The last Winchester TD was set up on a pass play from the 12 yard line to Tom Flynn and he fell into the end zone for the touchdown. Brown ran the PAT.

For Pleasant Hill Dee Springer and Bob Ruyle both made 20

A HISTORIC TRACK

ONLY IN REVERSE

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Roy E. McLean thinks he would have made it across the waters of Hampton Roads with his outboard putt-putting in reverse, but the Coast Guard insisted on an assist.

McLean wanted to get home and said the motor would run only in reverse. He was holding a flashlight over the stern when the Coast Guard arrived and gave him a tow.

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Bradley University basketball drills get underway this week and Bobby Joe Mason of Centralia will be eligible for the first semester as he graduates in February. Mike Owens, Al Saunders and Danny Smith are back from the team of last season that won 25 and lost 4 games, finished second in the N.I.T. Other upperclassmen due to report Friday are guards Chuck Granby, Chuck Hewitt and Billy Roecker, center Don Kissock, and forwards Ed Kissel and Larry Mormino. Coach Orsborn is starting his fourth season of basketball coaching at his alma mater with a record of 67-18 or .788 per cent. He has taken each of his three squads to a post-season tournament. The season gets underway with Abilene Christian on December 3 and ends March 5 in St. Louis at Kiel Auditorium.

Coach Harry Sockler's Western high of Macomb football teams have not lost a game since 1956 and won the Lamoine Valley title for seven years in a row. The Sockler-coached Western teams have won 51, lost 5 and tied 2 since he took over as head mentor of the Redbirds. Macomb is a football hot bed as Western Illinois U. has won nine straight football games and might go unbeaten the entire season. Coach Lou Saban of the Leathernecks said earlier that the first four games of the season would be the hardest and their explosive attack has netted 1440 yards. Halfback Larry Garron returned a kickoff 102 yards for a touchdown against Southern Illinois U. last week. Leroy Jackson of Bloom (Chicago Heights), former Illinois high school sprint champion, holds down the other halfback position.

Jacksonville high wants to fill an open date of November 13 in the football chart and Christian Brothers high (Quincy) wants to fill an open date of October 23. Morrisonville high school won the CMS conference fall baseball championship by winning the first seven games and finished with a 7-1 mark for the campaign. Coach Jack Klosterman at Effingham high school praises his quarterback, Eddie Smith, by stating "I feel Eddie is the best quarterback in Southern Illinois, he beats any boy I've seen or heard about. He's the best passer I've had in 12 years of high school coaching." Effingham lost ace fullback, Elmer Sparrow, because of the new 19 year old age limit as he was 19 last Tuesday.

Pittsfield's Saukees will face Beardstown at the Pike County high school field on October 30 and it will be the final home game of the 1959 season for the Indians of Coach Glenn C. Smith. Canton is another high school team with only one game remaining at home as Coach Walt Grebe's strong Farmington Farmers will play at Canton to end the season for the "Little Giants" on November 14. Canton played four straight games at home to open the campaign and go on the road for four games before entertaining their Fulton County rival, Highland Park and DePue are high school teams called Little Giants and the Canton Little Giants were formerly called "Bulldogs."

Galesburg's new high school gym will be completed the first of November in plenty of time for the basketball season. Backboards were shipped last Monday and will be installed this week, two will be of steel and four of glass. The bleacher seat installation for the gym is about 60 per cent completed and the auditorium sections will be installed next week.

Jim Summers is Bradley's hard luck halfback from Arlington Heights as he suffered an injury for the third straight year. He had appeared to be just coming into his own, suffered a displaced cartilage and went to the St. Francis hospital in Peoria Tuesday to undergo surgery. He missed most of last season with a broken leg and he will be out of action for the remainder of the current season.

Marshall Starks, junior halfback at Illinois U., has been named to replace Ethan Blackaby of Canton in the backfield for the game against Minnesota U. at Champaign. Coach Harry Combes will be looking for a replacement for Roger Taylor, captain of the Illinois U. cage team last season who graduated last June. Jerry Curless of Table Grove and Doug Mills of Galesburg are two top-notch Soph stars ready to make the traveling squad for the 1959-60 campaign. Mannie Jackson of Edwardsville is expected to take over the play-making chores of the Illini as he formerly starred in the state tourney for Coach Joe Lucco's Tigers.

NBA OPENS 14TH SEASON

BOSTON (AP) — The National Basketball Assn. opens its 14th season Saturday afternoon with a nationally televised—NBC 4 p.m. EST—game between the Cincinnati Royals and the champion Boston Celtics.

It's the only game on the opening schedule, which sends Detroit against Minneapolis in another nationally televised afternoon game Sunday.

Jacks Hit Paydirt Three Times In First Stanza To Annex Win

JERSEYVILLE — Bob Kraushaar's Crimsons hit paydirt with regularity in the first quarter and then breezed home with a 26-6 triumph to spoil Jerseyville's homecoming festivities Friday night.

The victory was Jacksonville's third straight and the biggest score ever run up against Jerseyville in the two schools' three-year gridiron series. It was defeat number three for Joe Jurkanin's Panthers after a pair of opening victories.

From the opening kickoff, it was evident Jacksonville was seeking revenge after Jerseyville had spoiled the 1958 Crimson homecoming with a 13-13 tie. The tie also had snapped a 24-game winning string.

The Crimsons received and on the first play from scrimmage, right halfback Don Schillinger scampered 74 yards to score but a clipping penalty off-set the tally and JHS had charge on the Panther 23. Seven plays later on a fourth down and goal to go, QB Dick Parker scored from six yards out on a keeper play. Parker failed to convert and it was 6-0, Jacksonville's favor.

After Jerseyville had driven to their own 44, they gambled on fourth down and lost on downs. On the first play, Schillinger got a key block from Tom Long and dashed 44 yards to score for a 12-0 spread. A run for the PAT was short.

A Jerseyville punt gave JHS possession on the Panther 46 to set up the third TD of the chapter. The Crimsons fumbled but Jerseyville was off-sides and JHS advanced to the 41. On an explosion play up the middle, Ken Norton took a handoff, cut for the sidelines and went the 41 yards to score for an 18-0 margin. Norton booted the point after.

Several outstanding features for Jacksonville in the first half were the long kickoffs out of the playing field by Norton and the overall play of tackle Bob Rieman on defense.

Jerseyville threatened in the second quarter by marching 73 yards only to see the drive halted on Jacksonville's eight-yard line. The Crimsons took over and shook Gary Spangenberg loose for a 67 yard run before he was caught from the rear by Roger Gross on the Panther 25. JHS drove to the five but failed to score and Jerseyville chewed up the remaining time on short gains.

Jacksonville had its back to the wall to open the third period when the out of bounds kickoff was put in play on the 40 and the Crimsons were given a 15-yard penalty a play later. The Crimsons stymied the threat however when Rieman recovered a fumble after the Panthers had penetrated to the 17. Following a pickup to the 27, Dick Parker hit Gary Spangenberg with a 25 yard pass and Spangenberg toted the mail 29 yards before he was stopped on the Panther 19.

JHS moved to the nine, lost back to the 13, then had a 15-yard step-off back to the 28 and faced a third down situation after an incomplete pass. On a roll-out pass play, Gary Spangenberg aimed for the coffin-corner and hit his target in Don Schillinger for JHS' final tally. Norton split the uprights and Jerseyville was trailing, 26-0.

SPECIAL RULE

Fanciers of oldtime steam-driven threshing machines display their collections at the annual fair. They are allowed to toot the steam whistles any time except during the harness race programs.

Racing officials say the steam whistles are so piercing they fear the blasts might frighten the pacing and trotting horses, causing the racers to break stride.

by DON SHUMAKER

One way to break into a feature role in television is to first "wangle" a small part in "The Gale Storm Show." Relative unknowns yearning for the proverbial Hollywood break rate this popular series as a real showcase and so do producers. During the current season the new comedy programs will have a glittering roster of guest stars — but it also will cast a number of budding Fess Parkers, Chuck Connorses and Craig Stevenses. These and many other "arrived" players look upon "The Gale Storm Show" as a sort of alma mater. Parker was signed by Walt Disney for the biggest role of his career, "Davy Crockett," a week after he appeared in the show. Connors moved from a featured part in the series to stardom in "The Rifleman." A showcasing helped to springboard Stevens to "Peter Gunn" success.

Pay dirt also was struck on "The Gale Storm Show" by John Russell, star of "The Lawman." Buddy Bergman and Salvatore Baccaloni made their debut in offbeat roles in the series. The show provided stepping stones, too, for Jacques Bergerac, Russell Arms, Judi Meredith, Lisa Lu, Joi Lansing, Dianne Brewster, Andra Martin, Keith Andes and Rick Jones. Some of these thespians had few show credits when they appeared with Gale Storm. Now, returning for even similarly minor or semi-featured roles, they would classify as guest stars. The TV set now plays a very important role in most American homes, so it must have both style and beauty. RCA Victor TV cabinets are stylish and beautiful, made from the finest woods by skilled craftsmen. You will be proud to own any one of the many beautiful styles available. And inside these cabinets are the latest electronic developments — for your greater viewing pleasure. Before buying any set, see an RCA Victor demonstration at SHUMAKER TV & APPLIANCES, 222 East State Street. Phone 5-6595.

SLAM CONTRACT IS GOOD RISK

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South won the opening spade lead in dummy and played ace, king and a small heart which he ruffed. Since the hearts broke 3-3 South's troubles were over. He drew trumps, cashed the king of clubs, overtook the queen with dummy's ace, discarded two diamonds on dummy's last two hearts and made his slam.

"Horseshoes," mumbled East. "You bid a bad slam and played it worse but the 3-3 heart break came to your rescue."

East was wrong on both counts. The slam was a good risk, although not a sure thing. To start with it would be a lay down if East held the diamond ace. Or West might have decided to lead that card right off the bat.

Then South gave himself the best chance. If hearts broke 4-2 he would have established one heart for a diamond discard. The play of a diamond to his king would have been a final resort.

When the hearts broke for him, he "had it made."

Altar Society To Cook Burgoo At Arenzville

ARENZVILLE—The Altar Society of St. Fidelis Catholic church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fran Hobrock, with Mrs. Katie Lutkehus presiding. The meeting opened with prayer, and Mrs. Bascom Beets read the secretary's report, and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs Robert Clark. Mrs. J. A. Shannon and Mrs. Patterson McLain were appointed as a nominating committee, to report in November. A report of the rummage sale held recently in Jacksonville was given.

Plans were completed for the cooking of burgoo soup for kettle service only on Oct. 28, serving to begin at 3 p.m. A market will also be held at this time. Mrs. Albert Kolberer, Miss Elsie Kolberer and Mrs. William Jones were appointed as a buying committee for this project. Names were drawn for cleaning of the church for the coming year. The meeting closed with prayer.

Miss Mary Louise Lutkehus was a guest, and there were 14 members present. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

League Wiener Roast

The Fellowship League of Trinity Lutheran church enjoyed a social evening Sunday, and the evening began with a wiener roast, with 17 couples and 32 children present. Group games were played, and later doughnuts and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lovekamp and family were guests. The committee for the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kunzeman, Mr and Mrs. Merle Lovekamp, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Witte.

THE DARK FANTASTIC

They hurtled along through the night, back the way she had come. Mallory held the microphone against his mouth and tried to raise sector headquarters at San Ysidro.

"Why don't they answer?" he muttered. "Has everybody gone to sleep?"

"Keep trying," Cloris soothed him. "They'll hear you."

"Once the truck gets to Tecate, we're dead. There's a hundred places they can cross the wire without being seen." With a burst of anger, he yelled into the microphone, "Border Patrol H.Q.—where are you?"

They were startled by the crackle of the loudspeaker. A man's voice said, "Sector here. I read you. Is that you, Mallory?"

"You bet it is! Get me the duty officer."

Malloy said, "I've located the truck—does that suit you? It's somewhere between the Rancho El Carizo cutoff and Tecate, heading north. Map coordinates A-17, K-12. I'm in hot pursuit but it's got the jump on me."

"Do you know that Dr. Howard is somewhere in that area, too?"

"She's with me. Or I'm with her, I don't know which. How soon can you get here?"

"Half-hour," Kelso said. "Keep in touch."

Mallory replaced the microphone on its hook and grinned weakly at Cloris. "Well, sweetheart, it's up to us. In a half-hour, Blackjack will be across the line—Guthrie, the truck, the whole shebang."

The miles bounced away beneath them along with the minutes and still they saw nothing but the grim silhouettes of a desolate highland. "That truck is loaded—it can't make very fast time," Mallory muttered. He didn't sound as if he believed himself.

They reached the ridge south of Tecate where the abandoned highway met the border road, the asphalt paving that ran roughly parallel to the international line on the Mexican side. Sometimes it veered within a few rods of the fence, sometimes it dodged south to avoid a difficult mountain slope. "Which way?" Cloris asked. On the hard surface there were no longer any tracks to follow.

"Wait." Mallory crawled out of the jeep, kneeled on the asphalt. He rose, took a few steps and kneeled again. In a moment he returned to the jeep, some pyramidal bits of mud in his hand. "Dropped out of the truck's tread, not a very common make of tire." He flung the mud away. "Head west. I'm betting they'll try to break through the wire as soon as they see a good spot."

* * *

They rubbed their eyes and widened them at the dark streak of winding road, seeking another sign of something, anything. Then Mallory let out a yell of exultation. "I see it—the truck!" With his good arm he struggled to pull a rifle from the rack.

Now, as if the reality had magnetized them, they closed rapidly on the slower moving vehicle. Its driver had evidently become aware of them, also. The truck careened back and forth on the highway, jerked and then abruptly plunged off the road across a broad meadow dotted with the crouched shapes of mesquite. As its headlights swung, they brought into quick, miraculous view the five strands of barbed wire, the token barrier that separated Mexico from the United States. The wire was less than a 100 yards away.

Bracing the rifle against his unhurt shoulder, Mallory fired at the fleeing truck. This time there was no need to wait upon a challenge; the truck itself was a proven enemy, along with those it carried, whether human or animal or invisible. The threat was too murderous to permit surrender—and plague had not known surrender for thousands of years.

* * *

His first two bullets had no effect. Monster-like, the big wheeled creature lumbered on through the knee-high meadow grass, bearing straight for the flimsy fence.

"Stop the car!" Mallory commanded. As the jeep skidded to a halt, he scrambled over the side and, using the hood as a support to steady the rifle, began to pour a stream of slugs into the truck. He was aiming not for the tires or the dark blur that was the driver, but for the spare gasoline tanks, plainly visible on the side. Two disparate thoughts ballooned in his mind until they shut out every other sensation. One was the vast importance of keeping the head-sight lined on the gasoline tanks, the tiny globe of metal that momentarily had assumed the size of the world. The other was that regret that Aguilar couldn't be here, for this was his kill, too.

The rifle clicked empty in his hand. He drew his pistol and fired until it did the same. An explosion of light rocked the field as one of the bullets ignited the gasoline vapor. A blossom of flame drew up the side of the truck, shooting forth petals of brilliant orange. It changed, flowered into fingers of fire that mounted the canvas sides as if clawing for the sky. The truck swung in a half-circle and stopped, broadside to the fence 30 yards away.

Pike Men Leave For Hunting Trip In South Dakota

Circle To Meet

On Thursday Oct. 22, Circle One of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Orr. Mrs. Minnie Jones will have the program. Circle three will meet the same day with Mrs. Harry Ayres. Both meetings are at 2:00 p.m.

To Speak In City

Miss Ruth Maxwell, Miss Gloria Oberstein and Miss Bess Sprague of St. Louis will be in Pittsfield Sunday to speak at the Annual American Red Cross meeting at the Community Center at 2:30. These ladies are all from the St. Louis Blood Center.

Select Plays

The Junior Class has chosen "Boarding House Reach" as its class play. It is a three act comedy with seven boys and nine girls. The play will be given on Nov. 20. The Speech class has selected two one act plays, "Thanks Awfully" and "Ring Around the Rosy." They plan to present these around the first of November.

Wins Top Rating

Friday Night Scores

Rushville 6 Pittsfield 6

RUSHVILLE — Rushville and Pittsfield battled it out in a deadlocked game Friday night with the game ending, 6-6. This gave both teams a 2 won record and Rushville marks up its second tie game while Pittsfield tied their first. Rushville has lost only one game with the Pittsfield team having two losses.

In the first quarter Rushville took the kick-off and marched up to the 15 yard line before losing control of the pigskin on a fumble. Pittsfield then took the ball to the midfield stripe before the quarter ended.

Then as play resumed in the second quarter, Dean Paisley intercepted a Pittsfield pass and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. The conversion was no good and the half ended with Rushville leading by a score of 6-0.

Pittsfield came back in the third quarter with a touchdown after Rushville had fumbled. The Rushville team fumbled at least 7 times during the game and had some 15 off-side penalties called against them.

The final quarter was played as a defensive battle with even ball on the part of both sides and neither team could push over for a winning TD.

Triopia 46 Bluffs 6

BLUFFS—The Triopia Trojans downed the Bluffs eleven by the score of 47-6 to give the Trojans their second win over 2 losses and one tie. For Bluffs it was their first loss over 3 wins.

Don Jonnson and Kershaw paced the Triopia team with 3 and 2 TD's, respectively. Johnson also made an extra point as did Kershaw to give them 32 points between them. Other men adding to the score for the Trojans were Alan Anderson with 7 points, Carl Hansmier with 6 and Mark Abernathy with 1.

The lone score for the Bluffs team was made by Bruce to give them their 6 points of the game.

Score By Quarters:

Triopia	21	12	6	6
Bluffs	0	0	0	6

Virginia 28 Hardin 0

HARDIN — Virginia won its fourth game of the season Friday night when they defeated Hardin by the score of 28-0, in an Illinois Valley Conference game.

The first quarter saw much line play by Virginia and good defensive play on the part of both teams. The Virginia backfield was especially good with hard hitting through the line.

Then in the second quarter Virginia scored two touchdowns, both by Butch Marr. Both of the points after touchdown were good on runs.

The third quarter again saw Butch Marr go over the stripe into the end zone for a TD and the conversion was attempted and made on another run.

In the final quarter Reggie Velten scored a touchdown and the extra point was good giving the Virginia team a score of 28 to 0 for Hardin. However, it might be noted that the Hardin team had 3 men out of action due to injuries.

For Virginia it was 402 yards gained on rushing while Hardin gained 115 in the same manner. Virginia also edged Hardin out through the air with 31 yards to Hardin's 21. In pass attempts, it was Hardin out in front with 6 attempts and 2 completions while Virginia attempted 5 and completed only 1.

Macomb 18 Havana 13

HAVANA — Macomb's Bombers scored from the half-foot line in the final quarter to down Ken Weeks' Havana Ducks Friday night, 18-13. Havana had its chance for victory in the final quarter also but fumbled on the one-foot line.

Carl Liles and Bud Prince scored all of Macomb's tallies on runs of 32, 17 and half-a-foot yardage.

The loss was Havana's fourth against a single triumph. It was Macomb's second win against two losses and one tie.

Macomb	6	6	0	6—18

Staunton 18 Carlinville 7

CARLINVILLE—Staunton broke loose for three TD's in the second half to beat Carlinville in a South Central Conference tussle here Friday night, 18-7.

Carlinville's only tally came in the initial period of play on a one-yard plunge by John Kele. Dean McKee added the point after on a run for a 7-0 lead that's held up through halftime.

Larry Kuba scored twice for the victors and Rex France hit paydirt once to assure Staunton of its fourth victory. The defeat was Carlinville's fourth in five starts. The only win was a 7-0 decision from Jerseyville.

Staunton	0	0	6	12—18

Greenfield 20 White Hall 0

GREENFIELD—Greenfield won its first game of the season Friday night with a 20-0 win over White Hall in an Illinois Valley Conference game. This was the fourth loss for White Hall over one win.

In the first quarter Wilbur Wellhausen made a touchdown from the one yard line on a line plunge and the conversion was made good by Gary Bettis on a run.

Then in the second quarter Ronnie Meyer made a TD from the 6 yard line on another fine run. This time the point after failed.

The third quarter saw no action resulting in a TD from either team. In this quarter both defensive teams stiffened up a good deal.

Winchester 13 Pleasant Hill 7

PLEASANT HILL—An Illinois Valley Conference game saw the Winchester eleven edge out the Pleasant Hill Wolvs for a 13-7 victory.

The first quarter was scoreless with both teams playing good defensive ball which held the respective offenses to a standstill.

Then in the second quarter the Pleasant Hill team scored first and added the conversion to give them a 7-0 lead at the half.

In the third quarter Winchester came back with a TD early in the quarter but failed to make the PAT good. They also scored again in the same quarter and this time the conversion was good Pleasant Hill Wolves for a 13-7 score. It might be noted that in the third quarter Winchester passed a lot and made most of their first downs that way. The last Winchester TD was set up on a pass play from the 12 yard line to Tom Flynn and he fell into the end zone for the touchdown. Brown ran the PAT.

A HISTORIC TRACK

ONLY IN REVERSE

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Roy E. McLean thinks he would have made it across the waters of Hampton Roads with his outboard putt-putting in reverse, but the Coast Guard insisted on an assist.

McLean wanted to get home and said the motor would run only in reverse. He was holding a flashlight over the stern when the Coast Guard arrived and gave him a tow.

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Bradley University basketball drills get underway this week and Bobby Joe Mason of Centralia will be eligible for the first semester as he graduates in February. Mike Owens, Al Saunders and Danny Smith are back from the team of last season that won 25 and lost 4 games, finished second in the N.I.T. Other upperclassmen due to report Friday are guards Chuck Granby, Chuck Hewitt and Billy Roecker, center Don Kissock, and forwards Ed Kissel and Larry Mormino. Coach Orsborn is starting his fourth season of basketball coaching at his alma mater with a record of 67-18 or .788 per cent. He has taken each of his three squads to a post-season tournament. The season gets underway with Abilene Christian on December 3 and ends March 5 in St. Louis at Kiel Auditorium.

Coach Harry Sockler's Western high of Macomb football teams have not lost a game since 1956 and won the Lamoine Valley title for seven years in a row. The Sockler-coached Western teams have won 51, lost 5 and tied 2 since he took over as head mentor of the Redbirds. Macomb is a football hot bed as Western Illinois U. has won nine straight football games and might go unbeaten the entire season. Coach Lou Saban of the Leathernecks said earlier that the first four games of the season would be the hardest and their explosive attack has netted 1440 yards. Halfback Larry Garron returned a kickoff 102 yards for a touchdown against Southern Illinois U. last week. Leroy Jackson of Bloom (Chicago Heights), former Illinois high school sprint champion, holds down the other halfback position.

Jacksonville high wants to fill an open date of November 13 in the football chart and Christian Brothers high (Quincy) wants to fill an open date of October 23. Morrisonville high school won the CMS conference fall baseball championship by winning the first seven games and finished with a 7-1 mark for the campaign. Coach Jack Klosterman at Effingham high school praises his quarterback, Eddie Smith, by stating "I feel Eddie is the best quarterback in Southern Illinois, he beats any boy I've seen or heard about. He's the best passer I've had in 12 years of high school coaching." Effingham lost ace fullback, Elmer Sparrow, because of the new 19 year old age limit as he was 19 last Tuesday.

Pittsfield's Saukees will face Beardstown at the Pike County high school field on October 30 and it will be the final home game of the 1959 season for the Indians of Coach Glenn C. Smith. Canton is another high school team with only one game remaining at home as Coach Walt Grebe's strong Farmington Farmers will play at Canton to end the season for the "Little Giants" on November 14. Canton played four straight games at home to open the campaign and go on the road for four games before entertaining their Fulton County rival, Highland Park and DePue are high school teams called Little Giants and the Canton Little Giants were formerly called "Bulldogs."

Galesburg's new high school gym will be completed the first of November in plenty of time for the basketball season. Backboards were shipped last Monday and will be installed this week, two will be of steel and four of glass. The bleacher seat installation for the gym is about 60 per cent completed and the auditorium sections will be installed next week.

Jim Summers is Bradley's hard luck halfback from Arlington Heights as he suffered an injury for the third straight year. He had appeared to be just coming into his own, suffered a displaced cartilage and went to the St. Francis hospital in Peoria Tuesday to undergo surgery. He missed most of last season with a broken leg and he will be out of action for the remainder of the current season.

Marshall Starks, junior halfback at Illinois U., has been named to replace Ethan Blackaby of Canton in the backfield for the game against Minnesota U. at Champaign. Coach Harry Combes will be looking for a replacement for Roger Taylor, captain of the Illinois U. cage team last season who graduated last June. Jerry Curless of Table Grove and Doug Mills of Galesburg are two top-notch Soph stars ready to make the traveling squad for the 1959-60 campaign. Mannie Jackson of Edwardsville is expected to take over the play-making chores of the Illini as he formerly starred in the state tourney for Coach Joe Lucco's Tigers.

NBA OPENS 14TH SEASON

BOSTON (AP) — The National Basketball Assn. opens its 14th season Saturday afternoon with a nationally televised—NBC 4 p.m. EST—game between the Cincinnati Royals and the champion Boston Celtics.

It's the only game on the opening schedule, which sends Detroit against Minneapolis in another nationally televised afternoon game Sunday.

Jacks Hit Paydirt Three Times In First Stanza To Annex Win

JERSEYVILLE — Bob Kraushaar's Crimsons hit paydirt with regularity in the first quarter and then breezed home with a 26-6 triumph to spoil Jerseyville's homecoming festivities Friday night.

The victory was Jacksonville's third straight and the biggest score ever run up against Jerseyville in the two schools' three-year gridiron series. It was defeat number three for Joe Jurkanin's Panthers after a pair of opening victories.

From the opening kickoff, it was evident Jacksonville was seeking revenge after Jerseyville had spoiled the 1958 Crimson homecoming with a 13-13 tie. The tie also had snapped a 24-game winning string.

The Crimsons received and on the first play from scrimmage, right halfback Don Schillinger scampered 74 yards to score but a clipping penalty off-set the tally and JHS had charge on the Panther 23. Seven plays later on a fourth down and goal to go, QB Dick Parker scored from six yards out on a keeper play. Parker failed to convert and it was 6-0, Jacksonville's favor.

After Jerseyville had driven to their own 44, they gambled on fourth down and lost on downs. On the first play, Schillinger got a key block from Tom Long and dashed 44 yards to score for a 12-0 spread. A run for the PAT was short.

A Jerseyville punt gave JHS possession on the Panther 46 to set up the third TD of the chapter. The Crimsons fumbled but Jerseyville was off-sides and JHS advanced to the 41. On an explosion play up the middle, Ken Norton took a handoff, cut for the sidelines and went the 41 yards to score for an 18-0 margin. Norton booted the point after.

Several outstanding features for Jacksonville in the first half were the long kickoffs out of the playing field by Norton and the overall play of tackle Bob Rieman on defense.

Jerseyville threatened in the second quarter by marching 73 yards only to see the drive halted on Jacksonville's eight-yard line. The Crimsons took over and shook Gary Spangenberg loose for a 67 yard run before he was caught from the rear by Roger Gross on the Panther 25. JHS drove to the five but failed to score and Jerseyville chewed up the remaining time on short gains.

Jacksonville had its back to the wall to open the third period when the out of bounds kickoff was put in play on the 40 and the Crimsons were given a 15-yard penalty a play later. The Crimsons stymied the threat however when Rieman recovered a fumble after the Panthers had penetrated to the 17. Following a pickup to the 27, Dick Parker hit Gary Spangenberg with a 25 yard pass and Spangenberg toted the mail 29 yards before he was stopped on the Panther 19.

JHS moved to the nine, lost back to the 13, then had a 15-yard step-off back to the 28 and faced a third down situation after an incomplete pass. On a roll-out pass play, Gary Spangenberg aimed for the coffin-corner and hit his target in Don Schillinger for JHS' final tally. Norton split the uprights and Jerseyville was trailing, 26-0.

A Jacksonville fumble in the third stanza put Jerseyville on its only successful TD drive from the Crimson 43. The period ended on Jacksonville's 40.

SPECIAL RULE

Fanciers of oldtime steam-driven threshing machines display their collections at the annual fair. They are allowed to toot the steam whistles any time except during the harness race programs.

Racing officials say the steam whistles are so piercing they fear the blasts might frighten the pacing and trotting horses, causing the racers to break stride.

by DON SHUMAKER

One way to break into a feature role in television is to first "wangle" a small part in "The Gale Storm Show." Relative unknowns yearning for the proverbial Hollywood break rate this popular series as a real showcase and so do producers. During the current season the new comedy programs will have a glittering roster of guest stars — but it also will cast a number of budding Fess Parkers, Chuck Connorses and Craig Stevenses. These and many other "arrived" players look upon "The Gale Storm Show" as a soft of alma mater. Parker was signed by Walt Disney for the biggest role of his career, "Davy Crockett," a week after he appeared in the show. Connors moved from a featured part in the series to stardom in "The Rifleman." A showcasing helped to springboard Stevens to "Peter Gunn" success.

Pay dirt also was struck on "The Gale Storm Show" by John Russell, star of "The Lawman." Buddy Bergman and Salvatore Baccaloni made their debut in offbeat roles in the series. The show provided stepping stones, too, for Jacques Bergerac, Russell Arms, Judi Meredith, Lisa Lu, Joi Lansing, Dianne Brewster, Andra Martin, Keith Andes and Rick Jones. Some of these thespians had few show credits when they appeared with Gale Storm. Now, returning for even similarly minor or semi-featured roles, they would classify as guest stars. The TV set now plays a very important role in most American homes, so it must have both style and beauty. RCA Victor TV cabinets are stylish and beautiful, made from the finest woods by skilled craftsmen. You will be proud to own any one of the many beautiful styles available. And inside these cabinets are the latest electronic developments — for your greater viewing pleasure. Before buying any set, see an RCA Victor demonstration at SHUMAKER TV & APPLIANCES, 222 East State Street. Phone 5-6595.

SLAM CONTRACT IS GOOD RISK

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South won the opening spade lead in dummy and played ace, king and a small heart which he ruffed. Since the hearts broke 3-3 South's troubles were over. He drew trumps, cashed the king of clubs, overtook the queen with dummy's ace, discarded two diamonds on dummy's last two hearts and made his slam.

"Horseshoes," mumbled East. "You bid a bad slam and played it worse but the 3-3 heart break came to your rescue."

East was wrong on both counts. The slam was a good risk, although not a sure thing. To start with it would be a lay down if East held the diamond ace. Or West might have decided to lead that card right off the bat.

Then South gave himself the best chance. If hearts broke 4-2 he would have established one heart for a diamond discard. The play of a diamond to his king would have been a final resort.

SIDE GLANCES By Galbraith

"Let me call a couple more girls, Dad, before I forget the line t' just went over big with Doris!"

When the hearts broke for him, he "had it made."

Altar Society To Cook Burgoo At Arenzville

ARENZVILLE—The Altar Society of St. Fidelis Catholic church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fran Hobrock, with Mrs. Katie Lutkehus presiding. The meeting opened with prayer, and Mrs. Bascom Beets read the secretary's report, and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Robert Clark. Mrs. J. A. Shannon and Mrs. Patterson McLain were appointed as a nominating committee, to report in November. A report of the rummage sale held recently in Jacksonville was given.

Plans were completed for the cooking of burgoo soup for kettle service only on Oct. 28, serving to begin at 3 p.m. A market will also be held at this time. Mrs. Albert Kolberer, Miss Elsie Kolberer and Mrs. William Jones were appointed as a buying committee for this project. Names were drawn for cleaning of the church for the coming year. The meeting closed with prayer.

Miss Mary Louise Lutkehus was a guest, and there were 14 members present. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

League Wiener Roast

The Fellowship League of Trinity Lutheran church enjoyed a social evening Sunday, and the evening began with a wiener roast, with 17 couples and 32 children present. Group games were played, and later doughnuts and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lovekamp and family were guests. The committee for the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kunzeman, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Lovekamp, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Witte.

THE DARK FANTASTIC

They hurtled along through the night, back the way she had come. Mallory held the microphone against his mouth and tried to raise sector headquarters at San Ysidro.

"Why don't they answer?" he muttered. "Has everybody gone to sleep?"

"Keep trying," Cloris soothed him. "They'll hear you."

"Once the truck gets to Tecate, we're dead. There's a hundred places they can cross the wire without being seen." With a burst of anger, he yelled into the microphone, "Border Patrol H. Q.—where are you?"

They were startled by the crackle of the loudspeaker. A man's voice said, "Sector here. I read you. Is that you, Mallory?"

"You bet it is! Get me the duty officer."

"Hold on a minute." A pause and then Kelso's voice rasped. "Mallory, what's happening? It better be important—waking me up at this hour!"

Malloy said. "I've located the truck—does that suit you? It's somewhere between the Rancho El Carizo cutoff and Tecate, heading north. Map coordinates A-17, K-12. I'm in hot pursuit but it's got the jump on me."

"Do you know that Dr. Howard is somewhere in that area, too?"

"She's with me. Or I'm with her, I don't know which. How soon can you get here?"

Mallory replaced the microphone on its hook and grinned weakly at Cloris. "Well, sweetheart, it's up to us. In a half-hour, Blackjack will be across the line—Guthrie, the truck, the whole shebang."

The miles bounced away beneath them along with the minutes and still they saw nothing but the grim silhouettes of a desolate highland. "That truck is loaded—it can't make very fast time," Mallory muttered. He didn't sound as if he believed himself.

They reached the ridge south of Tecate where the abandoned highway met the border road, the asphalt paving that ran roughly parallel to the international line on the Mexican side. Sometimes it veered within a few rods of the fence, sometimes it dodged south to avoid a difficult mountain slope. "Which way?" Cloris asked. On the hard surface there were no longer any tracks to follow.

"Wait." Mallory crawled out of the jeep, kneeled on the asphalt. He rose, took a few steps and kneeled again. In a moment he returned to the jeep, some pyramidal bits of mud in his hand. "Dropped out of the truck's tread, not a very common make of tire." He flung the mud away. "Head west. I'm betting they'll try to break through the wire as soon as they come to good spot."

• • •

They moved faster down the smooth highway.

They rubbed their eyes and widened them at the dark streak of winding road, seeking another sign of something, anything. Then Mallory let out a yell of exultation. "I see it—the truck!" With his good arm he struggled to pull a rifle from the rack.

Now, as if the reality had magnetized them, they closed rapidly on the slower moving vehicle. Its driver had evidently become aware of them, also. The truck careened back and forth on the highway, lurching, then abruptly plunged off the road across a broad meadow dotted with the crouched shapes of mesquite. As its headlights swung, they brought into quick, miraculous view the five strands of barbed wire, the token barrier that separated Mexico from the United States. The wire was less than a 100 yards away.

Bracing the rifle against his unhurt shoulder, Mallory fired at the fleeing truck. This time there was no need to wait upon a challenge; the truck itself was a proven enemy, along with those it carried, whether human or animal or invisible. The threat was too murderous to permit surrender—and plague had not known surrender for thousands of years.

His first two bullets had no effect. Monster-like, the big wheeled creature lumbered on through the knee-high meadow grass, bearing straight for the flimsy fence.

"Stop the car!" Mallory commanded. As the jeep skidded to a halt, he scrambled over the side and, using the hood as a support to steady the rifle, began to pour a stream of slugs into the truck. He was aiming not for the tires or the dark blur that was the driver, but for the spare gasoline tanks, plainly visible on the side. Two disparate thoughts ballooned in his mind until they shut out every other sensation. One was the vast importance of keeping the head-sight lined on the gasoline tanks, the tiny globe of metal that momentarily had assumed the size of the world. The other was that regret that Aguilar couldn't be here, for this was his kill, too.

The rifle clicked empty in his hand. He drew his pistol and fired until it did the same. An explosion of light rocked the field as one of the bullets ignited the gasoline vapor. A blossom of flame drew up the side of the truck, shooting forth petals of brilliant orange. It changed, flowered into fingers of fire that mounted the canvas sides as if clawing for the sky. The truck swung in a half-circle and stopped, broadside to the fence 30 yards away.
